37th Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Coronation Set For September 18

CLARION (Clarion Co.) — Thirty-six contestants are expected to compete in the 37th annual Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Pageant, scheduled for Sept. 18 at the Sheraton Harrisburg-East.

According to an announcement from the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Service Inc., the agency which receives support from farmer-paid dairy promotion funds to operate the state dairy princess program, the evening event begins at 5:30 p.m. with a milk punch reception at the hotel, followed by a 6:30 p.m. banquet and the pageant.

Tickets to the evening event are being sold on a first-come, first-served basis and the deadline is Sept. 15.

The 36 county dairy princess are to compete for the title of state dairy princess, currently held by Crystal Schweighofer, who is to crown the next princess. The newly selected princess is to reign for one year, from September to September.

During the reign, the state princess is to represent Pennsylvania dairy producers, speaking and promoting the healthful, nutritive and enjoyment qualities of milk and dairy products.

The pageant is specially scheduled to be held on the Saturday evening preceeding the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, which runs during the following week and features national, regional and state dairy cattle breed shows and sales.

Prior to the pageant night, however, the princess contestants participate in two full days of activities and interviews during which a panel of four judges, all from out-of-state, are to select seven finalists and eventually the state princess and two alternates.

Again this year, the awards to the winners are to be $1,200 for the princess and $600 each to the alternates. The monetary awards are from a grant from Sire Power Inc., and several anonymous individuals.

In addition, two contestants are to receive $100 awards for out-

Schwartzbeck Entry Wins Maryland Miss Futurity

EVA MARTIN
Maryland Correspondent

TIMONIUM, Md. — Peace & Plenty AJ Lovie owned by Joe Schwartzbeck family of Union Bridge was crowned Miss Futurity 1993. The 10th annual bovine beauty pageant was held in the Cow Palace at the Maryland State Fair.

A beautifully made cow, with a wide rib cage and a long level top line caught Judge Wayne Sliker's eye. This outstanding winner was also awarded the Maryland best bred and owned award at the Holstein Show. She is sired by Bridon Astro Jet.

Distinguished guests were escorted into the arena in red convertibles and presented by master of ceremonies David Brauning. Guests included ringmaster Marion Andrews; Maryland Farm Bureau Queen Kristin Archer; Maryland Dairy Princess Dawn Downey; county princesses Kristi Geary, Martha Chason, Mary Ellen Seraydian, and Rebecca

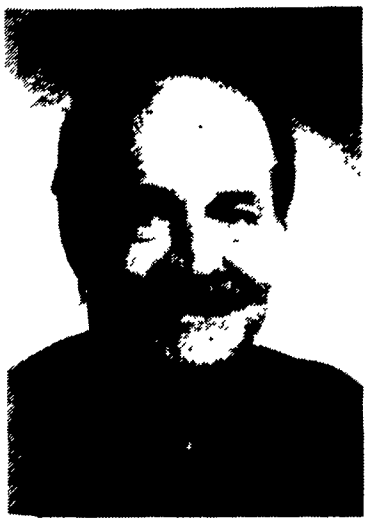
Northeast Poultry Show Opens Sept. 29



Dr. Charles Pitts

Mike Brubaker

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Northeast Poultry Show is scheduled for Wednesday, September 29 and Thursday, September 30 here at the Lancaster Host Resort.

More than 750 people went through the exhibit hall last year, and show planners expect a larger turnout this year because of some new attractions and what they consider to be a very dynamic program.

In addition, Lancaster Farming will have a special "Poultry Notes" section to be published in the Sept. 25 issue that will include a preview of the show and feature exhibitor's messages.

Exhibit Hall - New Attractions

In addition to the large number of vendors displaying new products and services, the exhibit hall will also feature a special producer seminar each day.

On Wednesday, September 29, Dr. Charles Pitts, Penn State Uni-

Delmarva Broiler-Fryer Market

Wednesday, September 8, 1993

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds continued good to very good as buyers looked to fill pipelines emptied over the holiday lengthened weekend. Sellers offerings cleared easily at most plants. Live supplies were moderate. Weights were often lighter than desired. Processing schedules were very heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 53 to 65 cents. Trade sentiment remained fully steady to higher. In the parts complex, most items cleared easily and higher asking prices were quoted throughout the area.

New York & Phila. Frozen Eggs

Friday, September 3, 1993

Prices continued to trend lower under an unsettled and nervous trade sentiment. Trading picked up as increasingly competitive price levels enticed buyers. Raw materials were fully adequate and most breakers had sufficient stocks to maintain desired running schedules. Inventories were adequate to handle current buyer activity.

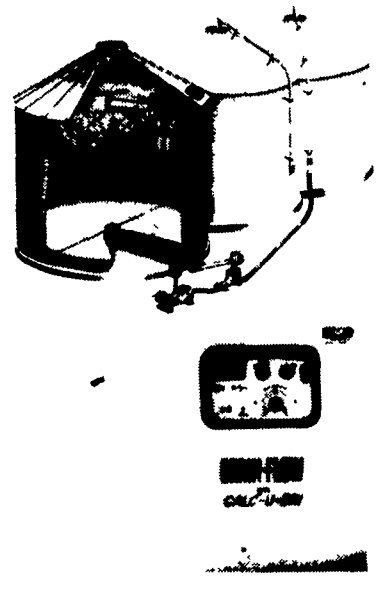
OVERDRYING GRAIN WASTES MONEY



Grain Flow with Calc-U-Dri Saves It

Grain Flow with Calc-U-Dri is the most accurate and simple to use continuous flow drying and removal system on the market today. Accurate to within 0.3% over the moisture desired, there is no longer a need to overdry grain. The result -- money saved. To operate, simply set the moisture desired. Grain Flow with Calc-U-Dri does the drying for you - automatically. Make this harvest season more profitable with a Grain Flow with Calc-U-Dri.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, September 8, 1993

Trucklot buying interest was fairly good to very good. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts were short of trade needs. Prices trended higher and the undertone was firm Line run breasts were very tight and buying interest went unfilled.

Prices trended higher and the undertone was also firm. Whole legs cleared well. Yellow skin leg quarters were tight. However, buyers and sellers disagree over values. Sellers asked higher prices and held product in firm hands while buyers were cautious going into late week. Yellow skin wings were good at current prices. Prices for livers trended unchanged to higher.

National Egg Market

Wednesday, September 8, 1993

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: Prices trended unchanged to lower on mediums in the Northeast; generally unchanged on the larger sizes and elsewhere around the country. The trade sentiment ranged steady to weak, mostly steady to cautiously steady. Movement of cartoned eggs into retail channels was light to good, mostly fair to fairly good. Supplies of jumbos were in close balance, extra large mostly adequate, large adequate to ample, and mediums adequate to burdensome. In the Central States prices for breaking stock were unchanged. Trading and demand was fair. Offerings were adequate. Most breakers operated fulltime on regular commitments. Floor stocks were adequate. The undertone was generally steady. In the Southeast, trading in light type hens was too thin to report prices today. Demand was moderate but unaggressive for at least sufficient offerings. The undertone was about steady to steady.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, Mo.

Wednesday, September 8, 1993

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY GRAIN AND SOYBEAN PRICES TURNED HIGHER, WEDNESDAY, SUPPORTED BY CONCERNS OVER CROP CONDITIONS. WHEAT 3 TO 4 CENTS HIGHER. CORN 1 TO 3 CENTS HIGHER EXCEPT PORTLAND 4 CENTS LOWER. SORGHUM 1 TO 8 CENTS HIGHER. SOYBEANS 2 TO 5 CENTS HIGHER. WHEAT PRICES WERE HIGHER MOST PLACES DUE TO QUALITY PROBLEMS IN SPRING WHEAT CROP AND ONGOING HARVEST DELAYS. DISEASE PLAGUING WHEAT IN UPPER MIDWEST AREAS BECOMING WIDESPREAD AND FARMERS SUFFERING. EXPORT DEMAND CONTINUED GOOD WITH SUBSTANTIAL PURCHASES FROM JAPAN. PORTLAND WHITE WHEAT PRICE DECLINED UNDER HARVEST PRESSURE. CORN PRICES FINISHED MOSTLY HIGHER AND SOYBEAN PRICES REGAINED SOME OF YESTERDAY'S SHARP LOSSES. TRADERS WERE CAUTIOUS AHEAD OF TOMORROW'S USDA CROP PRODUCTION REPORT. COOL TEMPERATURES SETTLED IN MIDWEST AREAS THIS WEEK AND REPORTS OF DECREASED CROP DEVELOPMENT ADDED SUPPORT TO CORN AND BEAN PRICES. FUND BUYING ON THE BOARD WAS A FACTOR IN BEAN PRICE UPTURN. EXPORT INTEREST FOR BEANS AND BEAN BY-PRODUCTS HAS IMPROVED THIS WEEK.

EXPORT NEWS: SUB-SAHARAN AFRICAN NATIONS BOUGHT 8,000 TONNES U.S. NORTHERN/DARK NORTHERN SPRING WHEAT UNDER EEP FOR SEP/OCT SHIPMENT. MEXICO BOUGHT 4,500 TONNES U.S. NORTHERN/DARK NORTHERN SRPNG WHEAT UNDER EEP FOR SEP/OCT SHIPMENT.

JAPAN BOUGHT 171,423 TONNES U.S. WHEAT; DARK NORTHERN SPRING, WESTERN WHITE, AND HARD RED WINTER FOR OCT/NOV SHIPMENT.

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

SEPTEMBER 13-19, 1993

WOODCHUCKS HIBERNATE NOW.

AMERICA'S FIRST LOAN

September 18 marks the 204th anniversary of the U.S. government's first loan Alexander Hamilton, who was appointed secretary of the new Treasury Department on September 2, 1789, wasted no time in negotiating with the Bank of New York and the Bank of North America. Hamilton obtained a total of $191,608.81, and used it to cover the salaries of the president, senators, representatives, and officers of the first Congress. But this was not the beginning of our national debt, for this loan, known as the Temporary Loan of 1789, was completely paid off by June 8, 1790.

There is no power to compel a nation to pay its just debts. Its credit depends on its honor.

— Rutherford B Hayes

TIP OF THE WEEK

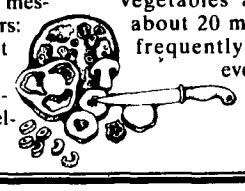
EARTHWISE

Today nearly all the paper we use regularly can be made from recycled fibers. Whether it's notebooks, wrapping paper, fine stationery, or the little stick-on/lift-off papers — all are available recycled If your office or school supply store doesn't carry the recycled version, find out why. Ask them to stock recycled products We can send a message to manufacturers: We don't need to cut down trees and use extra resources simply to pay a bill or celebrate a birthday

HASHED SQUASH

3 slices bacon, diced
1 large onion, sliced thin
1 large or 2 small zucchini, cut into 1-inch dice
2 cups chopped tomatoes
1 green pepper, chopped
¼ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon basil
salt and pepper

Fry diced bacon in 2-quart skillet over low heat until crisp Add the onion and cook until golden Add the remaining ingredients, cover, and cook slowly until vegetables are tender, about 20 minutes. Stir frequently to ensure even cooking.



Makes 4 to 6 servings

OPINION

Help Students To Understand Agriculture

Even in our agricultural colleges, more and more students who enroll are from non-farm backgrounds. Many of these students' experiences with livestock may be limited to television, books and car window views of the countryside.

Brad Skaar, Iowa State University animal science instructor, said he has had to look for new teaching techniques as fewer and fewer of his students each year have first-hand knowledge and experience with livestock. Skaar was was one of the speakers at the American Society of Animal Science annual meeting in Pittsburgh last, month.

Students' lack of agricultural background makes them less likely to understand and learn information in a traditional college lecture class. In Skaar's class, college juniors play the role of "junior partners" in the fictional company, Futuristic Animal Consulting Technologies, Inc. Students evaluate each other in the course. Those evaluations and those of the instructor are used to award play money, "cash bonuses," during the semester. Final grades in the course were awarded according to total income during the semester.

Students worked in small teams to develop recommendations for clients regarding animal breeding issues. The issues were modeled after actual situations. Their recommendations were expected to meet the clients' needs, be effectively communicated and based on accepted theory and technology. The approach forced them to learn animal breeding principles as they are applied in the animal industry.

Ag in the classroom programs in grade schools, FFA chapters and vo-ag classes in high school, and students from urban backgrounds enrolled in agricultural colleges all form part of the educational process necessary for people to understand farming. In addition, students with these learning opportunities develop the skills that help fill the employment needs of agribusinesses as the number of people who have the opportunity to grow up on the farm decreases.

As students go back to school at this time of year in all levels of education, we applaud those who teach, especially those instructors who help our students understand agriculture in creative ways.

Editor:

I am writing in regard to the article on page 1 of your Sept. 4 paper, "Continuation of the Wool Act."

In the article Janet Mawhinny said, quote: "U.S. Senator Harris Wofford (D-Bryn Mawr) wrote a very positive letter to the conference committee supporting the continuation of the act," unquote.

In the latest (August) issue of the National Wool Grower magazine (P 28) is an article entitled "Wool Act Survives Attack." Among the 52 senators who voted in favor of consideration of eliminating the Wool Act was Senator Wofford.

Without further comment, I will let the readers draw their own conclusions as to the senator's support of sheep producers.

NOW IS THE TIME

By John Schwartz
Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Avoid Feeding Hot, Uncured Silage

As corn ensiling time approaches, farmers may find it necessary to chop some corn prematurely in order to have enough feed for the herd until the corn may be chopped and ensiled. Or, they may greenchop ends of rows to open up fields for the forage chopper.

If feed is in short supply, or if cured silage is inaccessible, farmers may find it necessary to start feeding the recently chopped corn immediately, before it has had a chance to cure properly.

Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent, reminds us feeding immature green chopped corn, or feeding hot, uncured silage may cause digestive upsets in cows, with a resultant drop in production and butterfat test.

To help prevent these problems, strive to have a supply of cured silage to feed from in the weeks preceding and following silo filling time. This may involve the use of a small stack or bag of silage or relying upon an alternate silo.

To Be Aware Of Green Tobacco Sickness

Workers engaged in the harvest of tobacco should be aware of Green Tobacco Sickness (GTS). The illness is caused by the absorption of nicotine from the surface of wet tobacco through the skin.

Workers whose clothing become saturated from wet tobacco due to rain or dew are at a high risk for the development of the illness.

Symptoms of GTS include nausea, vomiting, dizziness, and severe weakness. It is often accompanied by fluctuations in blood pressure, headaches, and difficulty in breathing.

To minimize the risk of GTS, the following recommendations are made:

- Avoid harvesting or working in wet tobacco.
- Protective clothing may reduce the risk. Wear chemical-resistant gloves, plastic aprons, or rain suits. However, this clothing may add to the risk of heat stress in hot weather.
- Change to dry clothing when clothing becomes wet from wet tobacco.

Workers who become ill while working with tobacco and who require medical attention should inform doctors of the nicotine ex : to aid in the diagnosis. toms of GTS are very sii) pesticide poisoning from or, iosphate pesticides. How- ev ie treatment is very dil .

To Develop anagement Skills

I have been following the letters to the editor regarding low farm prices.

What we forget to remember is most farmers are producers of a raw product. Regardless of the industry, agriculture, mining, steel, etc., the producer of raw products is a price taker and receives the lowest price. Thus, the successful businesses in these industries must be the low cost producer.

To achieve this, the owner must be constantly adapting new technology generated by research. Once an industry loses its research support and willingness to adopt new technology, it no longer will remain competitive.

The cycle of new technology has shortened. Farmers must now constantly be managing change in order to stay in business. Those farmers who manage change will stay profitable. Those who cannot will either leave agriculture or go to work for those who manage change.

The income of managers is based on their ability to manage people and capital, not how many cows they milk in a day.

The business structure of farming is changing. Those farmers electing to only do semiskilled labor will see their income decline.

Those who take the time to learn new management skills and master them should see their farms and income grow. Traditionally, meetings dealing with production have been largely attended, but those dealing in farm management, economics, and marketing have been very poorly attended.

In order to keep strong and profitable family farms, farmers need to change their priorities on meeting attendance. Farmers need to be requesting and attending management meetings. Also, farmers need to change their attitude from a negative one to a positive one.

When we stop trying to place the blame for our troubles on someone else and accept them as opportunities and direct our energies to solutions and new ideas, the stronger agriculture will be.

VERY GOOD!
September 12, 1993

Background Scripture
Genesis 1:25-31; 2:4-9, 15-25
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 8:3-9

Like a litany, after each act of creation in Genesis 1, we are told, "And God saw that it was good." That should be required reading for all those who are constantly pronouncing the world to be an evil and rotten place. God looked on it, including those things which you and I judge to be "good" and "bad," and he still saw it as "good!" It is also significant that God called the garden "Eden," which means "joy"— God's garden is the source of his joy.

Best of all is what he says when humanity has been added to the order of his creation: "And God saw everything that he had made, and behold it was very good" (my italics). If creation before humanity was "good," then creation afterwards was even better. That also flies in the face of the popular assumption that some of us are destined to be the "good guys," and other of us "the bad guys." But God said: "very good." That includes every single human being: Genghis Kahn, Adolph Hitler, Jack the Ripper, Joseph Stalin, and Fidel Castro. All of us are created "in the image of God."

Why Are We Here?

The key is not the quality of our creation as to what we do with it. God has purpose for his creation and especially for his creatures. Going back to the very beginning, why did God create us?

One answer is that we might fulfill his image placed within us. When Genesis tells us that we were created "in his own image," (1:27) it is indicating that we have a purpose to fulfill, a potential to realize. Hitler distorted and denied the image of God in him. This was not his fate, but his choice. Jack the Ripper was not born to be a murderer. And you and I were created with far more potential for goodness than we have displayed so far in this life. Does the "image of God" show in you? If not, why not?

Another answer is found in his command to "Be fruitful and mulitply" (1:28). We've got the last part of that down pat; in fact, I believe God is telling us today to stop multiplying so much. Our multiplying is getting in the ways of our being "fruitful." What does he mean "be fruitful?" He means that we are to produce that which is good, that which helps rather than hurts, prospers rather than impoverishes, improves rather than dissipates. Yes, I've multiplied, but have I been fruitful? Are you?

"Boss" or "Steward?"

Still another answer is in the command to "have dominion... other every living thing that moves upon the earth" (1:26,28). As one little boy said when he heard those verses, "It sounds like he made us 'boss'!" But actually something more than 'boss': "The Lord God took the man and put him in the garden of Eden to till it and keep it" (2:15). Jesus spoke of our God-given human role as that of the steward. The steward does not own, but manages for someone else. In the story of the garden of Eden, it is clear that it belongs to God, but Adam is placed in charge of it to make it fruitful for God.

That's a very current issue, isn't it? For centuries we humans have acted as if this world was ours to use and abuse as we lilke. We have spent it like an inheritance on which there were no conditions. But now, we are being told, we are close to having exhausted it. And, we are remembering that it was not so much an inheritance that God gave us, but a stewardship. We are expected to give it back to him with interest. We have abused and wasted the garden and now we must start being good stewards before it is too late, before God asks, "What have you done to my beautiful garden?"

God made it all "very good," but what are we making of it?

Farm Forum

Editor:

I was deeply disappointed with Mr. Althouse's article entitled, Who's the Head of the House? which appeared in Lancaster Farming on Aug. 21. As a Christian woman, I would appreciate the opportunity of sharing my personal testimony.

I agree wholeheartedly with Mr. Althouse when he contends that we cannot honestly explain away the biblical view of God's plan for the human family, when we read Eph. 5:21-24. My only choice lies in whether or not I choose to obey what God has revealed to me, or to turn my back in rejection and disbelief. I choose to believe — for God, and His Word are the only absolute treasures I can possess. For in the end, only God and His truth will stand.

Mr. Althouse alludes that 40 years ago, the idea of the wife being in submission to her husband was accepted by a wide margin who claimed Christianity. I would like to ask your readers this question: Have the changes in home life, as the nominal church took a liberal stand, produced strong famililes, or emotionally distraught individuals with little or no moral inhibitions?

I am happy to be the wife of a godly man who strives to lead our family in serving Christ. My husband would not enjoy being a 'boss' or a selfish commander. Rather, with love toward us (Eph. 5:25), he strives to lead us in fulfilling God's purpose in our lives. I appreciate his sacrificial leadership, and thank God for the blessings of contentment and rest He gives to our family, as we follow His prescribed plan.

We, as a family, are glad that God has not authorized us to go through the Bible and disqualify portions we do not comprehend. If a portion of scripture seems inconsistent to us, it is either because we lack understanding in the various doctrines God has woven through His Word, or because we have taken that scripture out of its context.

I firmly believe that God does, indeed, command us to literally follow the Bible. "If a man love me, he will keep my words. . ." John 14:23. A radical change from the world's point of view? Most certainly so! For in the chaos that envelopes the world today, God's way is the only way that works!

STOLTZFUS FEED AND SUPPLY offers you beef feeding programs that provide:

— PERFORMANCE
— FLEXIBILITY

CarlS AKEY Inc. Beef & Swine Nutrition

BEEF GROWER BASE: is normally fed at ¼ lb. per head per day to provide all the needed vitamins and minerals along with Bovatec®, Rumensin® and/or MGA® to calves on high roughage rations.

BEEF FINISHER BASE: when fed at ½ lb./head/day provides the necessary vitamins and minerals needed by cattle or high grain rations. Beef Finisher Base also supplies your choice of Bovatec®, Rumensin® and/or MGA® and economical non protein nitrogen reducing the need for soybean meal or other protein supplements.

Your Farm Credit Banker. Nobody Knows The Field Better.

Sure, you'll find Farm Credit bankers all buttoned up, ready to talk short- or long-term loans, mortgages and sophisticated lines of credit.

But underneath the shirt and tie, you'll find the one thing the other banks don't offer. A fellow farmer.

Most Farm Credit loan officers were born and raised on farms and got their college degrees from ag schools. Nearly all of them grew up with 4-H and the Future Farmers of America.

And, if that's not enough, every single one of our loan officers goes through the toughest ag lending training program in America.

That means when you talk to a Farm Credit loan officer about any kind of ag loan, you won't have to spend your time translating farming to banking.

Farm Credit loan officers understand farming as well as they understand finances. And because they have the same loan closing authority as many local bank presidents, they can get the job done fast.

So when you need competitive rates or creative options, see your local Farm Credit banker. Because nobody knows the field better.

Keep your herd in high gear.

And their stomachs in neutral.

Cows get acid indigestion, too. Under modern feeding practices, rumen pH can fluctuate outside the 6.2 to 6.8 optimum range. If this occurs, bacteria are impaired and digestion slows down. So does milk production.

Supplementing your rations with ARM & HAMMER® brand rumen buffer helps normalize rumen digestion and keeps your cows in high gear for maximum performance.

Don't lose a pound of production. Contact your Agway Feed Sales Specialist today and get your herd on ARM & HAMMER® feed grade sodium bicarbonate tomorrow. For maximum profits all year long.

All American Features State Youth Shows

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — It'll be heartbreak or high fives for some 3,500 Pennsylvania dairy youth this summer on the road to the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show, set for Sept. 25 at the Farm Show Complex, in Harrisburg.

"These farm youngsters face the toughest competition in their young lives . . . and less than one quarter will make it," said Larry Specht who heads Penn State Dairy Extension.

The state junior championships kick off a week-long Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show Sept. 25-29 that features six breed shows, four sales and 2,500 top-rated cattle from 30 states and Canada.

To get there, Specht said, 4-H members must first win blue ribbons with their project animals at 40 county roundups and then repeat at one of seven regional elimination shows.

FFA members qualify their animals at six FFA regionals.

Over 4,000 4-H and FFA animals are expected to be shown in local and regional shows this summer, the dairy extension specialist said. He predicted less than 1,000 will reach the finals.

In 1988, there were 595 Pennsylvania farm kids who qualified a record 975 cattle for the junior finals at the All-American. The young showmen can exhibit a maximum of three animals.

Three judging rings are to be operated simultaneously in the Large Arena this year. This is to break the logjam of entries in the six dairy breeds.

"Judging just dragged out too long in recent years," Specht said.

Special honors again will go to the highest ranked animals bred and owned by the junior showmen, he said.

The Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show, now in its 34th year, is under the direction of the Penn State Cooperative Extension Service and State Bureau of Vocational Education. It has been held in conjunction with the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show since 1964.

Melwood (Rotate x Combination)

• #1 Foot + Leg Composite Sire • Super Frames • Total Performance Specialist

MELWOOD's superior genetics are more solid today than ever. He continues to climb the TPI list, even at 99% Reliability, and now ranks well above Leadman, Blackstar, Thor and Tesk on the Top 100 TPI list. Ranked No. 1 on the Holstein Foot and Leg Composite list, MELWOOD is joined by his sons BENCHMARK and GRANITE as they hold down three of the top eight positions in this important trait. MELWOOD and his sons will also continue to rank well on Holstein's Protein Emphasis Selection Criteria and Registered Herd Selection Criteria.

Fancy Paul (Valiant x Elevation)

• Premier Type Improver • Udder Specialist • Outstanding Milk Improver

FANCY PAUL continues to be recognized as one of the world's great production and type bulls. He also sires outstanding udders — exceptionally high, wide rear udders with great teat placement. His daughters are strong, deep-bodied cattle with openness of rib and the will to milk. A reliable sire of show winners, in both yearling and milking classes, FANCY PAUL's production proof is 1,000-2,000 pounds higher than most other bulls used for this purpose. New 92 points at 10 years of age, this remarkable bull has earned his place as one of the all-time favorites at ABS.

Crawford County Holds Dairy Shows

MEADVILLE (Crawford Co.) — Crawford County dairymen recently held their annual local colored breed dairy cattle shows at the county fairgrounds in Meadville, and also participated in the Northwest Pennsylvania Holstein Show, held in conjunction with the county fair.

The six cattle breed shows were held over two-days at the fairgrounds with Mary Creek, from Hagerstown, Md., judging the Aryshire, Brown Swiss and Milking Shorthorn breeds; Larry Schirm, of Louisville, Ohio, judging the Jersey and Guernsey breeds; and Loren Elsass, of Wapakoneeta, Ohio, judging the Northwest Pennsylvania Holstein Show.

A supreme champion overall was selected following the Holstein show, held during the second day. Taking the title was a 3-year-old Holstein shown by Morrell Farms, of Chochranton.

In the Holstein show, there were 271 head shown. Showing the grand champion was Morrell Farms, which also claimed the titles of premier breeder and exhibitor, showed the reserve junior champion animal, a junior calf shown by Jason Morrell, and showed animals which won several class titles.

The grand champion animals was 4-year-old C Kenarbara Jethro Sasha, a daughter of Hanoverhill Jestro-Twin, bred by Kenneth Barfoot, of Hepworth, Ontario. She was also judged to be the best bred and owned and to have the best udder of the show.

The reserve grand and reserve senior champion Holstein was a 5-year-old shown by a syndicate comprised of Mike Carey, Patrick Casery, Concord Ridge farm, and Allan Swanson.

The junior champion animal was a senior yearling shown by Dr. Gary Baxter, of Ft. Collins, Colorado.

In the Ayrshire show, Michael Allen, of Conneaut Lake showed the grand champion, a home-farm-bred, 4-year-old out of Cover Farms Vitality Reliable.

The best bred and owned of the show was a 4-year-old shown by Jennifer Braddock, of Albion, which took second place to the grand champion in the class competition and was named best udder of the class.

The reserve grand champion was shown by Jennie Campbell, of Conneaut Lake, a 3-year-old dry cow, Sunburst Canary Jewel.

In the Brown Swiss breed, the senior and grand champion animal was an aged cow shown by Todd Nicolls, of Conneautville, while the reserve senior and reserve grand champion was a senior 3-year-old shown by Benjamin Blasco, of Cambridge Springs.

Erin Raney, of Adamsville, showed both junior champions — the junior champion Brown Swiss was an intermediate calf, while the reserve was a junior yearling.

Nicolls was also named premier breeder and exhibitor of the show.

In the Jersey show, the senior and grand champion was shown by Alright Jerseys, of Cochranton, a 5-year-old Berry Parch Beacon Dory. The reserve senior and reserve grand champion was a 4-year-old shown by Ralph and Sally Oakes, from Jackson Center.

In the Guernsey breed show, the grand and senior champion was a 5-year-old shown by Robin Wagner, of Meadville, while Marie Goodwill, of Spartansburg, showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion, which was the second place 5-year-old.

The junior champion was an intermediate calf shown by Sabrina Wagner, also of Meadville, while Robert Goodwill, also of Spartansburg, showed the reserve junior champion, a summer yearling.

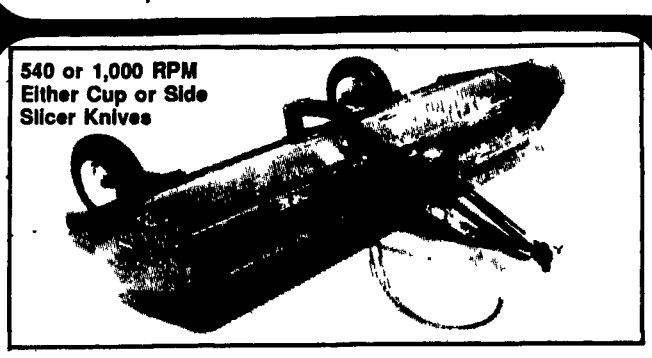
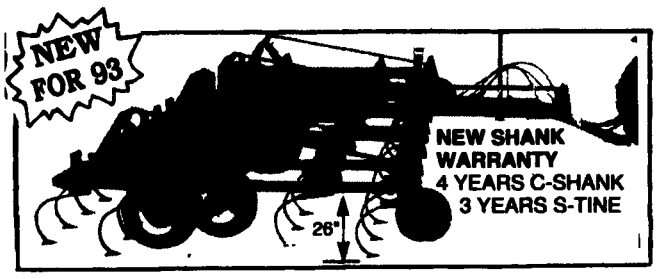
MEETS THE CHALLENGE

When You Buy A Brillion You Get The Best



BRILLION FLAIL SHREDDERS keep going when others stop! One of the most important features is that you get the heaviest gearbox on the market with this machine. 12 & 15 foot.

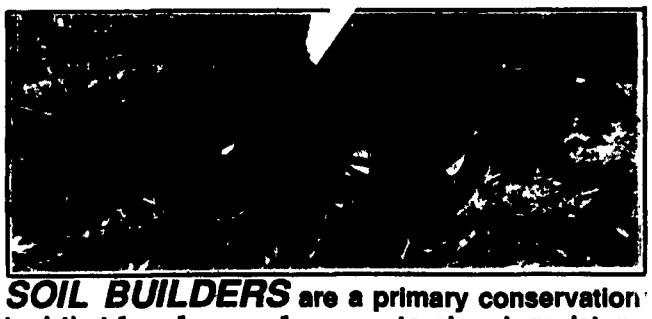


HFC FIELD CULTIVATORS

• 16½ Ft. to 31½ Ft.

HEAVY RESIDUE...NO PROBLEM

Five rows of shanks and 26" of underframe clearance makes working heavy residue...no problem. True 6" shank spacing means leveler fields, better chemical incorporation, and better seedbeds. Featuring a newly designed C-shank assembly. Brillion started with a "bulked up" ductile iron shank bracket, added a hardened steel bushing and grease zerk. The result is extended shank life guaranteed by Brillion's new shank warrantee. Don't compromise; See your Brillion Dealer today.



SOIL BUILDERS are a primary conservation tool that breaks up plow pan to absorb moisture and blends surface residue into the soil with enough residue left on top to control wind and water erosion. 5-13 Shank.

versity, will discuss "Effective Fly Control." Fly problems have been extremely difficult for producers this year. Pitts, former head of Penn State is Entomology Department, is a leading U.S. entomologists.

On Thursday, September 30, Mike Brubaker Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Services, Inc., will discuss "Nutrient Management - It's The Law." Many agricultural states are under pressure to account for the proper management of fertilizers and manures (nutrients) because of possible contamination of ground and surface water. In Pennsylvania, a law has already been passed requiring farmers with more than 2,000 pounds of livestock or poultry per acre to operate with an approved nutrient management plan. Brubaker has been at the forefront of these issues and his firm is ranked the sixth largest agricultural consulting firm in the U.S.

Visitors to the exhibit hall this year will also have an opportunity to win a new $100 bill. Each adult entering the exhibit hall will be given a number. A number will be drawn every hour for a new $100 bill, and winning numbers will be posted at the exit. The Exhibit Hall is open to the public free of charge both days from noon until 5:00 p.m. Parking is free and food and beverages can be purchased in the exhibit hall.

Guest Speakers

The conference portion of the Northeast Poultry Show scheduled for 9 a.m. until noon both days features two celebrity guest speakers. On Wednesday, September 29, Charles McDowell will report on "How Are Things in Washington?" McDowell is the Washington columnist for the Richmond Times - Dispatch and a regular panelist on television's "Washington Week in Review." McDowell was the featured speaker last year at Pennsylvania's Keystone Cornucopia dinner.

On Thursday, September 30, guest speaker is Bob Hope's head comedy writer, Gene Perret. Perret's topic is "Humor — It's Good Business." Perret wrote the Command Performance Show for Bob Hope to appear before Queen Elizabeth II and traveled with Bob to many battlefields to entertain the troops.

A registration fee is required to attend the morning conferences and includes two breakfasts and one dinner. Those interested should contact the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation at (717) 652-7530.

Wednesday Conference

Following a complimentary buffet breakfast, Dr. Richard Reynnells, national program leader for poultry science, USDA Extension Services will open the conference with the presentation, "Animal Welfare — The Washington Scene." His responsibilities include water quality, food safety, and the animal rights/welfare issues for USDA. Reynnells will pinpoint what poultry and egg producers can expect from the animal rights group in the immediate future.

Dr. Stephanie Doores, Penn State University Food Science Department, follows Reynnells with a discussion concerning "The Impact of Food Safety on Agriculture." Doores has been recognized for the Outstanding Young Women of America Award (Montgomery, Ala.), Pennsylvania Future Farmers of America Honorary Keystone Degree, and Gamma Sigma Delta Honorary Agriculture Society Excellence in Teaching Award.

Doores is expected to review the public pressure for safer food and how it might affect the food industry. The Wednesday morning conference concludes with keynote speaker, Charles McDowell.

Thursday Conference

Thursday's conference also begins with a complimentary buffet breakfast followed by breakout sessions for broiler, egg, and turkey producers. At the Broiler Conference, Dr. Vergil Davis, director of avian biological development and regulatory affairs for Sanofi Animal Health, Inc., will review a new treatment for bursal disease. Following Davis, Noel Dykes, Sterwin Laboratories, Inc., will review ventilation options. Dykes is recognized as one of the authorities on various ventilation alternatives.

At the Egg Conference, Dr. Richard Gast, a microbiologist with USDA's Southeast Poultry Research Laboratory in Athens, Ga., will give an overview of all the research to-date in Salmonella enteritidis. For egg producers who have been plagued with this problem, Gast will provide a glimpse at what help may be expected from research efforts. Joanne Ivy, vice president of the American Egg Board, follows Gast with a "first" for U.S. egg producers. Ivy will preview the new television commercials produced by Grey Advertising which will probably air in October 1993.

At the Turkey Conference, Dr. Y.M. Saif, a member of the Department of Veterinary Preventive Medicine and Department of Poultry Science at Ohio State University, will review recent trends in managing turkey diseases. Saif is frequently consulted by the commercial turkey industry for advice and counsel regarding turkey diseases.

Dr. Mike Hulet, Penn State University Poultry Science Department, will discuss how litter can affect turkey quality. Hulet is a recent addition to the Penn State faculty, but has been involved in numerous projects regarding litter at his former university, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

At the conclusion of the breakout sessions, conference attendees will be treated to a special presentation by Gene Perret, Bob Hope's head comedy writer.

Social Functions

Hospitality suites will be open Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings. There are also two other social events during the show.

Attendees have the option Wednesday evening of traveling by bus to the Dutch Apple Dinner Theater to see the musical drama, "Phantom of the Opera."

On Thursday evening, the show concludes with a social and banquet in the hotel ballroom with special door prizes and a humorous presentation by Byron Townsend.

Ag Republicans Honor Williams

MYERSTOWN (Lebanon Co.) — Long-time advocate for Pennsylvania agriculture, Bob Williams, former editor of the Pennsylvania Farmer magazine, will be honored Sept. 25 by the Pennsylvania Ag Republicans.

The life-long Republican will welcome colleagues and friends at a Pennsylvania Ag Republican family picnic and fundraiser from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Dennis Grumbine Farm, located at 970 Halfway Drive near Myerstown. Reservations for $35 must be made by Sept. 18.

Williams began his career at Pennsylvania Farmer in 1950 and, except for a two-year stint at the Indiana Farmer, spent more than 35 years traveling across the territory digging up the stories important to Pennsylvania farm families. Regardless of the issue, Williams remained vocal for the cause of agriculture. He brought topics that impacted agriculture to the people.

Just writing about farm people was never enough. Williams personally became involved in their organizations. He served on the board of directors for the Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council and the Young Farmers Foundation. He served on the board of overseers at the University of Pennsylvania Veterinary Medicine School and was a member of the Penn State Ag Arena Campaign committee.

Over the years, Williams has been honored by farm organizations and agricultural communication groups for his efforts. He received writing awards from the American Seed Trade Association and the Agricultural Communicators and special recognition from the Pennsylvania Conservation Commission and the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation District Directors.

He holds an honorary degree from FFA, is an Honorary Ambassador for Pennsylvania, an Honorary County Agent, and has received an honorary Master Farmer Award. In 1990, Williams received the Distinguished Service to Agriculture Award from the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association.

Since retiring from Pennsylvania Farmer, he has been operating his own public relations firm, Bob Williams and Associates. Clients have included Doebler Seeds, Stauffer Chemical, Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Commission, and Hamilton Equipment. Among those clients number four statewide Republican candidates and two presidential candidates.

Reservations can be made by sending a check for $35 per person (children under 12 are free) by Sept. 18 to Pennsylvania Ag Republicans, Beverly Gruber, P.O. Box 5, New Tripoli, PA 18066, (215) 767-5026.

Super Spreader

Double Rotating, Heavy Duty Expellors

Meyer Mfg. Corp. has developed a new style of manure spreader that can handle a wide variety of manure. The double expellor system rips away tough pen or frozen manure and applies it to the field in a smooth, even pattern. The new Meyer unit unloads out the rear, not the side, to prevent debri from coming back to the spreader and tractor. The Super Spreader is available in 260 bu., 325 bu., 360 bu., 390 bu., 450 bu., and 540 bu. units.

Two Large 20" Augers Help Prevent Bridging Problems

Our tank sides are almost straight up & down, not V shaped like other units. The augers are made of tough 3/8" sectional steel flighting. Our auger design cleans the bottom of the tank completely — no frozen manure buildup like beater type spreaders have.

Meyer Mfg. Corp. has developed a new style of forage box that can unload at a much faster rate of speed. This is accomplished thru a low range-high range variable speed system. Apron speeds range from 0-7.5' per minute in low range and 0-17' per minute in high range. The Meyer TSS also allows the operator to inch the augers free of material before engaging the apron chain. This box is available in the All Steel TSS or the TSS AL Aluminized model.

Saddle Cinches 4-H Celebrates 25 Years With Reunion Horse Show

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Twenty-five years ago, a group of 10 teen-agers in the Manheim-Elizabethtown-Mount Joy area who had a love of horses got together to form a 4-H club.

This year, the group, which numbers 60 youth, is celebrating a quarter of a century of active participation in the 4-H horse program by staging a 25-Year Reunion Horse Show on Saturday, Sept. 18, at Peter's Ring on Sunnyside Rd., Manheim.

The show will begin at 10 a.m. with classes for all past and present members, leaders, and families of 4-H Saddle Cinchers. Classes range from the standard equitation and pleasure classes (English and Western) to the favorites of crawl thru the barrel and dollar bareback. There will be several championships and divisions, with walk trot jog classes for the youngsters and jumping and racing classes for the more experienced.

Classes will cost $3 each and are open to anyone who has been associated with the club the past 25 years. Show organizer and leader Kendy Allen said she hopes past members will arrive for the show, even if they don't have a horse to ride, because the day is also planned as a reunion for former members to remember the good times.

Allen said this is the first step in the 25th anniversary celebration, planned for November 20 at Ruhl's United Methodist Church, Elizabethtown Rd., with a covered dish supper starting at 6:30 p.m.

The club has been active in many areas of horsemanship and community service, and was recently recognized at the Lancaster County 4-H Achievement Night for its many community service activities, according to Allen.

More activities are planned this year. For more information, contact Allen at (717) 665-7144.

$92,000 Sales In FFA, 4-H Auction

DAVE HIEBERT
Westmoreland Co. Correspondent

NORVELT (Westmoreland Co.) — At the Westmoreland County 4-H and FFA sale during the Westmoreland County Fair, some bidders got bargains, according to John Bidrbower, Derry area High School ag teacher.

The champion market steer, owned by Amanda Buttermere, Mt. Pleasant, sold for $2.60/pound, about half the price of last year's champion.

The family of this year's champion is known more for its dairy involvements, rather than beef. Mother of the winner, Wilma Buttermore, said she had shown for 10 years as a youngster. The family purchased steers from two places for their children to show this year. Amanda's brother, James, showed the champion medium weight steer.

Amanda showed the grand champion in the Westmoreland 4-H and FFA Dairy Show.

"The grand champion didn't bring a good price, when compared to other fairs," said Wilma. "But no one in our family ever won the grand before."

Overall sales totaled $92,774.90 for 247 animals and dressed carcasses.

A follow-up appreciation dinner for buyers and exhibitors was scheduled for the Derry Area High School on September 16.

Are your wheat profits getting lost at the mill?

You've just harvested your wheat crop and the yields look pretty good. Looks like you'll even make enough to pay your taxes. Then you haul the grain to the mill. It's weighed. And you find out your test weights are under 58 lb/bu.

So instead of getting full profit, you lose 8¢ for every bushel you produce. Even more if your test weights are substantially under 58 lb/bu. So much for paying off the taxes.

Maximize your profits with unmatched test weights.

With Hoffman 89, you'll get every penny from your wheat crop. In three-year trials conducted by Penn State and the University of Maryland, Hoffman 89 weighed in with the top test weight across all locations.

Best of all, it produced test weights of 58 lb/bu or more every single time, topping the mean test weight by at least 4%.

Get superior test weights without sacrificing yield.

But superior test weights are only half the story with Hoffman 89. You'll also get top-end yields that will have you smiling all the way to the bank.

Its 98 bu/A average, for example, produced a 5% advantage over the mean yield of 92.9 bu/A in Lancaster County trials. At $3.00 per bushel, you'd make $15.30 more per acre using Hoffman 89.

Winter hardiness boosts plant population.

Hoffman 89 features excellent winter hardiness to improve percent stand come spring. It also tillers better than many varieties to increase overall plant population. Superior standability and Powdery Mildew tolerance ensure maximum yield potential for added profitability.

Stop losing your profits at the mill.

Tired of losing your profits at the mill? Then call your local Hoffman sales representative. Or call Hoffman Seeds at 1-800-776-7929. We'll show you how to get the most from your wheat crop using Hoffman 89.

Miss Magic Flair Is S.E. Grand Champion Holstein

CONNIE LEINBACH
(Berks Co. Correspondent)

KUTZTOWN (Berks County) — Barbara Reisinger's 3-year-old cow, Miss Magic Flair, proved to be magic at the Southeastern Pennsylvania Holstein show here, winning the grand champion and senior champion honors.

"She's just a stylish cow from the tip of her nose to the tip of her tail," noted judge Wayne Stiles of Maryland.

Besides, Miss Magic also freshened only two weeks before the show.

"I wish all our cows looked as good as her two weeks after they freshen," Stiles said.

Moreover, Barbara said, she is producing 120 pounds of milk a day at the Reisinger farm, Bent Creek Farm, Carlisle.

"She really works hard," Barbara said.

But Don notes that Magic "is entirely too spoiled."

"I feed her cookies and donuts, and she loves Coke," Barbara said, laughing.

Her depth of body and openness of rib is one aspect of her frame that caught not only Stiles's eye, but also the eyes of other judges around the country.

Miss Magic Flair captured second-place All-American honors and was fourth last year in the World Dairy Expo at Madison, Wisconsin.

Next, she is off to Harrisburg for the state championships and then again to the World Dairy Expo. Russell Miller of Tamaqua owns half of this cow, Barbara said.

Reserve grand champion and reserve senior champion honors went to an aged cow, 6-year-old Justa-Beauty Trixie Lise, owned by Guy and Sharon Hammond and shown by Steve Cornman of Carlisle.

Reu-Hel Target Oodles-ET, owned by Scott and Connie Troutman of Reu-Hel Farms, Mohrsville, was the junior champion. Ronice-Acres Thor Alicia, owned by Darin Nolt, was the reserve junior champion and the junior champion of the youth division

Reu-Hel Farms of Mohrsville won premier breeder honors. It was the second such honor for this family in two weeks, since they were named premier breeder at the Kutztown Fair earlier in August.

Ken Raney, member relations director of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, which held the show, noted that the number of entries was down to 98 this year, from 126 last year.

"There were some good quality cows," he said of those competing. "They should do well at the state show."

The reserve grand champion Holstein of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Holstein Association Championship Show is Justa-Beauty Trixie Lise, owned by Guy and Sharon Hammond, held here by Steve Cornman of Carlisle.

Hershey's Ag Integration Program May Serve As Statewide Model

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — "It's apparent that we have moved out of the ages where we had connections with agriculture. We have found through the years that kids really don't understand where their food comes from," said Norman Miller, director of the new agricultural science program at Milton Hershey School.

Because of this, the school has recently undertaken a major enterprise in all its courses across the board — integrate aspects of agriculture in not just one course, but all the courses, including English, Math, History, and other subject areas.

The new program is spearheaded by Miller. It helps tie in academic and residential programs into a seamless web to promote the understanding of agriculture and related fields in all aspects of learning.

The program, which uses elements of ag science, includes the use of approximately 500 acres next to the centralized campus, according to a memo distributed in mid-July to all Milton Hershey School employees from Robert L. Sloane, vice president of operations.

Kindergarten through 12th graders will be actively learning, through hands-on experience, how important agriculture is to their daily lives. The existing curriculum will not be altered, according to Miller, but will be enhanced by using aspects of agriculture to teach basic concepts of science, math, and communication.

Centers will be able to assist teachers in teaching and in providing instructions and hands-on experience to all Milton Hershey School students. These areas include:

• Dairy and Animal Center. This center will examine milk production, but also show the different milking breeds and how they are important to agriculture as a whole, according to Miller. Also, a production dairy will show how milk is produced, stored, and shipped, and will act as a training center for a multitude of agricultural concepts.

• Environmental Center. This will examine the importance of wetlands and streams to overall water quality, and to promoting the environment, including the health of wildlife.

• Horticultural Center. The many working aspects of the large array of vegetable operations and fruit orchards, including some aspects of the Agway Northeast Research Center and the research involved in a variety of plant genetics, will be examined.

• Farm and Technology Center. This center will serve teachers and students as a way to learn about the mechanics of agriculture, from fixing and maintaining machinery to other types of "shop" work.

Many of the concepts that the program is modeled on came as a result of the experience in the national Ag in the Classroom instructional program and teaching at Penn State the last two years in summer sessions. This week-long program ran five separate weeks to accommodate teacher schedules, from July 11-15 and July 25-29, according to Beth Moore, workshop coordinator.

According to Moore, 76 teachers participated in the program, which focused on the important issues in agriculture and ways teachers can successfully integrate aspects of agriculture into the classroom. This was the second time the workshop, made available through the Pennsylvania Foundation for Better Living, was held.

"We work as closely as possible with Milton Hershey, share projects and receive some of their lessons," said Moore. Last year, two teachers attended from Hershey, and one came back this year as a presenter.

The program involves kindergarten through fifth grades, said Moore. She has received positive feedback from teachers about the program.

"New York has an ag in the curriculum program from K through 6 that's integrated," said Miller. "They're already established in that. Pennsylvania has been behind. And it's our intent to move that forward, not only in our school system, but in the schools of Pennsylvania and also to coordinate that through the nation."

Miller said that plans are under way at the school to develop a nationwide curriculum for schools to incorporate this model of a program.

"This thing will grow," he said. "It's the idea of planting the seeds in teachers' minds to show them that there are different alternatives to teaching kids how you can relate a subject with a hands-on application of an agricultural concept."

As an example, one course, for fifth graders, is called "egg people." Students cut the top of a fresh egg open, make scrambled eggs out of the raw material, and then draw a face on the shell. Dirt is placed in the egg shell, and grass seed is planted on top. The grass seed grows, and students cut the "hair" and maintain the "egg person."

"We are moving so far away from our agrarian base that we as adults and leaders think that everybody is coming up to speed with what we know," said Miller. "But it's not being taught in the systems. We need to realize how illiterate our kids are when it comes to food.

"The future is not necessarily ag production for our kids, it's about agriculture."

National FFA Expects More Than 28,000 For Convention

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — More than 28,000 FFA members, advisors, supporters, and guests are expected to attend the 66th National FFA Convention November 11-13 in Kansas City, Mo. The meeting is the world's largest annual youth organization gathering.

The national convention is the culmination of a year's activities for FFA members. Delegates will discuss topics affecting the national organization and hear educational and motivational speakers. Exceptional FFA members and supporters will be recognized for their achievements and commitment to the organization.

The National FFA Organization will recognize outstanding members in 29 agricultural proficiency areas and in 1(agricultural skill and leadershi, competitions. More than 1,200 members will receive the American FFA Degree, the organization's highest degree. Two of the American FFA Degree recipients will be named American Star Farmer and American Star in Agribusiness.

In addition, chapters will receive recognition for excellence in safety, community development, and chapter activities. Winners in the Computers in Agriculture and Agriscience Teacher of the Year award programs will be named. National finals competition for the prepared and extemporaneous public speaking contests, parliamentary procedure contest, agriscience student recognition program, and the Marketing Plan Project will be held in the Music Hall of the Municipal Auditorium concurrently with Thursday and Friday daytime convention sessions.

Business and industry supporters of the FFA are represented at the convention through the National FFA Foundation. The 1993 Sponsors' Board Chairman is Dale A. Miller, president and chief executive officer, Sandoz Agro, Inc.

Lee Greenwood, country singer ("I'm Proud To Be An American"), will perform Wednesday evening prior to the start of the convention. His appearance is sponsored by the Commerce Bank of Kansas City as a special project of the National FFA Foundation.

Speakers confirmed for this convention include Emory Austin and Geri Jewell, both motivational speakers; John Holliman, CNN reporter; Baxter Black, cowboy poet; Coby Shorter and Senator Larry Craig, former national FFA officers; Augusta Kappner, assistant secretary, U.S. Department of Education; and Jackie Allen, American School Counselors Association. Shorter will be sponsored by the Western Retail Implement and Hardware Association as a special project of the National FFA Foundation.

The 1992-93 National FFA Officers will direct the week's activities. They are Travis Park, national president, Franklin, Ind.; Kevin White, national secretary, Redding, Calif.; John Kleiboeker, central region vice president, Stotts City, Mo.; Dennis Degner, western region vice president; Malone, Texas; Rick Perkins, eastern region vice president, Bloomville, Ohio; and Todd Hingson, southern region vice president, Live Oak, Fla.

"FFA — Leadership for America" is the theme for the 1993 convention and reflects the organization's underlying purpose of developing enthusiastic leaders for America and the agricultural industry. It is also the kind of spirit that stimulated local and state leaders to increase FFA membership for the second year in a row.

The National FFA Alumni Convention and the National FFA Agricultural Career Show are scheduled in conjunction with the FFA convention. They are held in H. Roe Bartle Hall, located adjacent to the Municipal Auditorium.

"Agriculture is a vast career field for young people today," said Larry D. Case, national FFA advisor. "The national convention provides numerous opportunities for members to learn about the agricultural industry as they work with business leaders, meet members from other states, attend the Agricultural Career Show, participate in national FFA contests and attend the various workshops and tours."

FFA was founded in Kansas City in 1928 at the Baltimore Hotel, only a few blocks from the current convention site.

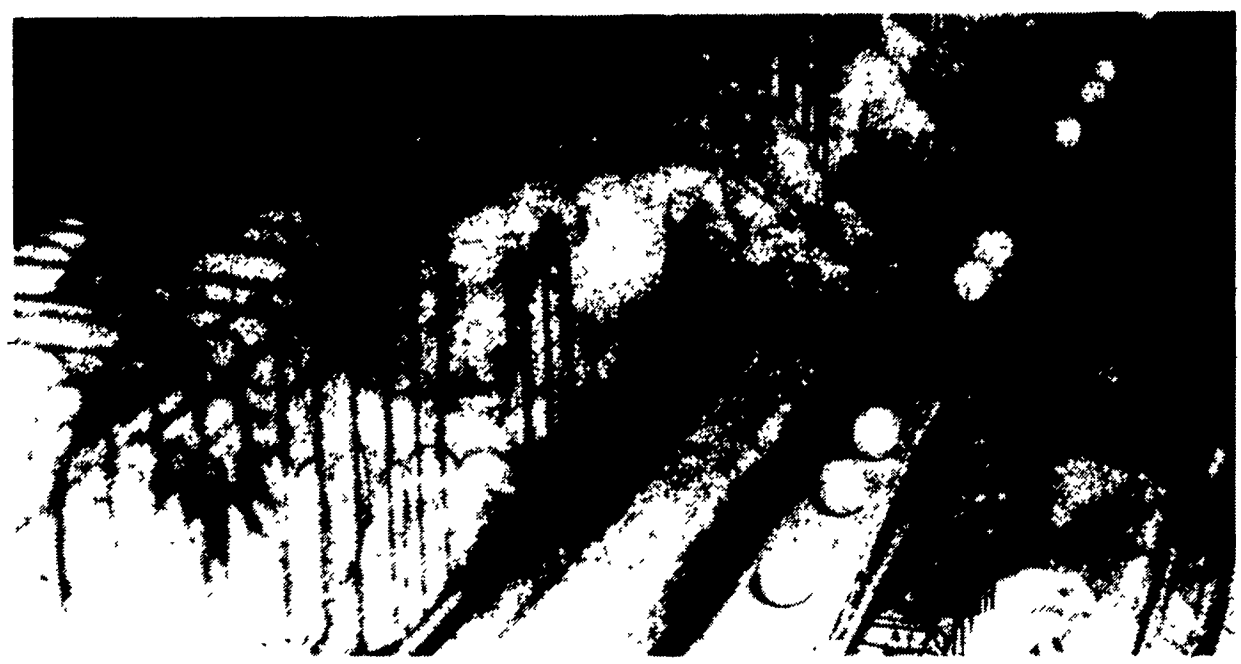
19 More Reasons

Why you should buy Big Dutchman from Hershey Equipment



NEW CONSTRUCTION OR REMODEL WORK

1. Big Dutchman and Hershey Equipment is #1 in owner loyalty. More people buy Big Dutchman when they remodel than any other system.
2. Our Profit-tier system adapts to your old building.
3. Re-use your old corners to save money.
4. Big Dutchman's superior suspension system keeps the cages from sagging between stands. Competitive systems sag.
5. Lower maintenance costs. Talk to our customers - Then talk to theirs!
6. Better Performance! This isn't just talk. Ask your feed company to show you records from a Big Dutchman system to compare to a competitive system.
7. Big Dutchman high lip feed trough is designed to reduce spillage into the walkways. Look at a competitors walkway and measure the thickness of wasted feed.
8. Your old hoppers aren't wore out. Save money and reuse them on your new system.
9. We have our own installation crews to be sure the equipment is properly installed. Competition hires outside crews.
10. Eggs move gently from the birds, to the belts and thru the collector unit. The eggs are not like balls in a bowling alley as in some competitive systems.
11. Incredible! New left hand drive allows feed chain to travel up to 120 F.P.M.
12. Your present gearboxes and motors can be re-used to save money.
13. The Big Dutchman chain feeder gives 2½ times more feeder space than the grind auger.
14. It's a proven fact. Chain feeder systems use less electricity.
15. Big Dutchman has a stronger cage top and front than competitive cages.
16. The sliding door on a Big Dutchman system is easy to open and close and it stays closed.
17. The Big Dutchman collector is the best there is. Don't accept an imitation.
18. Our cage design allows eggs to roll front and out of the cage, not get stepped on and cracked by birds as in competitive cages.
19. Big Dutchman systems provides a bigger percentage of larger eggs for a longer period of time.

FFA Foundation Announces Anniversary Celebration

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) — The Pennsylvania FFA Foundation will kick off the celebration of the state FFA's 65th anniversary on October 4 here at Hawk Valley Golf Club, holding a "Hoss's Fore FFA Golf Tournament and Dinner/ Auction."

According to Foundation President Dwight Woelkers of Hatfield Quality Meats, registration for the golf tournament and lunch begins at 11 a.m. with a shotgun start at 12:30 p.m.

A spectacular dinner is planned with an auction taking place during dinner. Dinner is scheduled to start at 6 p.m. with William Campbell, CEO of Hoss's Steak and Sea House chain, personally preparing the filet mignon steaks on the grill.

To make things more exciting, the Philadelphia Eagles football team cheerleaders will be on hand to participate in the celebration and to have their picture taken with golf tournament participants.

Mary Jo Cancelmo, executive director of the Pennsylvania FFA Foundation, said, "Our golf tournament committee members are outstanding, enthusiastic, and pro's in planning special events."

Golf committee members include celebrities such as Dick Vermeil, former head coach of the Eagles and now ABC sports commentator, and Greg Gross, former pinch hitter for the Philadelphia Phillies baseball team. Food and agriculture industry members are Nelson Harris, CEO, Tastykake; Ed Herr, Herr's Foods; Jamie Ciarrocchi, Modern Mushrooms; and John Zerbe, Purina Mills. Ken Brandt, Sam Sherk, and John Nikoloff are all foundation trustees who have had years of experience in planning great golf outings.

Dinner and auction committee members are Rep. Jere Schuler and his wife Renee of Lancaster County; Rep. Art Hershey and his wife Joyce of Chester County; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wilkinson, Chester County; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Weber, Bowmansville; and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wenger, Myersdale.

Anyone wishing to make reservations either for golf or dinner may contact Mary Jo Cancelmo, executive director, at (215) 648-0674.

Milk Meter Gives Precise Yield Information

MADISON, Wis. — The Bou-Matic Precision electronic milk meter measures your cow's milk yield gently and accurately without calibration hassles.

The Precision milk meter measures all of the milk produced by each cow in 0.1 pound increments. Its unique design also compensates for differences in milk density (butterfat) from cow to cow. The Precision milk meter uses a rotor to measure milk volume and a float to compensate for butterfat differences, which results in accurate milk yield measurements.

No complicated on-farm calibration procedure is needed because the meter is factory calibrated and tested for accuracy.

Not only is the Precision milk meter accurate, it is gentle on milk to maintain milk quality. The tangential milk inlet gently directs the milk down and around the meter housing with little or no milk agitation which helps maintain milk quality.

For more information, contact your nearest Bou-Matic dealer or Joe Prazak, product manager, Bou-Matic, the Dairy Equipment Division of DEC International, Inc., P.O. Box 8050, Madison, WI 53708-8050, (608) 222-3484.

Dairy Princess Coronation

standing original dairy promotions for school children and, new this year, will be two $100 awards for the two best speeches designed for an adult audience.

Also, as in the past, two $50 awards are to be made for the best scrapbooks which are to chronical a princess's actual promotion activities up to the date of the pageant.

Additionally, the contestants themselves are to judge and select the recipient of a "Miss Congeniality" award.

According to the agency statement, "The primary purpose of the dairy princess program in Pennsylvania is the promotion of the dairy industry and its products on the local grass roots level."

In connection with that purpose, there are also be incentive awards provided recognizing those counties whose previous year's dairy princess and supporting committee had achieved a set of incentive requirements.

Another individual award of $300 is to be presented to the dairy princess who stood out as the outstanding dairy promoter during her county reign. Called the "Tina Shultz Memorial Award," it is given in memory and honor of Tina Shultz who died of cancer in 1986 during her reign as Huntingdon County dairy princess. The runner-up is to receive a $150 award in memory of Margaret Shultz, of Montgomery County, who was also a 1985-86 dairy princess and who recently died of cancer.

While tickets for the Saturday evening event are $20 per person and available on a first-come basis, the public is invited to attend a Saturday morning session during which the contestants will be giving their presentations.

The presentations are to be held in the Sheraton Ballroom, from 8 a.m. to noon.

To get tickets, call the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services Inc., at (814) 226-7470, or write to the agency at 214 South St., Box 640, Clarion, PA, 16214. All tickets must be paid in advance and will be held at the door.

Somerset County Fall Classic Grosses $73,650

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — It was a shorter sale than in recent years, but the annual Somerset County Fall Classic had consistent bids for the 42 animals offered, and prices averaged $1,888 overall with a grand sum of $73,650.

Bred heifers averaged $1,963; cows, $1,807, and calves, up to six months old, sold for an average of $1,950.

William Smith, Independence, Va., was the night's biggest single buyer paying more than $15,000 for nine black and white Holsteins.

Michael and Kathy Stiles, Boonesboro, Md., were second high purchaser buying seven animals — including one of the highest selling and also the second high selling animal — for a total of $12,600.

Bringing $2,500 apiece for the top dollar paid at the sale were Mossys Leadman Magnet, born August 11, 1991 and consigned by William Mosholder, Rockwood; and Berkline Blackstar Bunny, born July 16, 1991 and consigned by Lewis and Barbara Berkley, of Berlin. James Ellis, Martinsburg, purchased Bunny.

Magnet was bred on Feb. 3 to Elusive Rotate Duke-ET, and is due on Nov. 10.

Bunny was bred Dec. 17 to Jodi-Syn Mark Anthony-ET.

Bernard VanDeest, from Delhi, Iowa, bought one and a half animals, splitting the half with Steve Pheasant from Martinsburg.

The crowd got interested in a 12-year-old bidder, Reuban Hunsberger from Davidsville, when it became known that he was after New-Vision Lincoln Halo-ET, born on March 3.

Hunsberger sat in the front row, directly opposite auctioneer, Clark Yoder from Salisbury. With a tentative up and down hand, that depended on the signal from his dad who was seated elsewhere, the young man's competition finally called off at $2,000.

The animal is to belong to both him and his brother Nicholas who is 14, he said. Hunsberger is the son of Bill and Jeannette Hunsberger.

Oren C. Bender, Accident, Md. read pedigrees. Sale co-chairmen were Dan Kimmel and Greg Coleman. Ringmen were John Burket and Rick Foreman.

Somerset County Dairy Princess Stephanie Singo presented red carnations to the purchasers with their signing the bills of sale.

The sale was sponsored by the Somerset County Holstein Club.

Bill Mosholder holds the halter of Mossys Leadman Magnet which he sold for $2,500, a tie for top price at the Somerset County Fall Classic Holstein sale.

Llama Association Sets Conference

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Greater Appalachian Llama Association will be holding their annual conference at the Eden Resort and Conference Center on September 24-26.

This will be the first time that Pennsylvania will host the annual convention.

Llama owners from around Pennsylvania and the East Coast will gather in Lancaster to share ideas, attend workshops, and meet new llama owners. The theme for the 1993 conference is the "Small Llama Producer," concentrating on those producers and their special needs.

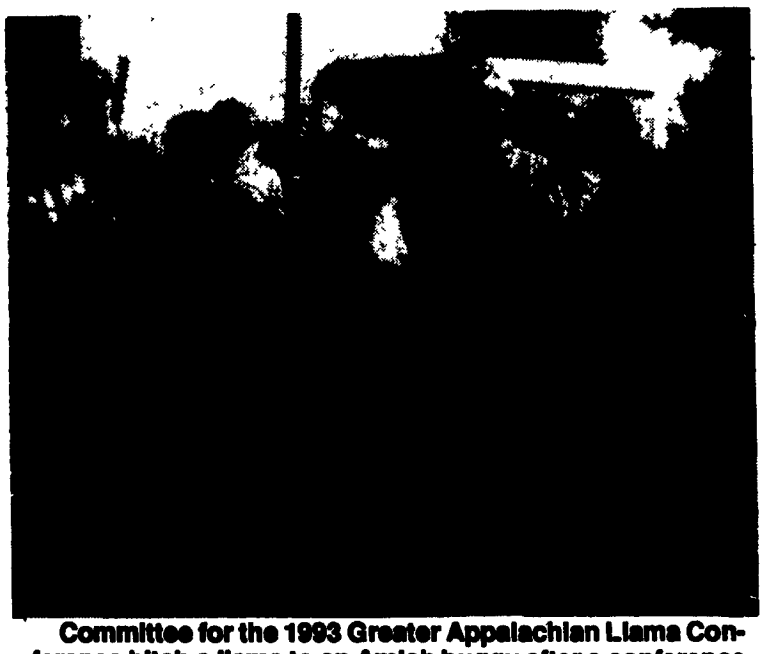
A variety of speakers and workshop leaders from Pennsylvania will be participating, such as Drs. Stanley Curtis and Clair Engle, Pennsylvania University; Drs. Laura Reiley and Wendy Freeman, New Bolton Center; Dr. Gerald Marvin, Jr., Philadelphia College of Textiles and Sciences; Paul Craig, Dauphin County extension agent; and Dr. Ed. Scheaffer, Palmyra.

Special guest speaker at the Saturday, September 25 luncheon will be Deputy Secretary of the Department of Agriculture Walter Puchatka. The secretary will talk about the direction of agribusiness and livestock production in the 1990s.

There will be about 100 llamas and alpacas on display during the conference, with a variety of vendors with llama materials and gifts. The public is invited to visit the llama displays and meet the llama owners during the conference.

Chairing the 1993 Llama Conference is Elizabethtown businessman John E. Zerphey. John and his wife, Lynn, have been raising llamas since 1989. Other Lancaster County llama owners participating in the conference are Flo & David Harnish, Ephrata; Marj & Roger Gerhart, Lititz; and Lucy Gillichbauer, Willow Street.

For more information: contact John E. Zerphey, (717) 362-4315.



Committee for the 1993 Greater Appalachian Llama Conference hitch a llama to an Amish buggy after a conference meeting planning the annual conference.

Slit Tiller Available

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Slit tillers are available again this fall from the Lancaster Conservation District.

A two-shank slit-tiller, which can be horse-drawn, and a five-shank model (80+HP recommended) are available free of charge on up to five acres. Both slit-tillers can be used for additional acreage by paying a maintenance charge of $2.50 per acre.

The slit-tillers are similar to chisel plows. However, the shanks with straight chisel points are 30 inches on center, so that less of the soil is disturbed. The combination of soils and undisturbed soil can act as small terraces, which will help to keep more soil, water, and nutrients on the field where they can be utilized by your crops.

To maximize the benefits of slit-tillage, all work should be done on the contour and at least 30 percent of the crop residue should be left on the soil surface.

For more information about slit-tillage, or to use a slit-tiller on a free trial basis, contact Eric J. Ashley at the Lancaster Conservation District office at (717) 299-5361.

4-Year-Old Wins Md. Holstein Show

EVA MARTIN
Maryland Correspondent

TIMONIUM, Md. — Fair Hill Enhancer Song, owned by Marion Andrew of Centerville, was chosen grand champion of the Maryland Holstein Show at the Maryland State Fair.

Judge Wayne Sliker, of St. Paris, Ohio said the Holstein was a "handy winner, tremendously tall, nicely balanced udder with correct teat placement." A 4-year-old, she was awarded best udder in the class. The cow was sired by Glenafton Enhancer.

Reserve grand champion went to Kingstead and Ron Heffner for C. Philcher Starbuck Andrea, sired by Hanoverhill Starbuck, a beautiful 5-year-old with tremendous size and scale.

Sliker chose his first and second place winter yearlings as junior champion and reserve junior champion. Hillpine Jed Carie, owned by Heffner and Andrew was awarded junior champion and Maple Flat Ares Rosie, owned by Danielle Sparling, took reserve. Sliker commented that they were well grown, as big as senior yearlings and he liked their style.

Steve and Chris Wood and Robert Gitt of Penn Gate Farm were chosen premier breeder and exhibitor.

Rippley, first runner-up to Maryland Farm Queen; National Holstein Director Marlin Hoff; Maryland Holstein Association President Oren Bender; and Judge Wayne Sliker from St. Paris, Ohio.

Queens and princesses dressed in evening gowns and Ring Master Andrews and Judge Sliker in tuxedos gave the appearance of a royal occasion. Anticipation grew in the audience as the participants paraded their 19 Holstein beauties around the darkened Cow Palace with spotlights on each one as they were introduced.

As excitement continued to mount in the huge crowd that gathered at ringside, the five finalists were chosen. They were presented as a court for Miss Futurity as she was paraded around the arena to the applause of the audience.

Judge Sliker's placings for the 1993 Maryland Holstein Futurity were:

1. Peace & Plenty AJ Lovie - Joe Schwartzbeck Family; 2. Ladys Manor Mallory T - My Ladys Manor Farm Inc.; 3. Savage Leigh Apache Babe - Ryan Savage; 4. Unicorn Blackstar Hannah - Mark Iager; 5. Coldsprings Mark Versene - Jack & Vicki King; 18. Knob View Pattern Amanda - Richard Kepler; 19. Penn Gate Starbuck Angela - Steve & Chris Wood and Robert Gitt.

Coldsprings Mark Versene, owned by Jack and Vicki King of Manchester, was the production winner.

During the judge's deliberation, the audience was entertained with music by the Rinehart Sisters. A milk promotion skit was presented by Mary Ellen Seraydian, Carroll County dairy princess.

The Maryland Holstein Futurity is sponsored by the Maryland Holstein Association to stimulate interest in the breeding and exhibiting of outstanding registered Holsteins in Maryland. It recognizes the accomplishments of the small and large breeder and the FFA/4-H girl or boy.

The Futurity is based upon the nomination of an animal by its owner, to be shown in the futurity show in the year in which she is eligible. Four payments are required for each animal that competes. The initial nomination is made as a calf with a fee of $2.50. Four dollars is paid with the renomination as a yearling, $6 as a 2-year old, and the final payment of $10 is due as a 3-year-old.

For this futurity, the final nomination and payment included 37 entries. This number was reduced to 19 by show night. The purse this year ranged from $800 for first place to $65 for 19th place. An additional $260 was awarded in increments of $80, $60, $50, $40, and $30 to the top five animals for their two-year production record.

Entries for the thirteenth Maryland Holstein Futurity for 1996 along with first payments are due by October 31.

The 1993 Maryland Futurity Winner is the Joe Schwartzbeck family with Peace and Plenty AJ Louie. Maryland commodity queens are on right.

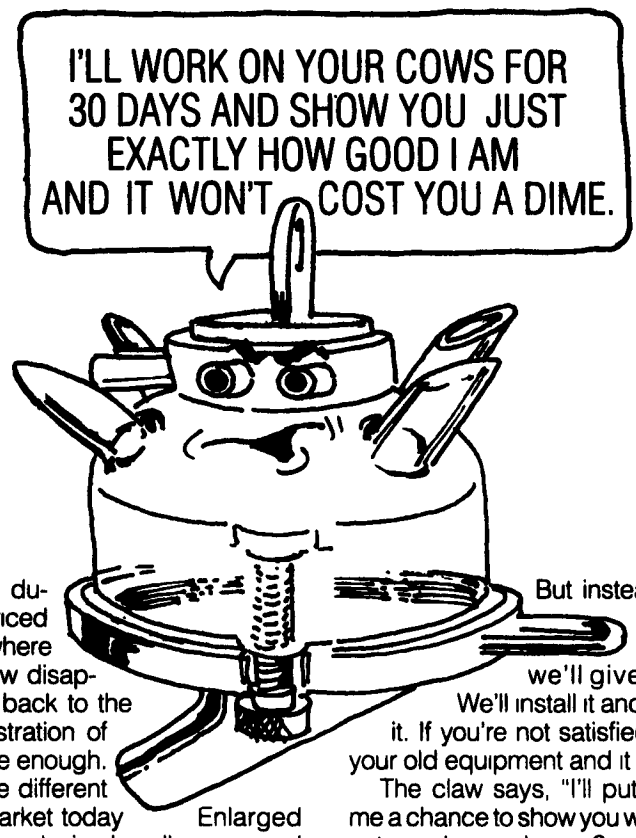
We think Universal's Tidal Flow Claw can tell its own story better than we can.



This new, high-capacity, durable and competitively priced claw is a far cry from where we started. We had a few disappointments that sent us back to the drawing board. The frustration of being close, but not close enough.

These new milkers are different from any other on the market today. Enlarged inlets and a larger chamber design handle increased capacity and improve vacuum stability.

But instead of just telling you how good we think the Universal Tidal Flow Claw is, we'll give you a 30-day free trial. We'll install it and show you how to operate it. If you're not satisfied, we'll remove it, replace your old equipment and it won't cost you a dime.

The claw says, "I'll put up or shut up. Just give me a chance to show you what I can do for you." Why not give him a chance?

Survey Says All American Is Great Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — An independent survey conducted this month confirms what exhibitors have been saying all along — the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show is the premier dairy show in the East.

Purebred dairymen, in seven states were contacted by Bob Williams Associates, Camp Hill, to pick up ideas on improving the show, according to All-American manager Charles Itle.

The 26th PA All-American opens its doors Sept. 25 for a five-day run at the Farm Show Complex, Harrisburg. Over 2,500 cattle are expected from 30 states and Canada.

As part of the survey, Itle reports, exhibitors were asked to rate major shows on a scale of one to 10. Over 60 percent ranked the All-American ahead of other Eastern shows.

In a face-off between the All-American and major midwest shows, the All-American finished in a virtual tie.

"Past exhibitors also were asked what they liked and didn't like about the All-American," he said. "No holds were barred."

Itle noted that the facilities and quality of the cattle at the All-American won high marks from most show people.

"I'd rate the 24-cow milking parlor a 10½. It's open 24 hours a day," one breeder exclaimed. She said milking parlors at some shows are open only four hours daily.

"Best facilities for exhibitors," another breeder said. One improvement he suggested were TV monitors in barns to help herdsmen keep track of show ring activities.

"Best anywhere" was the comment on facilities by an Ohio breeder who mentioned the milking parlor, power washers and herdsmen's locker room.

Three liked "everything under one roof."

"They keep it clean," another said of the buildings and barns.

"Nice and clean," a Pennsylvania Holstein breeder commented.

A Vermont exhibitor kept his comments on the All-American short and sweet. He liked "quality of cattle, facilities, location."

Also mentioned by exhibitors: "Free parking." "Free first bedding." "Free pictures for winners of sponsored classes."

Criticism ranged from management ("They don't listen") to the sound system, Itle reported.

"How about using heavy tar paper to make walkways slip proof for cattle?" one dairyman questioned.

More barn ventilation was suggested by a Pennsylvania breeder who thought barns still got pretty hot in September.

Another breeder wondered about availability of ag students to take care of cattle at night.

"They do at Ohio State Fair," he said.

Several mentioned small crowds as a problem but two breeders had other thoughts on the matter.

A New England exhibitor allowed that crowds "wear me down. The All-American is quieter."

A Western Pennsylvania exhibitor found those who did attend the All-American were "more interested in breeding stock."

A Maryland breeder wants more recognition for best cattle bred and shown by owners.

An Ohio breeder would like to see separate herdsman and exhibit awards. The first to recognize cow care, professionalism and sportsmanship; a second to recognize outstanding displays.

One man insisted management should be "fired."

But others volunteered that officials were "accommodating," "everyone treats me fine" and "I like the people."

Still, Itle is concerned. "We want to do the best job we can . . . for everyone."

A problem pointed out by one long-time exhibitor will be easier to correct, the All-American manager said. That exhibitor wants more wheelbarrows available.

When asked what he didn't like about the All-American, an Ohio cattle breeder thought a moment, then he said, "There's not a whole lot I don't like."

The Effects Of Multiple Component Pricing

KIMBERLY MEEK
Economist, F.O. No.4
and LARRY HAMM
Professor, Dept. Head
Ag Economics
Michigan State University

EAST LANSING, Mich. — The purpose of this study is to determine what effect, if any, multiple component pricing has had in the Order No. 4 marketing area during the period from January to June, 1992.

Pool values under the prior pricing system (skim and butterfat) will be compared to those generated under the current pricing system (multiple component) to determine if revenue neutrality was achieved.

The relationship between NFMS levels, butterfat levels, and the resulting handler obligations will be discussed. Individual handler obligations will be computed using skim and butterfat pricing and multiple component pricing to determine the differences between the two pricing systems.

Producer data will be analyzed using three variables; farm size (monthly marketings), to see if one size group has an advantage over another; cooperative affiliation or nonmember (independent) status, to determine if there are advantages or disadvantages to remaining independent; and state location, in order to assess any regional effects of multiple component pricing.

Multiple component pricing, as implemented in Federal Order 4, did not substantially alter the pool values from those that would have occurred in its absence for the period studied.

The largest increase in the total value of producer milk was $103,673, which represents only a two cent per hundredweight change. The smallest increase was $16,243.

Multiple component pricing, therefore, did result in nearly a revenue neutral situation for the market as a whole.

On an individual handler and producer basis however, there was a clear redistribution of revenue.

On the handler side, the "winners" were those handlers that received lower testing milk from producers that was utilized in Class I. These handlers did not need the higher levels of nonfat milk solids for use in Class II and III products whose yield is positively correlated with NFMS content. Since the milk was utilized in Class I, these handlers were not changed for the actual pounds of NFMS contained in that milk. Instead, they were charged for the skim pounds (including both NFMS and water) on a per hundredweight basis.

The apparent "losers" were those handlers who received higher testing producer milk that was utilized in Class II and III.

However, handlers who make milk powders, Class II products fortified with powder, and, to a certain extent cheeses, will be able to recoup some, if not all, of the loss in the form of higher yields due to the additional nonfat milk solids.

Multiple component pricing, therefore, does create a competitive disadvantage for handlers who manufacture Class II products, such as dips, sour cream, etc., in that they must pay for the higher NFMS levels, but they do not gain because the yield for these products is not correlated as closely with NFMS content.

On the producer side, multiple component pricing appeared to accomplish its goal of recognizing the economic value of producer milk based on its butterfat and nonfat milk solids content.

Those producers who had above average NFMS tests were paid a higher price than they would have received without multiple component pricing. Likewise, producers who had below average tests were paid a lower price than they would have received without multiple component pricing.

Multiple component pricing did tend to favor larger producers over smaller producers. The larger producers had, on average, a higher NFMS test over the six month period.

It might have been that these producers had already changed breeding and/or nutritional programs prior to implementation that enabled them to adjust more quickly to multiple component pricing. Smaller producers may not have had the time or resources to adjust in the first six months after multiple component pricing became effective.

Cooperative affiliation and nonmember status were not found to be factors.

Average producer pay rate differences varied quite a bit from one cooperative to another, as well as between nonmembers and cooperative members.

The producers in the southernmost states under the order seemed to gain more from multiple component pricing than the producers farther north.

This could have resulted from more favorable weather conditions in Virginia and Maryland during the spring and early summer. Again, six months may not have been long enough adjustment period.

As multiple component pricing becomes national in scope, an issue which must be considered is the differences in the nonfat milk solids of producer milk between regions.

There were clear differences in the nonfat milk solids content between producer milk received at F.O. No.4 plants and plants used in the Minnesota-Wisconsin (M-W) price series. The M-W plant data are used to drive producer prices throughout the country.

Therefore, in order to fully compensate producers for the NFMS content of their milk, there should be some mechanism, similar to the butterfat differential, to adjust the M-W price up or down for higher or lower levels of nonfat milk solids in the same manner that payment adjustments are made for higher and lower levels of butterfat.

This would insure that producers with higher volumes of nonfat milk solids will not be underpaid for their milk and those with lower volumes will not be overpaid.

At this point, a word about testing procedures should be raised. During the first six months of 1992, handlers in F.O. No. 4 were using different methods to calibrate and determine NFMS content.

From information obtained from USDA Market Administrator personnel in Minnesota and Wisconsin, it would appear that most plants used in the M-W price series are using ether-extraction samples to calibrate their infra-red

Animal Use Group Recognizes Expert

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Pennsylvanians for the Responsible Use of Animals (PRUA) presented a Certificate of Outstanding Achievement to Dr. Temple Grandin, Ph.D., one of the country's top livestock management experts. Grandin, Colorado State University, Fort Collins, Colo., is known for her constructive efforts to promote safe and humane production, handling, transportation, and processing of farm animals.

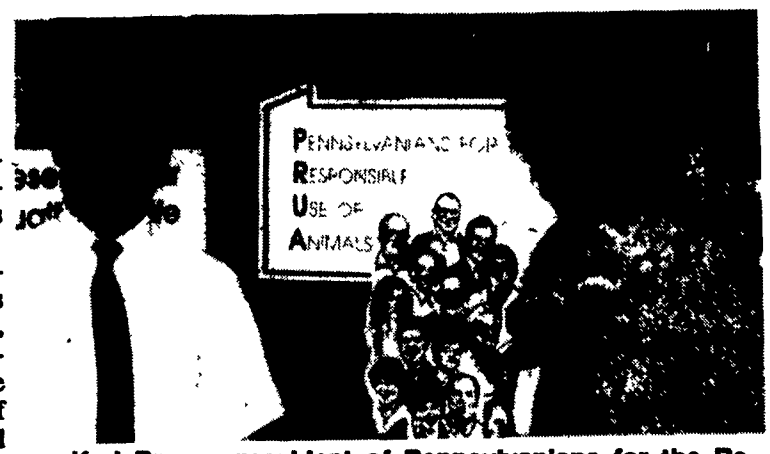
Grandin recently traveled to the central Pennsylvania area to participate at the Animal Housing Expo held in Lebanon County. She told her agriculture colleagues that reducing animals' stress during handling will improve productivity and prevent unwanted physiological changes. Toward this end, Grandin has developed the science of housing and moving animals safely and humanely. She has become the industry's top advisor on the design and construction of housing for farm animals.

Pennsylvanians for the Responsible Use of Animals (PRUA) supports Grandin's progressive work in the humane management of farm animals. PRUA is a coalition of animal user groups and individuals who support the humane use of animals to enhance human life. More than 25 groups and several hundred individuals from Pennsylvania'a agricultural, biomedical/veterinary research, entertainment and professional wildlife management organizations participate in PRUA.

Members of the group encourage humane treatment of animals used for food, clothing, education, entertainment, and biomedical research as well as animals whose welfare is the responsibility of Pennsylvania's scientific and wildlife community.

PRUA offers a forum for member organizations to work together and to provide factual information to the public, schools, media, elected officials, and those responsible for the care of animals to further a better understanding of their proper use and treatment so informed decisions can be made at all levels.

To receive more information about Pennsylvanians for the Responsible Use of Animals, contact Kenneth Brandt, P.O. Box 61, Elizabethtown, PA 17022, (717) 367-5223.



Karl Brown, president of Pennsylvanians for the Responsible Use of Animals (PRUA), discusses animal welfare and humane management practices with Dr. Temple Grandin, nationally known animal housing and handling expert from Colorado State University.

September Is For Seeding

NEWARK, Del. — The lazy, languid days of summer are over, and September is a time of renewed activity. Schedules get crammed with club meetings, night classes, and social engagements. With all the hustle and bustle, you're probably not spending as much time puttering about the lawn and garden. But, if you want a great lawn next spring, you need to work on it today.

"September is the ideal month for rehabbing a lawn or starting a new one," said University of Delaware Cooperative Extension horticultural agent Jo Mercer. "A lot of things are working for us at this time of year — warm soil, relatively cooler air, more reliable rainfall, and less competition from weeds."

But don't just start spreading lime or scattering seed with abandon.

"People really need to do a soil test before they do anything else," said Mercer. With the test results come detailed instructions on ways to improve your soil.

After receiving your results, plot out a strategy. What are your lawn's flaws? Assets? Can the lawn be saved or will you need to start from scratch?

Mercer's rule of thumb is that if more than 50 percent of the grass is in bad shape, then it's best to begin a new lawn. However, if less than 50 percent is in poor condition, it's usually possible to beef it up by spot-seeding and other measures.

Choose your grass seed carefully. If you are starting a new lawn, Mercer recommends turf-type tall fescue for its low maintenance and ability to withstand heat. But if you are spot-seeding a Kentucky bluegrass lawn, think twice before introducing tall fescue. It can look clumpy and untidy among bluegrass.

Whether you are re-seeding or just spot-seeding, you'll first want to rototill and apply fertilizer and lime in the amounts recommended by your soil test. Immediately before seeding, hand-rake to remove stones and smooth the surface. After seed application, mulch lightly and water.

"It's imperative to water every day while the seeds are sprouting," said Mercer. "Initially, the seeds will need frequent watering for short periods of time. Later, as the roots grow into the soil, you can switch to longer, more infrequent waterings."

If your lawn doesn't require seeding, concentrate on building up the structure of the grass, said Mercer.

In other words, bring out the fertilizer. Fall, not spring, as many would believe, is the ideal time to fertilize. In addition, you may want to work on broadleaf weed control through the application of herbicides.

Whatever you decide to do for your lawn, get out and do it now. As Mercer said, "This is the window of opportunity to make a difference in how your lawn will do in the future."

For more information on site preparation, turfgrass selection, planting procedures, and post-planting care, consult "Successful Lawn Management," a 20-page bulletin offered by cooperative extension. The bulletin and the soil kits recommended by Mercer are each $5 and can be purchased at any extension office.

Crop Disaster Relief

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Farmers in Lancaster County may apply for financial relief from crop losses sustained as a result of hot and dry conditions during the 1993 growing season, announced Ray Brubaker, county executive director of the Lancaster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Under legislation signed by President Clinton on August 12, appropriations have been made available for 1993 crop losses because of damaging weather and related conditions in 1993.

Eligible producers may apply for benefits on most crops through March 4, 1994. To be eligible for payments, a producer must have sustained a 35-percent loss to a particular crop while carrying crop insurance; otherwise, a 40-percent loss is required for eligibility.

"While it may be too early in many cases to determine exact losses, producers should be prepared to provide the needed data," said Brubaker. To be prepared, they should contact the Lancaster County ASCS office for detailed information.

Producers will receive a payment based on the difference between established yields on all crop acreage on a given farm and the 1993 actual production. The rate of payment is 65-percent of the target price (for participating program crops) or county loan rate (for non-participating program crops) established for this crop.

Currently, the 1993 program covers losses to quantity only. It is anticipated that quality losses will be added.

Payment for 1993 losses is for the full amount for which eligibility is established and is not subject to factoring to meet budgetary ceiling.

In order to qualify, producers must have conservation plans on all farms in which they have an interest in the crops. Farmers should contact the Lancaster ASCS office at (717) 397-6235 for more information.

One of the highlights of the Pennsylvania All American Dairy Show week is the selection of a supreme champion from among the grand champions of all six dairy breeds that are selected during the week of national and regional-level shows. Here are 1992 champions, Gary Ridge Farm and Kingstead Farms, from Ijamsville, Md.: from the left, Mary Louise Wilcom and Doug King, state Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff, Chris Hill at the halter of the supreme champion, C Roesland Astro Kat, and Crystal Schweighofer, state dairy princess.

Learning Is The Focus Of All American

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show is a learning experience - learning is the focus of the many contests, the ringside discussions, the latest products featured at the trade show, the new Forage Festival, the youth contests and the Careers and Opportunities Night.

From the remarks of the official judges, to sales pitches from the trade show exhibitors, it's all directed towardd learning how to making dairy cattle operations more efficient and profitable.

Ringside spectators can be expected to compare their placings with the official show judge. The judge may emphasize a cow's feet and legs, or a cow's mammary system, in making their placings, or perhaps breed character and body capacity will have a greater influence.

Young dairymen also can be expected to test their knowledge and skills against industry professionals in the Junior Dairy Management Contest, the Pennsylvania Dairy Judging Forum, and the Invitational Youth Dairy Cattle Judging Contest.

The dynamics of the dairy industry is changing rapidly. Changes range from changes in genetic opportunities to new rotational grazing systems and to on-farm technical assistance by experts. Keeping up with this pace demands that dairymen continuously read industry journals and publications, and attend numerous educational events such as the All-American.

With the ringside activities, a large trade show featuring feeding alternatives, new products in animal housing, genetic information, crop production and farm equipment, the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show offers a one-stop, educational experience.

The Penn State University Department of Dairy and Animal Science NIR van is to be on hand all week to test forage samples and provide continuous counseling on feed options.

This testing program is a part of the new Forage Festival. It is an excellent opportunity, in this year of weather extremes, for dairymen to bring samples of hay, haylage, and corn silage for analysis at a reduced cost.

Typically, testing costs $13 per sample, but because of financial support by seed dealers and the PA Forage and Grassland Council, dairymen will pay only $5 per sample. Dairymen may bring an unlimited number of samples of their own forages.

The 30th Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, runs from Sept. 20-23, at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

Lancaster County Fair Season

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Following is a list of upcoming Lancaster County Fairs.

Denver

The Denver Community Fair will begin with a bang this year as a new fireworks display will kick off opening night. An all-aerial show of rockets will begin at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, lasting about 20 minutes.

Fun competitions for all ages dominate the festivities with Jell-O eating and smelly sneaker contests, and the new tug of war competition and pedal power tractor pull.

A baked goods auction and the crowning of the fair queen will open the week's festivities in the Denver Memorial Park on Main Street in the borough.

Bingo games will be held each evening from 6 to 10 p.m. and senior citizen bingo will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Access to off-street parking, for $1, is available at the park's Pine Street entrance and the Denver Borough lot on Main Street. Handicapped parking is available upon request. Exhibits for the fair will be registered Monday from 6 to 9 p.m.

Tuesday, Sept. 15: 6:30 p.m., Baked goods auction; 7 p.m., fair queen coronation; 8 p.m., Jell-O eating contest.

Wednesday, Sept. 16: 7 p.m., parade (rain date Thursday).

Thursday, Sept. 17: 4 p.m., sheep show; 7:30 p.m., performance by country group Full Circle, followed by a tug of war open to any organizations.

Friday, Sept. 18: 6 p.m., beef show followed by auction; 7 p.m., talent show.

Saturday, Sept. 19: 11 a.m., cow chip poker and pet show; 1:30 p.m., outhouse race; 2:30 p.m., baby parade; 3:30 p.m., super peanut scramble; 4:30 p.m., smelly sneaker contest; 7:30 p.m., entertainment by Big Wheeley and the Whitewalls.

Solanco

The impressive array of homemade food is the most celebrated reason to visit the 44th annual Southern Lancaster County Community Fair. Everything from elephant ears to beef barbecues, cotton candy to smoked sausage are part of Quarryville's smorgasbord of fair treats.

No midway clutters the fairgrounds, only dozens of food stands assaulting taste buds from miles away.

Even the fair committee gets in on the act, serving lunches and dinners in the Hoffman Community Building. Wednesday's special will be chicken pot pie, Thursday's lunch will be beef stew, followed by a complete ham supper. On Friday, hot roast beef sandwiches will be served.

Visitors making it past all the food will find an impressive array of farm equipment displayed, and some of the county's top dairy cattle.

This year, a greased pig contest has been added to the fair schedule and a new youth tug of war will close the fair Friday night.

Wednesday, Sept. 15: 10 a.m., dairy cattle show; 2 p.m., sheep show; 6:30 p.m., parade; 8:30, story teller Steve Courtney and tug of war, lightweight and heavyweight division.

Thursday, Sept. 16: 10 a.m., dairy cattle show; 3 p.m., swine show; 7 p.m., beef show and baby parade; 7:30 p.m., greased pig contest.

Friday, Sept. 17: 10 a.m., adult and junior tractor driving contest; 5 p.m., celebrity invitational milking contest; 6 p.m., market livestock sale; 6:30 p.m., peanut and candy scramble; 8 p.m., youth tug of war.

Ephrata

The granddaddy of county fairs, the Ephrata Fair will celebrate its diamond anniversary this year — 75 years of food, fun and games of chance along its downtown midway.

Fair officials are attempting to bring back the two original giant ferris wheels to the midway to commemorate the anniversary.

Although the midway covers several blocks of Main and North State streets, exhibits for the fair spread out further, requiring a free shuttle service for fairgoers to take in all the events.

The fair's first contest begins Monday at 4 p.m. with the third annual scarecrow contest. The fair will end Saturday night with the crowning of Miss Lancaster County.

Tuesday, Sept. 21: 10 a.m., bake sale; 5 p.m., adult tractor driving contest and junior market swine show; 6:30 p.m. antique tractor; 8 p.m., pig chase.

Wednesday, Sept. 22: 10 a.m., dairy cattle show; 1 p.m., Cloister FFA tractor driving contest; 3:30 p.m., judging lamb on foot, followed by junior market lamb judging; 7 p.m., street fair parade, (rain date is Thursday).

Thursday, Sept. 23: 1 to 6 p.m., kiddies day; 5 p.m., baby beef show; 6:30 p.m., carcass lamb, baby beef and hog sale (if it rains Wednesday, the sale will be moved to Friday); 6:30 p.m. community tug-of-war contest; 7 p.m., garden tractor pulling contest.

Friday, Sept. 24: 6:30 p.m., cow milking contest followed by family fun contests.

Saturday, Sept. 25: 2 p.m., baby parade; 8 p.m. Miss Lancaster County Scholarship Pageant.

West Lampeter

The newest feature of the West Lampeter Community Fair is a scarecrow construction contest for area 7th graders held Thursday at 5 p.m. Another fun children's competition, for students in 1st to 6th grades, is a sunflower growing contest Thursday at 4:30 p.m. Also for kids will be a petting zoo, open from 6 to 8:30 p.m. each evening of the fair.

Calf roping contests and an all-western horse show give the fair a western flavor and the farming skills of FFA students will be evident in the log sawing and bale throwing contests.

Opening each day at 9 a.m., the fair will serve lunch from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and dinner from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Community Fair Restaurant in the fire hall building.

Fairgoers not ready for the festivities to end can stop by Saturday night at 7 p.m. to bid on prize-winning vegetables and fruits at an auction.

Wednesday, Sept. 22: 10 a.m., sheep show; 1 p.m., swine show; 5:30 p.m., pet show; 5 p.m., sheep blocking and fitting contest; 6:30 p.m., beef show; L-S Elementary School band concert; 7 p.m., parade; 7:30 p.m., fair queen contest; 9 p.m., tug of war.

Thursday, Sept. 23: 9 a.m., FFA judging contest; 11 a.m., dairy cattle judging; 1:30 p.m., FFA log sawing and bale throwing contest; 4:30 p.m., baby parade and sunflower contest, 5 p.m., scarecrow contest; 6 p.m., draft horse exhibit and demonstration; 7 p.m., youth dairy showmanship and fitting contest; L-S High School Band Concert, 7:30 p.m., greased pig catching contest; 9 p.m. antique tractor and truck parade.

Friday, Sept. 24: 1 p.m., all-western horse show; 6:30 p.m., calf roping contest; 4-H and FFA hog, beef and lamb consignment sale; 6 p.m., youth encouragement award presentation.

New Holland

The highlight of the New Holland Farmers Fair is the annual spectacle of bands parade, featuring more than a dozen county bands.

The fair also features a midway that stretches along Main Street, Route 23. The livestock events will be held on the grounds of the New Holland sale barns.

Friday afternoon will be designated as kids day with a magic show by Cupcake the Clown at 4 p.m. on Franklin Street and a petting zoo on Fulton Street.

Registration of exhibits will be on Tuesday from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. New this year is the registration for canned goods, baked goods, fruit, nuts, jellies, vegetables and crafts, which will be at the dispensary entrance of Ford New Holland on Franklin Street instead of ABC Groff.

Tuesday, Sept. 28: 5:30 p.m., swine show.

Wednesday, Sept. 29: Noon, bake sale; 3 p.m. sheep show; 7 p.m., opening parade.

Thursday, Sept. 30: 8 p.m., tug of war.

Friday, Oct. 1: afternoon, kid's day events, 4 p.m., Cupcake the Clown; 5 p.m., prize drawing; 6:30 p.m., swine and sheep sale; 8 p.m., tug of war.

Saturday, Oct. 2: 2 p.m., pet parade; 4 p.m., baby parade; 8 p.m., 28th annual firemen's finals in the tug of war.

Manheim

To celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Manheim Community Farm Show, all the 39 former farm show queens, as well as the newest queen will be the feature of the Wednesday night parade.

The farm show's biggest attraction remains the children's barnyard, a combination petting zoo and educational tour, staffed with FFA guides Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

West Virginia Dairy Cattle Sales Succeed

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. — August 28th was a big day for West Virginia dairymen as they held the 26th Heifer Replacement and Genetic Sale and the West Virginia State Dairy Sale in Moundsville, W. Va.

There was some concern from those consigning animals that the cut in milk prices and the lack of feed supplies would affect the prices offered for the animals.

However, state association president Ivan McCombs reported that the sale averages were a little above last year's for the heifer replacement projects and were consistent with last year's on the state sale.

There was a tie for top sellers in the Dairy Heifer Replacement and Genetics Sale.

Consignors were 4-H'ers from the northern panhandle of West Virginia and also from the central region of the state.

Sale average was $1,317 with the top animals both going for $1,600.

Cole Stutler consigned an Inspiration daughter that was bred to Blackcrest Karmel-Red-Et. The other animal that was a top seller in the sale was put into the sale by another 4-H'er from Harrison County named Matt Rogers. His animal was a daughter of Cypress-Hill Laban-Et and was bred to Arlinda Melwood.

The top selling animal consigned by a 4-H'er from the northern panhandle group was Alisha Lucey from Marshall County. Her Whittier-Farms Ned Boy heifer was bred to Bis-May Tradition Cleitus.

Topping the state sale was a first choice female from a flush of Pen-Col Mark Bobbi. This is West Virginia's highest Honor List Cow and the consignment was made by Donna Brooks and Don Alt from Keyser, W. Va. The selling price was $3,600.

The second highest selling animal was a Blackstar daughter form Oldtown Farm, Inc., located at Point Pleasant, W. Va. Consignor Merle Chaplin from Marshall County gave an added bonus to the sale lineup when two of his animals freshened the night before the sale.

Sale average for the state sale was $1,585.34. The sale was managed by Remsburg Auction Service. Both Remsburg and the state president indicated that the location of the sale helped to bring in animals and buyers from different states bordering the northern panhandle of West Virginia.

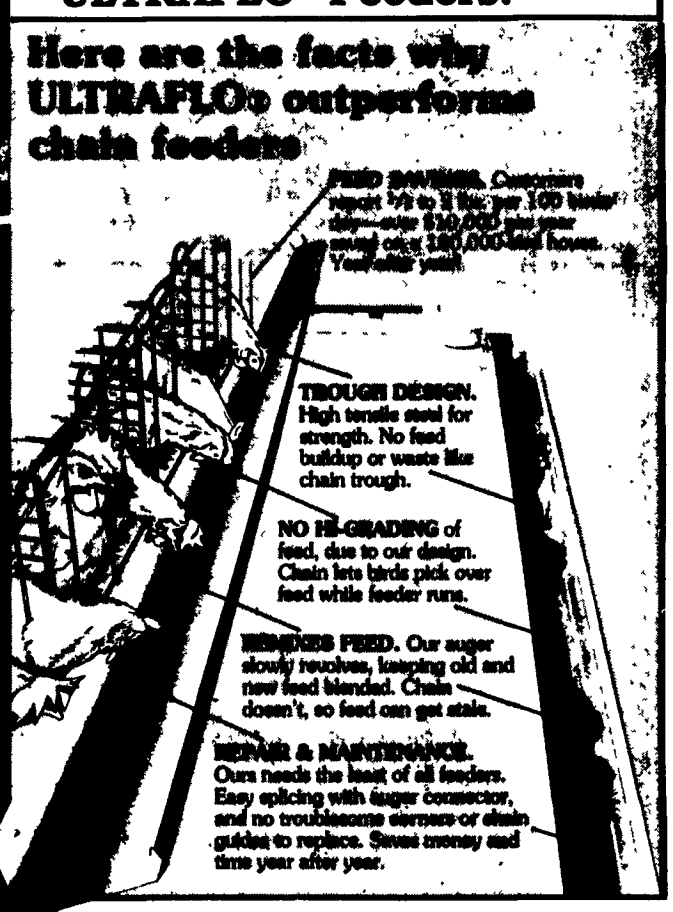
LANCASTER HOST RESORT
LANCASTER, PA

More Than 230 Ultraflo® Systems Have Been Sold In The Northeast Since 1985 - That's Over 16 Million Birds!

Over 80% of the nation's top egg producers have already switched to Chore-Time cages with ULTRAFLO® Feeders!*



Here are the facts why ULTRAFLO® outperforms chain feeders
TROUGH DESIGN. High tensile steel for strength. No feed buildup or waste like chain trough.
NO RE-GRADING of feed, due to our design. Chain lets birds pick over feed while feeder runs.
MIXES FEED. Our auger slowly revolves, keeping old and new feed blended. Chain doesn't, so feed can get stale.
REPAIR & MAINTENANCE. Ours needs the least of all feeders. Easy splicing with auger connector, and no troublesome corners or chain guides to replace. Saves money and time year after year.

SIMPLE OPERATION. "Push-Pull" Power Units with low HP motor are located along the feeder line as needed. Have hardened steel gears for trouble-free life. Microprocessor control lets you program feeding time to the second.

EASY AUGER CONNECTOR. Allows fast and simple installation, also quick and easy repair of auger if ever necessary. Auger and trough are both warranted 5 full years. Chain feeders are not.

Egg producers have been putting up with obsolete chain feeders far too long. Now there's a better way: Chore-Time's proven ULTRAFLO Cage Feeding System. Since introduction, more than 80% of the top 54 egg producers* have gone to ULTRAFLO. A lot of smaller ones have too.

They've all looked at the advantages and chosen ULTRAFLO. That's because it makes them more profitable. Total egg production and egg size—these are the best benefits of our complete feeding system.

Why not check out the facts for yourself? Contact us now—or ask any producer who owns ULTRAFLO.

Because the only negative comments about our feeding system come from our competition—not from our customers.

Dealer Meets With Lawmakers

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Marty Campfield of Gro-Mor Plant Food Co. in Leola, Pa. recently met with federal lawmakers here during a national meeting of fertilizer and agricultural chemical retail dealers.

Campfield was among 300 dealers who attended the Agri-Dealer Legislative Conference. Delegates to the conference met with dealers from 40 other states and visited with their legislators concerning issues important to the fertilizer and agricultural chemical industry.

The theme for this year's conference was "Growing Impact," and among the issues the dealers discussed with their legislators were food safety, reauthorization of the Clean Water Act, and federal taxation of fertilizer production and use. In addition to the BTU tax being considered in Congress, retail fertilizer and ag chemical dealers are also deeply concerned with fertilizer use taxes being proposed by Congressman Gerry Studds (D-MA). If enacted, this tax would transfer money from rural to urban areas for construction of city sewer and water treatment plants.

Agricultural Retailers Association President Paul Kindinger said, "Retailers who have taken time away from their businesses to attend this year's conference have made agriculture's voice heard in the nation's capitol."

"Record attendance at this year's conference shows just how concerned dealers are.

Green Tobacco Sickness

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Workers engaged in the harvest of tobacco may be risking the development of green tobacco sickness (GTS), according to the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH).

A 1992 study of a five-county area in Kentucky found that 47 tobacco workers sought emergency medical attention because of GTS.

The illness is caused by the absorption of nicotine from the surface of wet tobacco through the skin. Workers whose clothing becomes saturated from wet tobacco because of rain or dew are at a high risk for the development of the illness, according to the study.

Jackie Scott, a tobacco farmer from Kentucky who was hospitalized by the sickness, said that "nothing has ever made me sicker than working in wet tobacco. It can make you feel like you're going to die."

Symptoms of GTS include nausea, vomiting, dizziness, and severe weakness. It is often accompanied by fluctuations in blood pressure, headaches, and difficulty breathing.

After observing workers harvest tobacco, NIOSH industrial hygienists made the following recommendations to be followed by persons engaged in the harvest of tobacco:

- Avoid harvesting or working in wet tobacco.
- Protective clothing may reduce the risk. Wear chemical resistant gloves, plastic aprons, or rain suits to reduce the risk. However, this clothing may add to the risk of heat stress in hot weather.
- Workers who become ill while working with tobacco and who require medical attention should inform the doctors of the nicotine exposure to aid in the diagnosis.

NDB Hires Dairy Research Overseer

ARLINGTON, Va. — To guide and coordinate research programs at the six Dairy Foods Research Centers co-funded by the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, V. Edward Yaghoubian, Ph.D., joins the staff as director of dairy foods research.

Yaghoubian will oversee research programs at the Dairy Foods Research Centers so that researchers focus their studies on finding results that will help dairy farmers and that will be in line with the National Dairy Board's business priorities — fluid milk, cheese, new uses for milkfat, and building and protecting the image of dairy products.

The six centers are composed of the following institutions: Utah State, Oregon State, Brigham Young, California Polytechnic State, North Carolina State, Mississippi State, Cornell and South Dakota State Universities and the Universities of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Idaho, Vermont and California-Davis. The National Dairy Board began its commitment to the centers in 1987.

America's dairy farmers, through the National Dairy Board, fund research at the centers with matching funds from both the institutions composing the Dairy Foods Research Centers and local industry.

"I'm pleased to have Ed on staff to see that Dairy Foods Research Centers conduct research that can be used by the industry to help sell more milk as well as ensure research efforts between centers do not duplicate, but complement each other," said the National Dairy Board's Robert Busey, senior vice president of dairy foods and nutrition research.

Yaghoubian comes to the National Dairy Board after serving as a project leader in the ingredient and flavor technology department at the Nutrasweet Company in Mt. Prospect, Ill. Before that, he was assistant professor and program director, foods and nutrition at Marian College in Indianapolis, Ind. He has also worked at Universal Flavors Corporation, General Nutrition Corporation and Northwestern State University of Louisiana.

Yaghoubian has bachelor's degrees in food chemistry and human nutrition. He earned his master's and doctorate degrees in food science with a dairy science minor from Louisiana State University.

$500 Scholarship

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Winning a $500 scholarship is a great incentive for 4-H and FFA members to start sharpening their dairy management and cattle appraisal skills, nutrition and reproduction systems knowledge; and learning as much as they can about the dairy industry in the next four weeks.

The scholarship and other prizes will be awarded at the Pennsylvania All American Dairy Show's Junior Dairy Management Contest. It is a comprehensive competition sponsored by Church and Dwight Co. Arm and Hammer Ag Products, and Pfizer Inc. Animal Health Division.

All 4-H and FFA members are encouraged to participate in this contest which is to be held on Tuesday, Sept. 21, at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, as part of the All American Dairy Show. This out of classroom experience tests general knowledge and skills, focusing on 10 different dairy related categories which include: heifer judging, linear trait evaluation, and identification of red meat cuts, grains, forages, and dairy products.

"It is an excellent opportunity for these young people to put their experience and their classroom training to work. It is a challenging contest, but we see students returning a second year. They love the challenge," said contest chairman Walter Wurster, Chester County Extension.

"There are prizes for both team and individual winners. We are fortunate to have sponsors such as Pfizer Animal Health Division, and Church and Dwight Co., Inc. to assist with costs of the prizes and the $500 scholarship that the top individual will receive. In addition, this year, Milk Specialties Inc. has agreed to provide lunch for all the participants," noted Wurster.

Wurster stressed, "There are training kits and educational materials available for any group that wants assistance preparing for the competition. It is a great contest, and we want the participants to do well, it is a chance for them to learn a great deal about the entire dairy industry, not just the cattle appraisal side."

Lobbyists Head To Washington

DENVER, Colo. — More than 200 farmers and ranchers representing 22 states will participate in the 1993 National Farmers Union (NFU) legislative fly-in Sept. 12-15.

International trade, increasing farm incomes, and health care are the key issues this year's fly-in participants will discuss with members of Congress.

Participants will begin with a briefing on legislative issues on Sept. 12 and then spend Sept. 13-14 calling on U.S. senators and representatives on Capitol Hill. President Clinton, Hillary Rodham Clinton, U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Secretary Mike Epsy, and USDA Undersecretaries Gene Moos and Bob Nash have been invited to address the group.

"The fly-in is an effective tool for providing our senators, representatives, and administration officials with grassroots input from U.S. farmers and ranchers," said NFU President Leland Swenson.

"Up to this point, the agriculture sector has been represented primarily by agribusiness in the debate over the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA)," said Swenson. "Under its current provisions, NAFTA will be negative for most of production agriculture and I think our elected officials need to hear that side of the story from those affected."

Swenson said the group will highlight ailing family farm incomes, which averaged less than $6,000 in 1990, as well as health care reform during their Hill visits. "Fire sale commodity prices and climbing health care costs have left farm incomes in a dire situation," he said.

NFU has been a long-time supporter of health care reform, favoring a single-payer system. The Clinton administration and its health care reform task force has relied on NFU for input on reform in rural and underserved areas. The president's plan for health care reform is expected to be unveiled in late September.

Multiple Component Pricing

machines.

It will accomplish nothing to set up a mechanism to adjust price according to the NFMS level if the tests are not comparable.

If producers are to be paid based on the M-W price series, the testing procedures should be relatively uniform across different regions in order to gain better accuracy and repeatability in the test results.

The data for this summary shows that multiple component pricing as implemented in F.O. No.4 has strengths, but it also has some drawbacks.

As multiple component pricing becomes an issue in more and more federal orders, these drawbacks should be considered and, if possible, improvements made. This will result in a more equitable treatment of both producers and handlers across the country.

Filling Silos Can Be Dangerous

RONALD L. HOSTETLER

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Few farm operations are as dangerous as filling a silo, says a farm safety expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"This complex task combines raising heavy equipment and working in close quarters with powered machinery, extremely loud noise and deadly silo gases," says Dr. Dennis Murphy, professor of agricultural engineering. "It sounds like a potential disaster, but knowing how to handle these hazards will let you fill your silo safely."

Preparation for silo filling includes raising the unloader to the top of the structure. "Do this on a calm, dry day to reduce the risk of slips and falls," Murphy says. "Make sure all cables, wires, pulleys and connections are anchored and working properly before you start.

"One person at ground level should raise the unloader. Another person should watch from the blower pipe platform, signaling if problems arise. Never enter the silo while the unloader is being raised or try to crawl out onto it after it is suspended. An unloader can easily crush you if it falls."

Moving machine parts pose the greatest risk during silo filling. Both self-unloading forage wagons and silo blowers are operated by power takeoff (PTO) shafts that often aren't properly guarded.

"A PTO rotates at 9 or 16 times per second at full speed," Murphy says. "No one can react fast enough to pull away once caught in the revolving shaft. Stepping over PTO shafts makes accidents much more likely. Walk around tractors and wagons instead."

Unloading wagons have a combination of moving aprons, beaters, conveyors or augers and an assortment of chains and sprockets. "Keep all protective machinery shields in place," Murphy says. "To prevent getting snagged, wear comfortable but close-fitting clothing and keep long hair tied up or under a hat."

Never enter a self-unloading wagon or reach into an unloading chute to speed the unloading rate while the machine is running. "If it gets clogged, disengage the PTO and stop the tractor," Murphy says. "PTO's can accidently slip into gear, so always stop the engine. Keep the unloading wagon's emergency shut-off device in good working condition. It could save your life."

As forage moves from the wagon into the silo blower hopper, it's carried by an auger or conveyor to the blower fan, which forces it into the silo. "Silo blower operators need to watch out for the PTO shaft, the exposed conveyor or auger and the blower fan blades," Murphy says.

Blower accidents are most likely when the machine plugs up. "If this happens, don't climb onto the hopper or try to force forage into the blower blades," Murphy says.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's this week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania. Remember these are averages so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Corn, No. 2y - 2.56 BU. 4.58 CWT.
Wheat, No. 2 - 2.93 BU. 4.89 CWT.

Alfalfa Hay - 100.00 TON 5.00 CWT.
Mixed Hay - 95.50 TON 4.78 CWT.
Timothy Hay - 98.25 TON 4.91 CWT.

How Does Your Herd Compare?

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — These data are calculated using information pulled from Pennsylvania DHIA's mainframe computer each week. It is a one-week summary representing approximately one-fourth of the herds on test, as they are tested monthly.

These data are valuable from a business management standpoint and can be used for comparing your operations to the averages from about 1,400 herds across the state.

Hess, Eopechino Earn National Dairy Board Scholarship

ARLINGTON, Va. — Jayne Hess, Gettysburg, Pa., and Aimee Eopechino, Hanover, Pa. were named recipients of National Dairy Promotion and Research Board Undergraduate Scholarships.

Hess and Eopechino were two of 20 college juniors and seniors from across the country to receive a $1,500 scholarship for the 1993-94 school year. Scholarships were awarded on the basis of a junior or senior undergraduate student's outstanding academic performance, dedication to the dairy industry and demonstrated leadership skills.

Hess, the daughter of John and Bonnie Hess, is a junior at Pennsylvania State majoring in ag science and minoring in dairy science and English.

Hess grew up on the family dairy farm, and consequently has a thorough understanding of the production side of the dairy industry. She is using that knowledge and understanding to write curriculum for the Pennsylvania 4-H dairy project as an independent study course at Penn State. The curriculum will be used by more than 2,900 4-H dairy club members.

With a good background in production, Hess has built her college experiences around the consumer and marketing side of the dairy industry. She got her first taste of dairy marketing and promotion as the 1991-92 Adams County dairy princess.

At Penn State, she is a member of the Dairy Science Club and the American Dairy Science Association (ADSA). Hess won first place for her undergraduate paper, "Current Trends in the Marketing and Consumption of Dairy Products," at the Northeastern Conference of ADSA.

Hess has been named to the Dean's List and the Penn State Agricultural College Honor Roll — the top 1 percent.

For earning a perfect 4.0 grade point average, she received the Penn State Presidential Award for Freshmen. She is also a member of the Penn State Coaly Honor ary Society and the Students for Responsible Use of Animals.

After college, Hess plans a career in dairy product marketing.

Eopechino, daughter of Al and Carm Eopechino, is a senior at Penn State majoring in food science. She discovered and confirmed her interest in the dairy industry after participating on the Penn State dairy product judging team. At a regional contest in Chicago, Eopechino placed fifth individual in the milk area. Since then, she has coached the Penn State team.

Using the knowledge and skills she learned in dairy product judging, Eopechino tested dairy products from Pennsylvania and the East Coast as a research assistant in the Penn State Milk Quality Testing Lab. She conducted quality studies, evaluating flavor, texture and more.

An internship in product development at Haagen-Dazs broadened Eopechino's experiences. She developed prototypes, worked in the pilot plant, met with suppliers and attended marketing meetings. As a result, she has decided to make consumer perceptions of specific attributes of ice cream the subject of research for her honors thesis, a requirement she must fulfill as part of the University Scholars Program.

With all of these experiences, Eopechino admits the highlight of her experiences has been learning how to show and fit cattle during the Penn State Dairy Expo.

Eopechino has received the Penn State Academic Excellence Award as well as the "Emerging Leader" Award from Penn State's Department of Agriculture and Extension Education. She is a member of Coaly Agricultural, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Sigma Iota and Golden Key Honor Societies. She has served as an officer of the Ag Student Council, Dairy Science and Food Science clubs, and is a member of the Institute of Food Technologists.

"The dairy farmers serving on the National Dairy Board believe these scholarships are a good investment for the dairy industry," said John Peachey.

"These young people will help create new and high quality dairy products the industry needs to remain competitive with the other foods consumers can choose to buy and eat."

Nominations Sought

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Nominations are being accepted for the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce George C. Delp Award.

This award is given annually to a Lancaster countian in recognition of significant contributions to the county's agricultural industry. The presentation of the award will be a highlight at the Nov. 23 Chamber Ag-Industry Banquet.

Named in honor of the first winner, George C. Delp, founder of the New Holland Machine Company (now Ford-New Holland), the award was first presented in 1989.

Subsequent winners have been retired county extension agent Max Smith; conservationist and farmer Amos Funk; and retired extension director Jay Irwin.

Any Lancaster countian dedicated to the improvement of the agricultural community is eligible for nomination. Nomination forms are available by calling the chamber at (717) 397-3531 and may be submitted by any interested individual. Deadline for the 1993 award is Oct. 1.

Financial Relief For Losses

LIONVILLE (Chester Co.) — Farmers in Chester/Delaware County may apply for financial relief from crop losses sustained as a result of hot and dry conditions during the 1993 growing season, announced Ms. Hollis D. Baker, county executive director of Chester/Delaware County ASCS Office.

Under legislation signed by President Clinton on August 12, appropriations have been made available for 1993 crop losses because of damaging weather and related conditions in 1993.

Eligible producers may apply for benefits on most crops through March 1994. To be eligible for payments, a producer must have sustained a 35-percent loss to a particular crop while carrying crop insurance; otherwise, a 40-percent loss is required for eligibility.

"While it may be too early in many cases to determine exact losses, producers should be prepared to provide the needed data," said Baker. To be prepared, they should contact the Chester/Delaware ASCS office for detailed information.

Producers will receive payment based on the difference between normal production on all crop acreage on a given farm and the 1993 actual production. The rate of payment is 65-percent of the target price (for participating program crops) or county loan rate (for non-participating program crops) established for the crop.

The 1993 program covers loses to quantity only. It is anticipated that quality losses will be added in a manner similar to the disaster programs covering the 1990, 1991, and 1992 crop years.

Payment for 1993 loses is for the full amount for which eligibility is established and is not subject to factoring to meet the budgetary ceiling.

Dairy Promoters Leverage Farmer Dollars

ARLINGTON, Va. — The National Dairy Board links up with UDIA for another fall cheese promotion. This year's promotion brings in other partners including the beef checkoff and the Continental Baking Company, makers of Wonder Bread, to stretch dairy farmer promotion dollars.

To bring in tie-in partners, this year's promotion takes a different slant from "Cheese Snack Facts," the promotion theme of the past few years. The theme "Cheese Sandwich Shoppe" will appear in dairy and deli cases to promote cheese and all the other foods that make great sandwiches.

The "Cheese Sandwich Shoppe" promotion will run mid-September through mid-November.

An insert with a coupon at the bottom will appear in Sunday newspapers across the country on Sept. 26, reaching over 42 million subscribers. With the coupon, if consumers buy two Wonder Bread products and any "REAL" cheese, they save $1 at checkout.

The promotion will include national TV advertising, local radio advertising, the newspaper insert and in-store displays featuring recipe cards, banners, posters and mobiles in the deli and dairy cases.

To entice grocers to extend the promotion in their stores, the promotion will offer in-and out-of-case display contests. This encourages grocery retailers to spruce up in-store displays or offer price incentives to consumers for cheese and sandwich fixings in their weekly specials.

Last year's UDIA/National Dairy Board fall cheese promotion resulted in sales of 4.5 percent or 12.3 million more pounds of cheese than expected. Expected sales were based on trends for the past three years.

The National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, consisting of 36 dairy farmers from across the U.S., develops and implements a coordinated effort of promotion,

Cyanamid, Shell Reach Agreement On Purchase

WAYNE, N.J. — American Cyanamid Company and The Shell Petroleum Company announced that an agreement in connection with the sale of Shell Companies' crop protection businesses to Cyanamid has been signed. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

Further arrangements will be pursued between the local Shell and Cyanamid companies and will be subject, where applicable, to necessary local company, government, and European Commission approvals.

The agreement involves all of Shell Companies' crop protection products, related intellectual property rights, and all marketing activities. It also includes part of Shell's manufacturing site at Paulinia, Brazil; the biosciences research center at Schwabenheim, Germany; a major formulations facility in Genay, France; and certain formulation sites around the world.

A high priority issue is the future prospects for employees engaged in the crop protection businesses of Shell and Cyanamid.

"We are very pleased to have reached this important agreement with Shell," said William J. Murray, Cyanamid's group vice president of agricultural products. "Now we can finalize arrangements with Shell's operating companies.

"Once we conclude the necessary operating company agreements and receive governmental approvals, we plan to swiftly integrate the Shell crop protection business with our own," Murray said.

The acquisition would enable Cyanamid to realize substantial synergies in its strategically important crop protection business. It will also gain a presence in the foliar insecticide and fungicide markets, an enhanced global infrastructure, and a promising research pipeline to complement its own.

Vacuum System Boasts Reliability

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The new LVP vacuum supplier system from Alfa Laval Agri is designed for dairy operators who demand the utmost in reliability — especially those with operations with long run-times — without sacrificing efficiency. In addition, it requires significantly less maintenance than other supplier types.

The LVP supplier can handle long run-times without sacrificing performance. Also, the LVP supplier uses no water and requires only minimal lubrication which considerably lowers operating costs and reduces maintenance. An occasional oil change for the timing gearbox and scheduled lubrication of the staff bearings through two grease fittings is all that's necessary.

Each LVP vacuum supplier system comes complete with a welded steel frame, two four-inch PVC inlets, an integral balance/distribution tank with filter screen to trap damaging particles, a prewired motor starter with a start-delay timer to protect your other milking system components from voltage spikes when several motors start simultaneously, exhaust and inlet silencers and high-efficiency totally enclosed, fan-cooled motors for longer service life.

Family Wrestles with Genetic Illnesses, Supports Benefit

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

RONKS (Lancaster Co.) — The sounds of children's laughter, computer beeps, and cheers permeate the home of Ralph and Barbara Atkinsen.

It's a sound expected to be heard in any home with children. What isn't expected are the wheelchairs, the feeding tubes, the walker, and even the dolls who wear casts and are equipped with feeding tubes in their stomachs.

These serve as grim reminders that the lives of nine-year-old Timmy and his five-year-old sister Sarah are quite different than those of most children.

Over the years, a myriad of blood tests, MRI's, spinal taps, muscle probes, nerve biopsies, and EKG's have failed to reveal any cause for Timmy's and Sarah's progressive neurological disorder.

Knowing the pain of watching their children suffer inspires the Atkinsens to help others.

"Whatever we can do to keep this from happening to other children, we want to do," Ralph said.

For this reason the Atkinsens are part of a team of parents who are planning the third benefit auction to support The Clinic for Special Children.

The clinic is a non profit medical, research and diagnostic service for children with inheritec disorders.

The clinic was started as a result of Dr. Holmes Morton, who diagnosed a genetic disorder, glutaric aciduria, that appears primarily within Mennonite and Amish circles.

Since then he has identified Maple Syrup Urine Disease and about 30 other genetic diseases or syndromes that may leave a child severely brain damaged if not detected in time.

Morton discovered that a simple urine test can identify infants who are at risk and through a controlled diet, brain damage, which happens within a matter of hours, can be averted.

Morton's work has been so successful that the Amish and Mennonite community have rallied to support his work by building a clinic in Strasburg in 1991, and by holding an annual benefit sale to raise funds that enable the clinic's expenses tc be kept at a minimum.

These savings are passed on to the clients.

Caroline Morton, the doctor's wife, said that clients only pay about one-tenth the amount that the same services would cost in Philadelphia or New York.

She said that in the past two years, 10 infants have been diagnosed with Maple Syrup Disease; seven of the 10 were diagnosed and treated at the clinic, with an average cost of $500 to $1,500 each. Compare this with the three infants diagnosed at a major medical center with a combined cost of $200,000.

The Atkinsen family are delighted with their move from New Jersey to Ronks where, for the first time in their lives, they have been able to raise a garden and meet other families with children who have neurological disorders. Ralph and Barbara with children Timmy and Sarah.

Timmy and Sarah spend hours playing computer games together. Timmy, now too weak to push buttons, is still able to operate the mouse while Sarah pushes the buttons.

The clinic had not been in operation when Timmy began having problems. The Atkinsens consulted with children's hospitals in many cities and were assured that although Timmy's disorder was not diagnosed, it was not hereditary. That diagnosis proved wrong when Sarah was born.

The parents watched as their seemingly healthy infants learned to sit, crawl, and walk and then regressed to the point where Timmy no longer has the muscle tone to hold up his head without support or even swallow his food. They watch helplessly as Sarah, so full of energy and spunk, finds it increasingly difficult to run and must resort to a wheelchair more and more each day.

While the children's mobility decreases, their intelligence continues to progress. Although Timmy's vocal chords have restricted his conversation, he easily comprehends conversations of those around him. His eyes remain alert and expressive and he has perfect vision.

Sarah is the verbal one. She tests above grade level in mental abilities, but her parents foresee signs of physical deteriotion in her body — the same that preceded those of her brother before his speech became garbled.

"It's been a roller coaster existence for us," Ralph said.

At first, Timmy was diagnosed as having cerebral palsy, but later that was ruled out. At one point, Timmy was suspected of having dystonia, which could have been halted by enzyme treatment.

The Atkinsens were estactic when they talked with a family whose son had identical symptoms and who within a few weeks of treatment progressed to almost normal muscular ability.

But tests determined that Timmy's disease was not the same and that the enzyme treatment would be useless.

After contacting many research hospitals and enduring painful tests for Timmy, the Atkinsens found that they were no closer to a diagnosis or, more importantly, to a cure than before.

"I said, 'This is enough. We will accept it (the debilitating effects of the disease). No more trying to change it. No more putting Timmy through the cruel pain of spinal taps and blood tests,'" Barbara said. "They can take blood out of me, but not out of my son."

The couple focused on acceptance, on enjoying the moments, however limited, with their children.

At that time, the family lived in New Jersey. They needed to move because their home was not wheelchair accessible. Because they often vacationed in Lancaster County, the Atkinsens decided that the purer county air would be a better environment in which to live. When they purchased a home in Ronks, the Atkinsens were delighted to find other parents with whom they can empathize and it was here that they learned about Morton and the work he is doing for children with genetic diseases.

Both Timmy and Sarah were tested at the clinic, but Morton was unable to identify the disease. That does not deter the Atkinsens from being supportive of his work.

"Dr. Morton has the superb ability to sort out facts and come up with solutions," Ralph said.

It's an attribute echoed again and again by parents of the clients that the doctor sees.

Ralph said, "I consider it a privilege to raise funds to help other families. We are grateful that something is being done to keep children from suffering needlessly. Morton continues to search for clues that the Atkinsens hope will someday bring a cure.

The money raised at the auction does not go to Dr. Morton, but for equipment and upkeep.

The Atkinsens do not know what the future holds for their children. The children may outgrow the disorder or the results of the disease may level off or their life span may be shortened. Each time one of the children lose a skill that they once had attained, Barbara admits that she goes through a mourning period.

"I had a stomachache for months

(Turn to Page B3)

Ralph, who designs computer software for insurance companies, finds pleasure in inventing things that make life for his children as normal as possible. He built a special hitch so that Timmy can used his electric wheelchair to pull Sarah in her express wagon.

Homestead Notes

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

They're here! They're here!

The first Christmas catalogs!

Oh, gimme' a break, you say?

Right. My sentiments exactly.

(Maybe that's justice for us daydreamers who think images of snow and skiing while we sweat over kettles of canning tomatoes).

That first Christmas-tree-on-the-cover catalog turned up in the mailbox last week in the same fistful of mail bearing a holiday crafts advertising flyer. In fact, they arrived on one of those days so sticky and humid I had to practically pry the two pieces apart.

They arrived after I'd lugged in yet some more tomatoes — I'm grateful! I'm grateful! — snugly stored away the last of the jars of newly-canned peaches on the shelves, and debated if the next batch of lima beans had filled out enough yet to justify picking them.

Excuse me, mail order marketers, but that just isn't the right atmosphere.

Nevertheless, folks, the reality is that we have just over 100 shopping days left until Christmas. Better hustle, huh?

A few years ago, I astounded myself and a couple close friends after confiding my purchase of Christmas cards while shopping for cattle show needs during York Fair week. And, yes, I do have one holiday gift already stashed, a toy for our 21-year-old. Now, Rich, you can ponder for the next three months what it is.

If all this holiday talk has stirred you to start planning ahead better than I do, shopping wise, here are a couple of interesting possibilities from Miles Kimball's Holiday Preivew catalog.

A Santa shower curtain may be just what you need — and Santa might appreciate one when it's time to wash off all that chimney soot. What you'd better think twice about putting out before his arrival is a door mat that says, "Oh no, not you again" or another proclaiming "Welcome to the zoo."

How about a roll of clear plastic wrap decorated with holiday symbols, for those food gifts we all like to share? After baking is done, you might want to relax and play games with a deck of playing cards featuring reindeer, snowmen and elves in place of the usual hearts, diamonds, etc. Keep score with a handy, battery-operated ball-point pen.

For more personal gifts, there's always jewelry. Like a necklace designed like a string of Christmas tree lights — which don't light. But one with a single large blinking bulb does, as do the matching earrings. Batteries included. Or lipstick in shades of yellow, orange, and two shades of blue.

Since watches make wonderful gifts; may we suggest the one with a tiny toy train running around the outside of the tiny tree in the center. Honest.

Not to forget man's best friend, for whom you can buy a doggie bowtie, in festive holiday plaid. Or a Christmasy-print doggie bandanna.

If your holiday decorations include miniature items, there are adorable little bales of straw for that country effect. Two sizes, $2.98 for three-inchers and $3.98 for six-inchers. For do-it-yourselfers, most any farmer would probably sell for half that enough straw to "bale" your own mini-bale.

My casual flipping through the catalog turned serious, however, when I turned to a page featuring "cow" items. Several we already have, like the cow tree garland and mugs with cow handles, gifts from friends. But there's a cow gift wrap, and cow stickers, and cow address labels, and... excuse me.

Milk Program Sponsors Nittany Lion's Sports Network

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — For an eighth consecutive year, the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program on behalf of the state's dairy farmers will be the official milk sponsor of the Penn State Sports Network. Throughout the fall and winter of the coming year, milk, cheese and other dairy products will be featured during Penn State broadcasts.

"We advertise with Penn State because this network is a good buy when you compare the amount of dollars spent and the number of people reached," says Pennsylvania Dairy board member Richard Shellenberger.

The Penn State network is home to 64 stations, which cover nearly all Pennsylvania counties, reaching 10 million consumers.

As a board member, Shellenberger, the manager of Kreider Dairy in Manheim, recognizes the need for a good promotion program. "I believe it is a real plus for Pennsylvania Dairy to be associated with Penn State sports," says Shellenberger. "Because Penn State is part of what Pennsylvania is all about."

This season marks a big change for Penn State fans. With a move into the Big Ten Conference, new teams will be appearing at the University Park Campus. Newcomers to the schedule include big powers Michigan, Ohio State, and Indiana, along with Michigan State and Minnesota (the season opener).

Two eastern teams remain on the Penn State schedule — Rutgers and Maryland. This will be the last game in Penn State's series with Maryland and thus the last " Dairy Gridiron Classic" event. The "Classic" features the "Milk Can Trophy" given to the winning team along with a $1,000 dairy and food science scholarship.

Fans should consult their local radio schedule and tune into the first Big Ten season of Penn State sports.

Family Wrestles with Genetic Illnesses

after we purchased the first wheelchair and again when a feeding tube was inserted in Timmy.

"But you got to let go and come to grips with the problem, " she said.

The Atkinsens credit the people of their community and their church, Paradise Mennonite, as being extremely supportive.

"Society has scales, always judging, comparing .... We realize that God's scales are not the same as ours. God created our children for a special purpose. It is not an accident. God knew. If God didn't have a reason for our children being in a wheelchair, they wouldn't be there," she said.

The benefit auction, to be held at Leola Produce Auction, Brethren Church Rd., Leola, begins at 9 a.m. on September 18.

From Lancaster, Rt. 23 east, turn left (north) on Brethren Church Road (between Leola and Bareville). For more information, call (717) 354-5415 or (717) 656-9694 or (717) 733-2645 or (717) 626-4863 or (717) 687-0258.

All items for the Benefit Auction are donated. Included are quilts, wall hangings, Winross Trucks, toys and collectibles, crafts, lawn furniture, farm supplies, tools, hardware, and plenty of food. For an itemized listing, see the sale bill in this issue.

Where Do The Dollars Go?

To give your children first hand experience, let them take part in the money management process of the family. As they become old enough to understand, explain about income and outgo, emphasize the role of long-term financial planning in your family. For example, let them take part in the decision-making process by discussing purchasing school clothes, lunch and snacks' costs and social events. Don't forget that money is an everyday part of your children's lives, too. From an early age, they have items to buy and reasons to save. You can use an allowance as a tool for learning the fundamentals of managing money.

The amounts of the allowances and how they are used will vary greatly among children, especially for those of different ages. A child between the ages of 5 and 9 may receive a relatively small allowance which is spent almost entirely on little items the child wants. A teenager may receive a significantly higher amount. Through receiving and managing an allowance, a child can also learn the fundamentals of saving. If one of your older children is eyeing a relatively expensive item, encourage him or her to set reachable saving goals. This also may be a time for your child to learn banking skills. Remember, an allowance is only one of the tools used in the whole process for guiding your children as they acquire attitudes about and knowledge of money.

TAKING TIME

by Rebecca Escott

Extension Home Economist

By Presidential Proclamation, tomorrow is National Grandparents' Day. "Happy grandparenting" to those of you who are grandparents.

It seems in recent decades, the grandparent's role has changed as dramatically as the roles of mother and father, husband and wife. Today's grandmothers, according to Dr. Elaine Ashcroft of Utah State University, may be actively involved in careers and community responsibilities. This may be a switch from earlier days when every grandmother was pictured at home, happily baking treats or sewing gifts for their extended family.

But having a job and being somewhat less accessible is only one new trend in grandparenting. According to the U.S. Census, in the last decade, the number of children living with their grandparents has increased by almost 40% to 3.2 million. Out of necessity or convenience, 4% of white family households and 12% of African-American household describe themselves in this situation. Millions more children spend significant amounts of time under a grandparent's direct care.

When a grandparent is thrust into a primary caregiving role, new questions and issues surface. Many older adults feel uncomfortable in this position. They may be unfamiliar with new pediatric medicines and child products. The line regarding discipline and other decisions involving the children may be fuzzy. Sometimes the older adult is unsure if this is a permanent of temporary situation.

If you are involved in this kind of situation, it is crucial that all the adults involved sit down and communicate. Nationally, there are at least 150 support groups for grandparents who are "parenting" their grandchildren. These groups and their members can encourage an older adult facing these new family challenges. "Grandparents as Parents (GAP)," "Grandparents Raising Grandchildren," and "Second Time Grandparents" and three such organizations.

Even if you as a grandparent are not in a primary caregiving role, tensioins between you and your children regarding the grandchildren may exist. It is important to establish an early pattern of communication. In most cases, a grandparent should not assume primary responsibility of a child. This means, she normally should defer to the parents' style of discipline and daily routines.

But in all cases, it is healthy to ask questions, to listen carefully, and to move slowly. A confident grandmother may naturally and swiftly take action that rightfully should be carried out by her children.

On the opposite side, parents sometimes "dump" children on grandparents without thoughtful consideration. These situations will not correct themselves. Honest communication by both parties and some careful evaluation of the situation can bring improvements. Say clearly what you can and cannot do - what you wish to do or not do.

As a grandparent, you have choices. You can choose to babysit four days in a row or ten days this month. You can choose to make your grandchild's Halloween costume. You can choose to ride in a car for three hours to attend a sports event. Or you can say "No."

Dr. Glen Jenson, Utah State University, suggests grandparents can maximize their role in a variety ov ways including: being a confidant and companion to grandchilren, being a disseminator of special skills, being a special model of how to adjust to change, and, of course, sharing the family histories, traditions and culture.

Beans In the 'Lima Light'

Beans are one of the oldest foods known to humanity. Throughout the centuries, beans have played an important role in the survival and history of cultures around the world. Americans are rediscovering the tremendous nutritional benefits of beans. With the many varieties of beans available, you will discover that what's good for you can also taste great.

Beans are recognized as a near-perfect food by the American Heart Association, the American Cancer Society, and the American Diabetes Association. Beans are high in protein, complex carbohydrates, and dietary fiber, are low in fat and sodium, contain no cholesterol and are rich in vitamins and minerals.

Studies show that beans can help reduce the risk of certain types of cancer and heart disease, and reduce cholesterol levels.

Many varieties of beans can be easily substituted for another type in most recipes.

Packaged or canned, beans are an excellent value for the budget minded cook.

ZESTY MICRO-BAKED BEANS

16-ounce can baked beans, undrained

15.5-ounce can kidney beans, drained

½ cup prepared thick and chunky salsa

¼ cup finely chopped onion

1 teaspoon prepared mustard

In 1½-quart microwave-safe casserole, combine all ingredients, mix well. Cover with microwave-safe waxed paper. Microwave on high for 7-9½ minutes or until onion is tender and flavors are blended, stirring twice during cooking.

Take your favorite chicken and dumplings over the border for a delicious Tex-Mex feast — Southwestern Chili with Dumplings.

Bean Basics

Buying Dry Packaged Beans

• The best places to buy dry packaged beans are grocery stores, health food stores or shops with a large ethnic trade, since beans are a key ingredient in most ethnic cuisines.

Preparing Dry Packaged Beans

• To soak or not to soak is a common question when it comes to cooking dry packaged beans. The answer — definitely soak before cooking for two reasons: 1) to soften and return moisture to the beans, which reduces the cooking time; and 2) to allow some of the gas-causing substances to dissolve in the soak water, which makes the beans easier to digest.

• For every pound (2 cups) of beans, any variety, add 10 cups of hot water. Remember most beans will rehydrate to triple their dry size, so be sure to start with a large enough pot.

• Heat to boiling, let boil 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from heat, cover and set aside for at least one hour (Quick Soak Method), but preferably four hours or more.

• The longer the soaking time, the greater the amount of gas-causing properties to dissolve in the water, thus helping to improve digestion of beans.

• Whether you soak the beans for an hour or several hours, remember to discard the soak water.

Bean Counting

• Most dry packaged beans triple in volume when soaked or cooked. Following is an easy reference for measuring: * 1 lb. dry packaged beans = 2 cups dry = 6 cups cooked. * 1 cup dry packaged beans = 3 cups cooked.

Cooking Beans

• Cooking dry packaged beans on the stove-top is one of the fastest methods. In general, dry packaged beans take 30 minutes to 2 hours to cook. Most recipes will tell you approximately how long it takes.

• For simple boiled beans, place the soaked, rinsed and drained beans in a large saucepan with fresh hot water. Water level should come to about one inch above the beans.

• For each pound (2 cups) of dry packaged beans, a tablespoon of cooking oil may be added to reduce foaming and boil-overs; olive oil, butter or margarine also can be used for more distinctive flavors. If the water should foam, skim it off once or twice.

• Boil beans for 10 minutes, then simmer until tender (approximately 1-2 hours, depending on the variety).

• Add seasonings such as garlic, onion, oregano, parsley or thyme, during the cooking time, if desired.

• Never add anything acidic, such as tomatoes, vinegar, wine or citrus juices, while the beans are cooking. Add acidic ingredients only after the beans are almost tender.

• To test for doneness, bite-taste a few beans. They should be tender, but not mushy.

• When cooling, keep the beans in their cooking liquid to prevent them from drying out.

• When reheating beans, add a tablespoon or two of water.

Storage of Beans

• When cooking dry packaged beans, it is convenient to cook more than needed for immediate use. The extra cooked beans are very easy to store.

• In packaged in moisture- and vapor-proof containers, beans may be kept in the freezer for up to 6 months.

• Bean recipes taste even better the second time around! Bean dishes may be kept about 4 or 5 days when refrigerated.

BEAN PIE

3 16-ounce can of any colored bean, drained and mashed

3 large eggs

¼ cup melted unsalted butter

1 tablespoon cornstarch

1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

1 teapoon ground ginger

½ teaspoon ground cloves

1 tablespoon fresh lemon or orange juice

1 cup evaporated milk

1 cup brown sugar

1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell

Preheat oven to 450 degrees.

Combine all ingredients except shell. Stir to blend. When well combined, pour into pie shell. Place in preheated oven and bake for 15 minutes. Lower heat to 350 degrees and bake for an additional 30 minutes or until center is set. When serving, add a dollop of freshly whipped cream to each slice. Makes 9-inch pie.

HEART HEALTHY BLACK BEAN AND RICE SALAD

Rice for salad

2 14-ounce cans low sodium chicken broth

½ teaspoon salt

1 garlic clove, minced

1 bay leaf, crushed

2 teaspoons chili powder

2 teaspoons cumin

2 teaspoons thyme

2 cups white rice, uncooked

Combine all the above ingredients in a small baking dish, cover, and bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes, until rice is cooked, but still moist.

Salad:

2 15-ounce cans black beans, drained and rinsed

1 small red pepper, diced

1 jalapeno pepper, seeded and diced

1 ounce fresh cilantro, chopped

1 teaspoon prepared mustard

1 tablespoon red wine vinegar

2 tablespoons olive oil

2 teaspoons chili powder

2 teaspoons hot pepper sauce

1 garlic clove, minced

1 teaspoon ground black pepper

1 teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients in a medium bowl. Mix with rice. Chill and serve. Serves 8.

To eliminate lengthy soaking and cooking time, substitute canned beans for dry beans. One pound dry beans equals 3 pounds canned beans.

2 cups cut-up cooked chicken

1 cup water

15-ounce can tomato sauce

1¼ ounces chili seasoning mix

15-ounce can black beans, undrained

8-ounces kidney beans, undrained

Dumplings

½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Mix chicken, water, tomato sauce and seasoning mix in 4-quart Dutch oven. Heat to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in remaining ingredients except dumplings and cheese.

Prepare dumplings. Heat chili to boiling; reduce heat to low. Drop dough by 12 spoonfuls onto hot chili. Cook uncovered 10 minutes. Cover and cook 10 minutes longer. Sprinkle with cheese. Cover and cook about 3 minutes or until cheese is melted. 6 servings.

Dumpling Dough: Mix 1½ cups Bisquick baking mix, ½ cup cornmeal, and ⅔ cup milk until soft dough forms.

RED BEANS AND RICE

2 16-ounce cans of kidney beans, drained

3 tablespoons vegetable oil

1½ cups chopped onion

1 cup chopped green bell pepper

1 cup chopped celery

2 tablespoons minced garlic

1 cup peeled, cored, seeded, and chopped tomatoes

1 teaspoon dried oregano

½ teaspoon dried thyme

3 bay leaves

1 teaspoon paprika

½ teaspoon cayenne

½ teaspoon ground cimin

¼ cup vinegar

1 teaspoon Tabasco

Red pepper flakes, to taste

Salt and pepper, to taste

1½ cups long grain rice

Heat oil in heavy saute pan over medium heat. When hot, add onion, bell pepper, celery, and garlic and saute for 3 minutes or until vegetables begin to soften. Stir in tomatoes, herbs, spices, and vinegar. Cook for about 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Scrape into beans. Add tabasco, red pepper flakes, and salt and pepper. Place beans over medium heat and cook for 10 minutes or until heated through.

Cook rice as directed on package or by your usual method. When cooked, place in a deep serving bowl and pour beans over top. Pass additional Tabasco and white vinegar, if desired.

Archer Reigns As Maryland Farm Bureau Queen

TIMONIUM, MD. — Kristin Archer, Harford County Farm Bureau Queen, represents Maryland Farm Bureau as their Queen for 1993. The contest took place at the Cow Palace of the Maryland State Fair Sunday night. Kristin was chosen from participants representing 23 Maryland counties. She accepted her crown from 1992 queen, Dawn Downey.

Archer lives with her parents on a dairy and grain farm near Pylesville. Her farm responsibilities include milking, feeding and field work. She has been active in 4-H for the past nine years, showing her Holstein dairy animals, and entering projects in foods, nutrition, woodworking, and child care. Participation in public speaking, dairy bowl and dairy judging contests won her awards during the past several years.

Kristin has gained experience for her role as queen from her reign as 1992-93 Baltimore/Harford Dairy Princess. She enjoyed promotional demonstrations in schools, at fairs and to the media.

Archer excels in field hockey and lacrosse, winning grants for each sport at Harford Community College where she is a freshman. She plans a career in physical therapy.

Impromptu questions were drawn from a cardboard barn. She was asked to explain to a non-agriculture person the knowledge and skills needed and used on the farm daily.

"Come work with me on the farm," she quipped, "it's the greatest experience!"

The Maryland Farm Bureau and Maryland State Fair presented Kristin with a $3,000 scholarship and General Motors provided the use of a GMC Jimmy for ninety days.

The farm Bureau Queen's Court included first runner-up, Wendy Walmsley, Queen Annes County; second runner-up, Rebecca Ripley, St. Mary's County; third runner-up, Marie Speak, Carroll County; fourth runner up, Sara Morris, Kent County.

Judges for the contest were Kim Bower-Spence, associate editor of Pennsylvania Farmer; Patti Crow, chairman, West Virginia Farm Bureau Women's Committee; and Tim Bigham field advisor, New York Farm Bureau. Emcee for the evening was John Butler, field services director of Maryland Farm Bureau. Entertainment was furnished by David Stambler Quartet.

Each of the county queens gave a prepared speech about their farming background, 4-H, community and county history. A question was drawn for general farming knowledge and promotion. The queens met with judges prior to the evening contest for a formal interview and were scored on farm, home and community responsibilities, general appearance, speaking ability, personality and friendliness.

Contestants and the counties they represented are as follows: Sally Wasileski, Allegany; Brandi Schwinn, Anne Arundel; Laura Langlotz, Baltimore; Victoria Bradley, Calvert; Megan Wheatley, Caroline; Nicole Russell, Cecil; Ann Herbert, Charles; Betsy Spedden, Dorchester; Alexandra Brenning, Frederick; Sara Hutzel, Garrett; Angela Johnson, Howard; Lonette Luther, Montgomery; Tammie Wood, Prince Georges; April Porter, Somerset; Beverly Collier, Talbot; Rebecca Houser, Washington; Christy Geeslin, Wicomico; and Rebecca Carmean, Worcester.

QUESTION — N.A.K. of Lebanon would like a recipe for individual Pineapple Upside-Down Cakes made in muffin tins.

QUESTION — Sherry Willis, West Grove, would like a recipe for Cowboy Beans.

QUESTION — Judy Looney, New Castle, Va., would like a recipe for chocolate cake that has sauerkraut as an ingredient.

QUESTION — Joan Young, Lititz, would like a recipe for Seafood Salad made with tiny pasta shells.

QUESTION — Karen Yourga would like a pizza sauce recipe to can. Also, she thanks Ephraim Zook and Naomi Miller for the great canned strawberry recipes that they sent in.

QUESTION — Janice Rehmyer, York, requests a recipe for a crisp coating chicken recipe, baked or fried, that's healthy. Her request crossed in the mail with chicken coating recipes printed in the Sept. 4th issue. If anyone has a different recipe, please submit it.

ANSWER — Patricia Corkell, Henderson, Md., wanted a recipe for pickled garlic. Thanks to an anonymous reader who sent the following recipe from The Book of Garlic by Lloyd J. Harris.

Korean Pickled Garlic

1 quart unpeeled garlic cloves
1 cup vinegar
4 cups soy sauce
⅔ cup sugar

Place garlic in a jar, add the vinegar and enough water to cover the garlic. the cloves must be fully covered and not floating on the top. Close the jar and let stand for one week, drain. Boil the soy sauce and sugar for 10 minutes, set aside to cool. When cool, pour over the garlic and seal the jar. The garlic will be ready to eat in three weeks, and it will keep indefinitely. To serve, bite or cut the tips from the cloves, and suck out the meat. If skins are tender, you can eat the whole thing. The younger the garlic, the more tender the skins.

ANSWER — Elise Jones, Ottsville, requested a recipe for tomato gravy. Also, she asked if anyone had a suggestion to keep fried tomatoes from getting soggy in the skillet? Thanks to Gertrude Haas, Lenhartsville, who answered both questions. Gertrude said that green tomatoes must be used if you don't want fried tomatoes to be soggy.

Fried Tomato Gravy

Fry solid, ripe tomatoes either peeled or with skins on. Mix 3 tablespoons flour with salt, pepper, and 1 tablespoon sugar. Dredge tomatoes in the mixture and brown in skillet with melted bacon fat or butter. Tomatoes become mushy. Add 1 tablespoon flour to each cup of milk used to make gravy. Stir in and cook until thickened.

Gertrude's family likes to eat tomato gravy on toast and muffins.

ANSWER — Marie George, Churchville, wanted a recipe for peach or apple long cake made with raised dough and rolled very thin. I don't know if this is what she wanted, but here is a similar cake made with yeast.

Apple Coffee Cake

1 package yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
3¼ cups sifted flour
2 eggs
½ teaspoon vanilla, optional

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk and add sugar, salt, and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add 1 cup flour and beat well.

Add remaining flour to make a thick batter. Beat thoroughly until smooth. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 1 hour.

Stir down. Spread evenly in two greased 9-inch layer pans.

Combine the following ingredients:
8 medium apples
4 tablespoons butter, melted
½ cup butter
2 teaspoons cinnamon

Peel and slice apples. Arrange apple slices on top of batter, overlapping them in 2 circles.

Brush with melted butter. Mix sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over apples.

Let rise until doubled, about 45 minutes. Bake in 375 degree oven for 30 minutes.

Peaches may be substituted for apples.

ANSWER — Ruth Cantello, Somerset, N.J., and Julie Druck, York, requested salsa recipes. Louise Berndt, Oley, wanted one that had cilantro in it. Thanks to Karen Yourga, Kathleen Wolf, Elizabethtown, and others for sending recipes. Both Karen and Kathleen write that the more jalapeno peppers used the hotter the salsa; however, jalapeno tends to lose some of its "kick" through cooking. Kathy writes that Jalapeno peppers make a hotter and more flavorful salsa; Hungarian yellow waxes produce a mild salsa, which her children prefer.

SALSA

8 cups tomatoes, washed, peeled, cored, and chopped
2 cups chopped onions
1½ cups seeded, chopped jalapeno peppers
⅔ cup lemon juice
3 tablespoons chopped fresh cilantro
2½ teaspoons salt

In a 6-quart pan, combine all ingredients; bring to a boil. Reduce heat, boil gently uncovered for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Spoon into sterile hot jars, leaving 1½ -inch head room. Wipe jars clean. Seal. Process in hot bath for 15 minutes. Makes 5 to 6 pints.

Medium-Hot Salsa

24 cups quartered tomatoes
2 cups white vinegar
1 cup diced jalapeno peppers
1 cup diced sweet peppers
3 medium onions, diced
1 tablespoon salt

Wash and quarter tomatoes, removing blemishes and stems. Do no remove skins. Place tomatoes and vinegar in a large kettle. Cook, covered, about 30 minutes, stirring occasionally, until tomatoes are soft.

Remove tomatoes and process briefly in a blender or food processor. Return to kettle.

Add peppers and onions. Note: When dicing hot peppers, always wear rubber gloves and wash equipment carefully. Exposure to hot pepper oils will cause skin to redden and burn for several hours.

Cook over medium heat for about 3 hours, until thick. Stir occasionally, more frequently towards the end, to prevent scorching.

Add salt. Ladle into sterile pint jars. Seal. Process in water bath canner for 15 minutes. Makes 8 pints.

ANSWER — Brenda Kalwasinski wanted a recipe for Zucchini Jelly. Thanks to Sherry Ripple, Owings, Md., and Rhonda Guise, Biglerville, for sending recipes.

Zucchini Jam

6 cups grated, peeled zucchini
6 cups sugar
1 large can crushed pineapple
½ cup bottled lemon juice
6 ounces apricot or peach gelatin

Mix zucchini, sugar, pineapple, lemon juice in large pan. Bring to boil and cook until sugar is dissolved. Add gelatin and stir well. Put in pint jars and seal by cooking 10 minutes in water bath canner. Makes 4 pints.

Zucchini Marmalade

6 cups shredded zucchini
4½ cups sugar
20 ounce can crushed pineapple
½ cup lemon juice
2 3-ounce packages apricot or strawberry Jell-O

Combine zucchini with a small amount of water in a saucepan. Cook 6 minutes; drain well. Add sugar, pineapple, and lemon juice. Cook for 3 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in Jell-O until dissolved. Spoon into jars and seal. Yields 4 pints.

Beans

FOUR BEAN BAKE

½ pound ground beef
1 medium onion, diced
2 15-ounce cans whole tomatoes, juice included, chopped
16-ounce can dark red kidney beans
16-ounce can butter beans
16-ounce can great northern beans
16-ounce can baked pork and beans
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 tablespoons Grandma's molasses

Brown ground beef; and the remaining ingredients place in 3-quart dish. Place in oven at 350 degree for 1 hour, turn oven off and allow dish to remain in oven for 1 hour. Serves 16.

CHUCK WAGON BEAN POT

1 pound any variety of Western dry beans
1 ham hock or shank
1 large onion, chopped
6 cups water
1 teapoon salt
7-10 ounces green chili salsa or 8 ounce can of tomato sauce or 2 cups stewed tomatoes.

Sort and rinse beans. If using an electric cooker, put in all ingredients, cover, set temperature at low, and forget for at least 10 hours. If you have only a half day, cook the mixture 5 or more hours on high. For top of stove cooking, heat all ingredients to boiling with pot uncovered. Turn down heat, cover and simmer gently, adding enough boiling water to keep beans well covered. Most varieties with be done in 2 to 3 hours.

When beans are done, take out ham bone, cut off the meat, and put back into pot.

PLANTATION BLACKEYES

1 pound dry blackeyes
¼ pound bacon
1 cup chopped onions
2 cups canned whole tomatoes
1½ cups water
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¾ teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon rosemary
1½ cups grated cheddar cheese

Wash, sort, and soak blackeyes. Cut bacon into 1-inch pieces. Cook in Dutch oven or heavy pot until fat is rendered. Add onions and cook until tender. Add tomatoes with their liquid, breaking them up with a spoon. Add water, seasonings, and soaked, drained blackeyes. Simmer, covered until beans are just tender (about 30 minutes). Stir in cheese, pour mixture into a 3-quart rectangular casserole and bake uncovered 30-40 minutes at 375 degrees.

HOPPIN' JOHN

½ pound dry blackeyes
1 cup chopped onions
2 tablespoons olive oil
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon oregano
2 cups chicken stock
4 cups hot cooked rice

Wash, sort and soak blackeyes using any method on page 3. When beans are ready, cook onions in oil until transparent, using a heavy pot large enough to hold the blackeyes. Add seasonings and chicken stock. Add the drained, soaked beans to the chicken stock mixture. Cover and cook slowly until desired tenderness is reached (about 30 minutes). Tilt lid if necessary to prevent boilover. While blackeyes are cooking prepare rice according to directions on package. Keep both piping hot until served. For each person, serve ½ cup blackeyes and their liquid over ½ cup rice.

Put Variety In Packed Lunches

As you pack lunches for the back to school crowd, remember to keep on track with the recommendations from USDA's Food Guide Pyramid. Use a variety of foods from the major food groups. Watch lunch beverages and desserts. Fats and sugars quickly can add more calories than we need. Use only small amounts of high-fat foods, such as margarine, mayonnaise, and fatty meats. Include foods with dietary fiber, such as fruits and vegetables and whole grain breads. Choose low sodium foods, such as margarine, mayonnaise, and fatty meats. Include foods with dietary fiber, such as fruits and vegetables and whole grain breads. Choose low sodium foods, such as fruits, vegetables, and lean meats.

Although it is not essential to eat something from each food group for lunch, doing so helps you meet your daily nutritional needs. For an adequate diet, each day try to eat at least two servings of fruit, three servings of vegetables, six servings of breads and other grain products, two servings of lean meat, poultry, fish or alternatives, and two servings of milk, cheese, or yogurt.

If sandwiches are the mainstay of your bag lunches, add some variety by using the following breads: whole wheat, multi-grain, rye, pumpernickel, raisin, herb and onion. Try pita pockets, sub or kaiser roll, bagel, or English muffin. Many breads are now made with whole grains, but read the label carefully and don't purchase just dark bread.

For sandwich fillings try flaked cooked fish or water-packed tuna mixed with herb seasoned tomato sauce for a change, or mandarin oranges, sprouts, shredded cabbage and a little salad dressing. Chopped cooked lean meat or poultry mixed with shredded cabbage, minced onion, and plain low-fat yogurt, seasoned with pepper and dry mustard, or chopped vegetables seasoned with chili and dry mustard, with lowfat cottage cheese to moisten is different.

Do you know that lean roasted meats, poultry and fish generally contain less sodium than cured or processed meats, such as ham, bacon, frankfurters, or luncheon meats and deli sliced turkey breast or roast beef. Prepare your own and save money. Natural cheeses, such as Cheddar or Swiss generally contain less sodium than processed cheeses, such as American or cheese foods and spreads. Lowfat cheese and yogurt provide less sugar than flavored yogurt. Fresh fruit, frozen, unsweetened fruit, and fruit canned in fruit juice contain less sugar than canned in heavy syrup.

Keep calories, fat and sodium in mind when you choose condiments, spreads, and other foods that you add to sandwiches. Prevent soggy sandwiches by packing lettuce, tomatoes, alfalfa sprouts, and onions in a separate container and add them to your sandwich when you are ready to eat it.

Place chilled foods in an insulated lunch box rather than a paper bag. Freeze sandwiches to keep the rest of a lunch cold; they will thaw by lunchtime. Simple sandwiches freeze best - peanut butter, sliced meat or poultry, those that do not contain mayonnaise or salad dressing, or hard cooked eggs. Sandwich fillings with meat, poultry, fish or eggs, can spoil if they are stored at room temperature for longer than two hours. Use a vacuum bottle to keep foods cold or use an ice pack. For a hot lunch, use a wide mouth vacuum bottle to carry a variety of foods: soups, chili, baked beans, or a casserole.

Vegetables or vegetable juices
Enriched grains, pasta, or other whole grain products

Why Are These Kids Having Fun?

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

Can you imagine a country without a president? A marching band without a drum major? A ball team without a coach?

If that sounds crazy, well try to imagine your own summer youth fair without any leaders or volunteers!

It'd be pure chaos! The hay, vegetable, and corn entries would be eaten by the cows, and the sheep would want all the "Make It With Wool" entries back.

Just imagine what would happen! Goats in the cotton candy, pigs rooting through the ceramics, and rabbits everywhere!

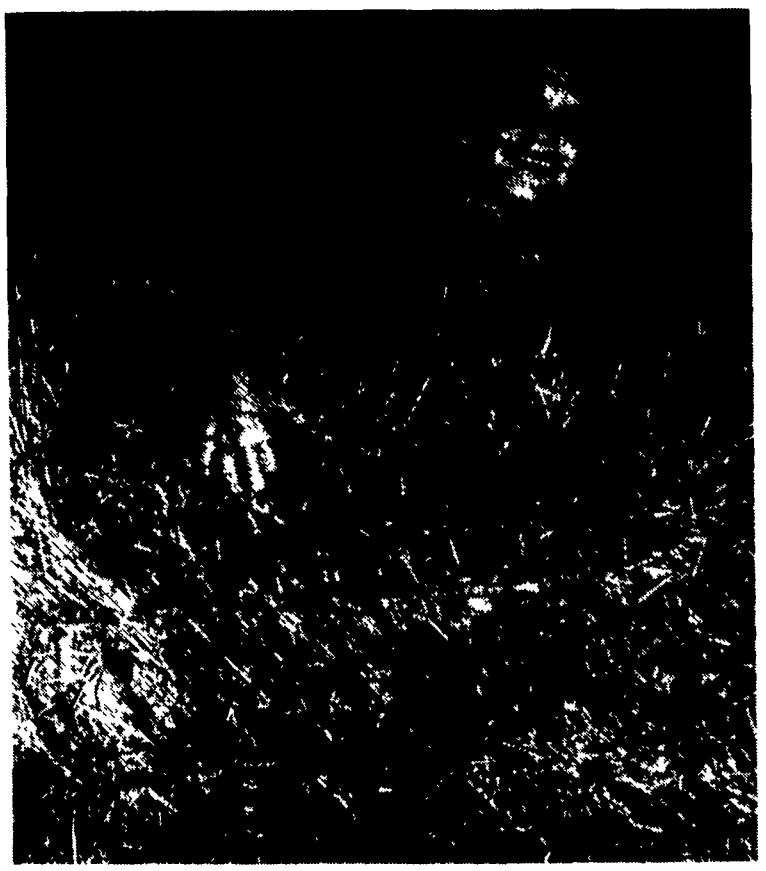
Thankfully those situations don't happen too often because an organized fair has leaders — special leaders who not only volunteer their time but do something else that's very important — shape future leaders.

If you're a 4-H'er or an FFA'er, you may not know it, but your leader is teaching you some very valuable life skills. Skills that will make a future leader out of YOU!

For example for the past four years, Helen Kirk, with help from her daughter Sharon White and husband Jamey White, has been sponsoring the Barnyard Olympics at the Mifflin County Youth

(Turn to Page B11)

A long line-up of kids and spectators watched as A.J. Miller tried his best tossing a waterlogged bale.



Occasional downpours made the Barnyard Olympics a muddier event than usual. Matthew Shank of Milroy discovered waterlogged hay for the hay-throwing contest.

Kids Having Fun?

Fair. They plan it. They organize it. They buy the supplies. They conduct the contests and announce the winners. It's an evening of fun built around agricultural commodities and farm life. Anyone can chug milk, throw a frying pan, or toss a hay bale or an egg at no cost (dollar-wise, that is).

I asked Helen why she sponsors the Barnyard Olympics and why she's been a 4-H leader for over 20 years.

"I knew if I wanted my kids to be involved, I should offer to help, and I've been here ever since. I got my kids to come in as leaders then."

Helen believes 4-H and FFA programs provide good environments and educations for kids — an environment with leaders who help shape future leaders.

Who knows! Our future leader could be YOU!

Take a look at these pictures and see kids having fun because of leaders who care.

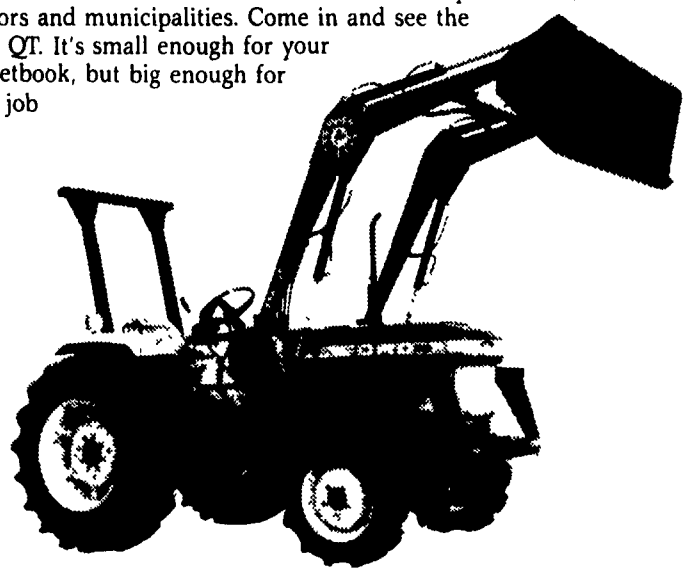
THE SMALLER-SIZED LOADER WITH A HEFTY LIFTING CAPACITY.

Bush Hog's 2240 QT Front End Loader gives you a hefty lifting capacity at an affordable price. It's recommended for 2 and 4-wheel drive tractors with 15 to 30 hp—yet it will lift 1000 pounds to a height of over 8-feet. Breakaway capacity is 1500 pounds and the 2240 QT will attach to over 60 tractor models 48 and 60-inch material buckets are available for use with the loader. It's an ideal choice for dozens of uses by nurseries, contractors and municipalities. Come in and see the 2240 QT. It's small enough for your pocketbook, but big enough for your job



WHY BUSH HOG SQUEALERS MOW DOWN THE COMPETITION.

There are two basic reasons and quality is the first. Each Squealer model is equipped with Bush Hog's tough, patented gearbox. All models except the 42 inch wide cutter feature oval blade pans, and the 60 and 72 inch wide models have an "in-line" shear bolt with ball bearing protection that can be replaced in a snap. An optional slip clutch is available.

The second reason for the Squealer's popularity is price. Select any of five models, 42 to 84-inches wide, and compare prices with the competition. With a true price and quality comparison, it's easy to see why Squealers mow down the competition.

Bear And Colyott Work Together To Harvest Food

BETH WHITMAN PITZER
Cumberland Co. Correspondent

WILLIAMS GROVE (Cumberland Co.) — Corn, strawberries, blueberries, green beans, cantaloupes, squash, and pumpkins were picked this summer and donated to the Central Pennsylvania Food Bank. Pat Colyott, a volunteer coordinator for the Pennsylvania Gleaners, was a key person who made this happen. Half the produce came from Benjamin Bear, a wholesale and enterprising produce farmer. Last year 41,000 pounds of produce were gleaned! Most of the produce stays in the Harrisburg Area, going to places like Bethesda Mission and local soup kitchens.

Gleaning, picking left-over produce from fields to give to low-income people, is something that appeals to men, women, and children of all ages. Many of the people who glean have traditionally come from church networks. Pennsylvania Gleaners, a non-profit organization, is looking for more people to glean and could use a truck to help haul some of the produce to food banks.

It takes both gleaners and farmers working together to help feed hungry people. Benjamin Bear shared his gleaning experience as a farmer. He thinks it is pretty easy and really doesn't have any concerns from his point of view. The gleaners arrive, pick and deliver the produce. He recommends it for farmers who have an abundance of crops. He finds that when there is a glut on the market, many farmers sell to an auction, where it rarely gets a good price. Gleaning is the answer he has found.

Benjamin Bear gave the impression of a farmer "on-the-edge" of current and upcoming farming trends. He and his wife, Denise, own Meadowbrooke Produce. They sell dried flowers and vegetables wholesale to Ashcombes, close to Route 15 in Mechanicsburg. They plant and harvest summer fruits and vegetables, as well as fall decorating items such as pumpkins and popcorn.

The first of April begins the busy season for the Bears when they begin with the flower crop. Quality is their trademark, so all of the flowers are harvested by hand. German Status, Celosia, Silver King, and Gomphrena, which looks like a clover blossom, are picked and dried.

Planting and harvesting quality produce and flowers requires a business operation with extra employees. This is Meadowbrooke Produce's fifth year as a business. They rely on a farm crew of about eight people, a flower harvesting crew of eight to ten people, and a berry harvesting crew of 30-60 people, depending on the season.

Quality is the Bear's trademark. Food that doesn't quite make the highest grade, but is still quality food, goes to gleaning.

Benjamin shared a little about his life as a farmer. "It's a hard, but good life." He likes being on the "front edge": having the freedom to take the business where he wants it to go. He's always looking for something new. Five to eight years ago, he got the idea of growing flowers, which has become a booming business. One of the latest ideas was growing and selling hard-shell gourds (that look like geese). The food business is always there. The entertainment or decorating business keeps becoming bigger, he said.

If you are interested in gleaning, call Pennsylvania Gleaners in Shippensburg at (717) 776-4230. If you are interested in donating produce to be gleaned, call the same number. Area gleaners try to find farms within an hour's drive of Shippensburg. If you are interested in learning more about gleaning from a farmer's perspective, call Benjamin Bear at (717) 790-9261.

Benjamin Bear, an enterprising wholesale farmer who sells to Ashcombes, checks for a full head of dark pink Celosia for fall dried flowers.

Deb Grimm of Dillsburg chooses corn at Ashcombes for an August meal. Thanks to efforts made by Pat Colyott, volunteer coordinator for the Pennsylvania Gleaners, and Benjamin Bear, farmer, many low-income families have enjoyed some of summer's harvest. It takes both farmers and gleaners to work together and donate corn to the Central Pennsylvania Food Bank.

New Cookbook Features 'Best Of Pennsylvania'

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

BRANDON, MS — The cookbook so many have been waiting for is out. "Best of the Best From Pennsylvania" includes recipes from some of the best cookbooks in the state.

Included are some recipes from some of the cookbooks formerly featured in this newspaper. These are "From Mother's Cupboard," "Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania," "Best of the Pumpkin Recipes Cookbook," "Dinner Bell," "Family Favorites," and "The Pennsylvania State Grange Cookbook."

The authors of the "Best of the Best From Pennsylvania, Gwen McKee and Barbara Moseley, spent more than two years researching, developing, testing, editing, and evaluating the cookbooks. The authors traveled to all corners of the state to study its cruisine while getting to know the people, sampling their wares, taking notes, taking pictures, and getting the overall "feel" for the state and the foods its people enjoy.

The result is a collection of 400 recipes selected from 74 cookbooks. These recipes were chosen as the most popular or favorite recipes from each book.

Cookbook collectors will be interested in knowing that a catalog section in each volume lists the contributing cookbooks with descriptive copy and ordering information on each book.

The "Best of the Best From Pennsylvania" costs $14.95. If you cannot find the cookbook in your local bookstore, send $14.95 plus $1.50 postage and handling to Quail Ridge Press, P.O. Box 123, Brandon, MS 39043 or call 800-343-1583.

Here are a few recipes from the cookbook to help you use your garden harvest.

RED BEETS
Pickled

3 pounds red beets
1½ cups beet juice
1½ cups brown sugar
1½ cups cider vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Wash beets. Cook in water to cover until tender. Remove from heat. Reserve 1½ cups water. Remove skins from beets and quarter or slice. Add brown sugar, vinegar, salt, and pepper to beet juice. Pour over beets. Refrigerate or seal in jars in boiling water bath.

Susie's Cook Book

CORN RELISH

2 quarts corn kernels
1 quart cabbage, chopped
1 cup sweet red peppers, chopped
1 cup sweet green peppers, chopped
1 cup onions, diced
2 cups granulated sugar
4 cups apple cider vinegar
1 cup water
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon mustard seed
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon turmeric
1 teaspoon dry mustard

Cook corn on cobs submerged in boiling water for 5 minutes. Plunge into cold water to stop cooking and preserve color. Drain, then cut from cobs. Mix gently with other vegetables. Combine sugar, vinegar, water, and spices (make sure sugar is dissolved). Pour over vegetables and simmer for 20 minutes or until vegetables are tender but not mushy.

Spoon into hot sterilized jars and seal. Makes about 6 pints.

CHOW CHOW

2½ quarts raw cauliflower
3 quarts raw celery
3 pints raw carrots
3½ pints raw peppers
2½ pints baby lima beans
3 quarts canned pickles
1 quart onions
5½ pounds granulated sugar
6 ounces prepared mustard
3 tablespoons mustard seed
2 tablespoons celery seed
2 teaspoons turmeric
1 teaspoon celery salt
1½ pints vinegar
1 pint celery water
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Cut all vegetables in bite-size pieces. Cook each one separately in salted water. Discard all water except the celery water. Divide into two dishpans. Mix together remaining ingredients. Pour liquid over vegetables. Divide into pans and bring to a boil. Last 10 minutes, mix in 2 tablespoons cornstarch. Pour in jars and can. Makes 10 quarts.

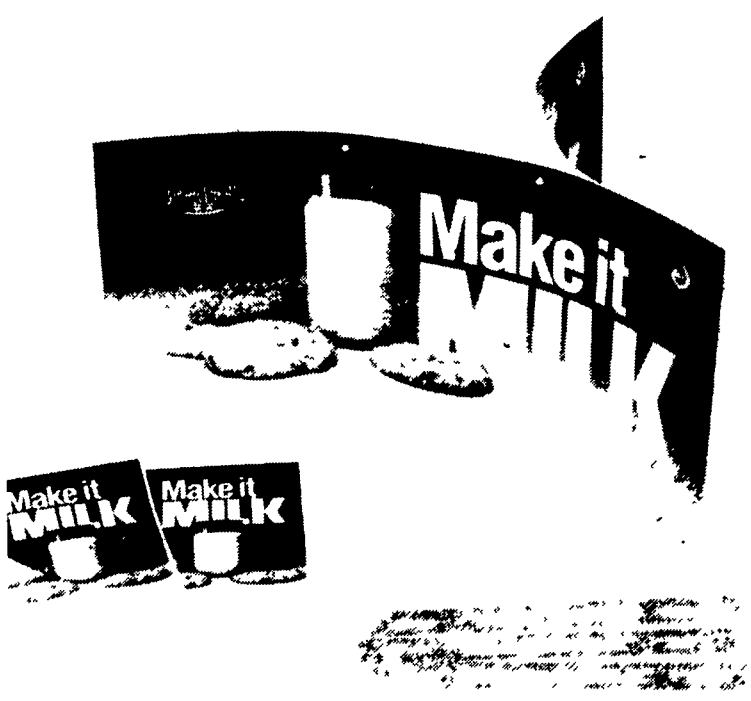
Milk Campaign Targets Smaller Groceries

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A new campaign to promote fluid milk has entered grocery and convenience stores throughout central Pennsylvania. The materials have been placed in small grocery stores, Uni-Marts, and similar locations to help increase fluid milk sales.



This promotional picture is part of the new milk campaign targeted for small grocery stores and convenience chains to reach an area that is not currently a target of the dairy industry's promotional efforts.

"This campaign really fits in with our programs," says Ray Cassidy, from Galliker Milk Company, in Johnstown. "The materials help to protray milk as more appealing to consumers. All of the promotion items are perfectly sized for our units."

Each promotion package includes a full-color, three-sided dangler with the theme "Make it Milk," along with clear static-cling pieces and "shelf-talker" units. The photography features an ice cold glass of milk and homemade chocolate chip cookies.

"We find these materials very valuable," says Bill Gentzel, from Valley Farms Dairy, in Williamsport. "The materials enlighten people and direct them to the dairy case. The 'shelf-talkers' bring attention to milk products on the shelves."

Pennsylvania Dairy has been distributing the materials since the beginning of June. The package was introduced during Dairy Month with the materials designed for milk promotion throughout the year. More than 500 kits have been placed in marketing areas from Johnstown to Scranton.

"We designed the kit to increase milk sales for snacking purposes," says Nadine Houck, Pennsylvania Dairy Promotions Specialist. "We used the cookies to convey the message that milk is a perfect beverage for snacking."

"The campaign was targeted to smaller grocery stores and convenience chains to reach an area that is not currently a target of the dairy industry's promotion efforts. These locations typically cater to people who are snacking, so we made our theme follow this idea," adds Houck.

A limited number of kits are still available to retailers. Interested persons should contact Nadine Houck at (717) 787-6903.

National Directory Of Organic Wholesalers

DAVIS, Calif. — Where can buyers and sellers of organic commodities find each other? The decade old National Directory of Organic Wholesalers is the leading source of information for organic farmers and wholesalers, as well as anyone thinking about getting into this $1.5 billion dollar per year industry. Each year the Directory provides new listings and updates all sections of this indispensable resource, bringing members of the organic food industry the most complete guide available in North America and beyond.

Called the "Bible of the Organics Industry" the Directory has become a vital tool for organic industry leaders. "This book is the 'Yellow Pages' of the organic industry," says Norman Cloutier, president of Cornucopia Natural Foods, Inc. With more than 600 business contact names, the Directory includes:

- Farmers of organic commodities nationwide.
- Food wholesalers nationwide and beyond.
- Farm suppliers.
- Updated federal and state organic laws.
- Support businesses serving the organic industry.
- Certification groups.
- Over 800 cross-referenced organic commodities of who buys and sells.

The 1994 Directory is now in production and will be released in February 1994. Farmers and other wholesalers of organic commodities can be included in the Directory by calling toll free: 1-800-852-3832.

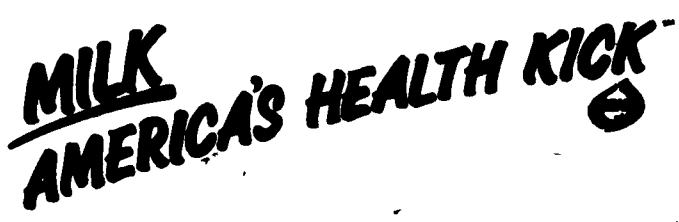
P.S. A limited supply of the 1993 National Directory of Organic Wholesalers is available for the sale price of $29.95 (regular price $34.95) plus $4 shipping and handling. Credit cards accepted. Call or write: Community Alliance with Family Farmers (CAFF), P.O. Box 464, Davis, CA 95617, (800) 852-3832, (916) 756-8518.



Turn Junk Into Cash

ORANGE N.J. — You probably have a lot of "stuff" around the house that you no longer need or use. Getting rid of it will free up space and possibly bring you extra money. A garage sale will dispose of that junk and fatten your wallet.

Of course, you do have alternatives. You can give the "stuff" to a charity or even put it out with the trash. If you choose the latter, you may find that people in late model cars are stopping and taking your cast-offs for their garage sale.

Incidentally, you don't need a garage for a garage sale. In fact, most garage sales are held in the front yard or driveway. You do, however, have to search your soul and decide if you really are mentally and physically able to hold a garage sale. Would you enjoy it? Are you shy? Would selling embarrass you? Can you control customers?

A book, Holding Garage Sales for Fun and Profit, just published by the nonprofit Consumer Education Research Center has the answers (and the questions). It describes in detail every aspect of garage sales. if you do decide to hold a sale, the book will take you through the whole process from newspaper advertising, street signs and pricing to the time when you take down the tables and finally count your profits.

The book is available for $5.95 (including shipping) from Consumer Center, 350 Scotland Road, Orange, NJ 07050 or by calling 800-872-0121 with credit card.

In researching the book, the author, Robert Berko visited and interviewed people holding garage and yard sales. He found that almost every one had held a garage sale before or was planning another one. In fact, several of those contacted had graduated to selling at flea markets.

Since these people quickly sold all their own "junque," they developed ways to get merchandise for their next sales. This led to a chapter dealing with ways to get merchandise to sell. Some people used their expertise to hold sales for other people. Others obtained damaged or out-of-style merchandise from stores and manufacturers. Additional sources described in the book are consignment from friends or stores and even scavenging from junk put out during large-item trash pick-ups. One women made a specialty of contacting landlords of stores that had been recently vacated. She found that in many cases the business had left unwanted merchandise and the landlords were happy to have the place emptied. Another frequented sites where homes or buildings were being demolished.

Merchandise must be displayed so that it looks attractive. Humorous signs can help make the sale more festive. At one sale, Mr. Berko says he saw a sign on an item announcing, "For Sale Cheap If You Don't Live Near the People Who Gave Us This Wedding Gift." Seriuos signs on merchandise can point out reasons the item is worth more than the selling price. For instance, a dresser that has dove-tailed drawers and solid wood, rather than veneer.

Pricing merchandise is very important. If you price things to high, you risk losing sales. If you price them to low, you are giving away part of your profit. What is junk to you, may very well be a valuable collectible to someone else. The sourvenir from Niagara Falls that holds memories for you, is just junk to someone else. Every business requires expertise to be successful. This inexpensive book gives prospective garage-sale entrepreneurs the knowledge to make their venture profitable and fun.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

We recently attended a picnic for the community of Oregon, Pa. It is a small village of some 30 houses that was formerly called Catfish because of the abundance of those fish in the creek.

There is a small church, which originally was used by three denominations as a Union Church. It has one of the oldest graveyards in the county outside of Lancaster. The place was first settled by Jacob Bear in 1717.

The mill along Carters Run, now the Lititz Creek, was the center of business for many years. My great-great-grandfather, Benjamin Landis, owned the mill from 1829 to 1850. I have his very interesting mill book from those years. It is like a census of folks who lived in the vicinity in those years.

The village in the 1880s also had a hotel, dry-goods store, coach maker, shoemaker, blacksmith shops, two butcher shops, four cigar factories and a funeral parlor. When a post office was established the name was changed from Catfish to Oregon.

Today there are several small businesses, a restaurant, a convenience store and a nearby super market. If one mentions "Oregon Dairy," most people have a general idea of where we live.

The group of people assembled for the picnic contained not only some older residents but also many young people and children.

A Neighborhood Watch has been established and there is a camaraderie among the residents. Even though our dairy farm is on the outskirts of the village, I feel a kinship as I've always lived in the neighborhood.

Pa. Farm Vacation Bureau Open For Membership

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Farm Vacation Bureau is a non-profit association that has been organized to promote, educate and improve the understanding between rural and urban families by opening their homes for guests. The members of the association are actively engaged in farming and derive a percentage of their annual income from their farming operation.

The setting of all Farm Vacation operations must be rural in character, a setting that is clearly in contrast with city life, and the guest must have room and board on the farm. The member farms offer a variety of locations, rates, and accommodations. Rates vary according to meal plans and type of accommodations. Guests will find their choice from private rooms and shared quarters to rustic cabins in the surrounding wooded area.

The association provides inspection services for Pennsylvania farm families interested in becoming a member. Members in good standing will be listed in the annual Farm Vacation Association Directory, thus assuring a quality program for the participating farm families as well as the vacationers. For additional information contact Pennsylvania Farm Vacation Association, 2301 North Cameron St., Harrisburg, PA 17110-9408. For a Farm Vacation Directory call (717) 232-8880.

Lancaster Farming Carries DHIA Reports Each Month!

Adams 4-H

Sixteen dairy animals from Adams County competed for recognition among the 247 head entered in the South Central District Dairy Show held Monday, August 23, at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg. Youth from the seven-county area, which included Cumberland, Dauphin, Franklin, Lancaster, Lebanon, and York, participated in the 26th annual show.

The event opened with a showmanship contest in which Sarah Day of Cumberland was named champion of the junior division (8-10 years old), Amy Hartman of Franklin County was named champion in the intermediate division (11-13 years old), and Stephanie Wagner of Lebanon County was winner of the senior division (14-19 years old).

During the course of the show, Joy Hess of Gettysburg and Shannon Holtzinger of East Berlin each won two master showmanship awards. Jesse Murren of New Oxford won one.

Placings for Adams County entries were as follows:

In the Guernsey breed, Jesse Murren of New Oxford placed first and was awarded a blue ribbon in the junior 2-year-old class. Jonathan Murren placed second and was awarded a red ribbon with his winter yearling.

Placings in the Holstein breed were as follows:

In the six years and older class, Melinda Wenger, Littlestown, placed 3rd with a red ribbon.

Blue ribbon animals have been entered in the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show, where the best from all the districts in the state will compete for honors on Monday, September 20, at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg. Representing 4-H from Adams County, Joy Hess will show three Brown Swiss, Jesse Murren will show his Guernseys, and Ashleigh Van Lieu will show her Holstein.

Gardening In Carroll County

WESTMINSTER, Md. — The Carroll County Extension Service is excited to announce its fall series of education workshops. These classes are designed to bring out the best gardener in you and the most from your plants and landscape.

This program features four short courses covering: Home Landscape Design, Home Lawn Care, Spring Bulb Design and Pruning Woody Ornamentals. All classes will be held at the Carroll County Extension Office at 700 Agriculture Center in Westminster, except the pruning seminar, which will be held at Greenway Gardens off Nicodemus Road, so actual pruning can be accomplished.

Registration forms are available at Carroll County Public Libraries, most local Garden Centers or by calling the Extension Office at (410) 848-4611.

Don't wait long since the first class in Home Lawn Care starts on September 16.

Kiddy Tractor Pull

The second annual Kiddy Tractor Pull, sponsored by Susquehanna County 4-H, was held recently at the Harford Fair.

More than 100 young contestants strained to gain their last inches of ground. Doug Puzo, Susquehanna County 4-H leader, designed and built the weight sled and altered the pedal tractors donated by Bartron Supply in Tunkhannock and Lindsey Lawn and Garden Center in New Milford.

Other local business donating materials for the weight sled and the pulling platform were Andre & Sons, Montrose Auto Parts, Puzo's Body Shop, Wickizer Lumber, Crafts Lumber Company and Mark Magnotti'e M & M Machine Shop. Susquehanna County 4-H appreciates the donation of materials from these businesses.

Many enthusiastic children pulled as parents and other spectators cheered them on. Doug Pouzo and Matt Castrogiovanni engineered the day's event. Mike Kowalewski from the North Jackson Ag 4-H Club measured each pull. Dana Harvatine, Mary Cokely, Tammy Ellis, Connie Zebrowski assisted in organizing the boys and birls for their turns to pull and selling T-shirts and hats. 4-H leader Dave Quick announced the event. The Harford Fair Queen Colleen Pretto and Theresa Supancik, first runner-up, assisted with awards and gave all participants lollipops.

The Harford Fair Association provided a trophy for the first place winner in each division. Ribbons were awarded to the first six places. The 4-year-old girl winners first through sixth place were Donna Seamans, Lydia Summers, Victoria Kelly, Lisa Rhodes, Steffany Schaffer, and Justina Wadge. The 4-year-old boy winners were Eric Burgess, placing first, followed by Kenneth Jesse, Cody McAndrew, Phillip Quick, Cole Lukacinsky, Ian Johnson.

Five-year-old girl winners were Amy Lynn Frantz, Amanda Zembrzycki, Heidi Page, Ashley Lewis, Lindsey Grosvenor and Jody Molenko. The boys placing first through sixth were Matthew Latwinski, Casey Holleran, Kyle Payne, Andy Cattano, Benjamin Sayre, and Brian Belcher.

The 6-year-old girl division as won by Abby Onyon, followed by Kimberly Morden, Felisha Schafer, Kristin Rhodes, Abralyn Stone, and Jessica Squier. Brian Ryerson won the 6-year-old boy division followed by Kyle Mills, Andrew Nebzydoski, Merl Decker, David Kessler, and Steven Waldie.

Winners in the 7-year-old girl class first through sixth place were Betsy Sayre, Jennifer Wilcox, Ansley Lukacinsky, Michelle Grosvenor, Courtney Twining, and Amber Quick. Dan Puzo placed first in the 7-year-old boy division followed by Jeremiah Naylor, Seth Everitt, Tom Nebzydoski, Tyler Singleton, and Jay Hine. First place 8-year-old girl was Lisa Lopatofsky followed by Molly Sayre, Ashley Twining, and Leah Kelly. The last class to pull, 8-year-old boys, recorded the following winners: Tony Rezykowski, Matthew Holbrook, Theron Latourette, Jeremy Page, Kris Kiefer, and Robert Lagermasini Jr.

The girl pulling the most weight the longest distance was 6-year-old Abby Onyon from New Milford and the boy pulling the longest distance was 8-year-old Tony Rezykowski from Springville.

TWO SHIFT-ON-THE-GO TRANSMISSIONS

Choose the 12-speed SyncroPlus™ or 16-speed PowrQuad™ transmission on the new 7200 and 7400 Tractors

- Smooth-shifting performance with a wide range of tillage, PTO, and transport speeds.
- Oil-cooled, multi-disk PermaClutch™ 2 for extra reliability.
- In-line forward/reverse shift pattern enhances loader work.
- SyncroPlus transmission (standard) lets you clutch-and-shift, clash-free, in both speeds and ranges.
- PowrQuad transmission gives you four powershiftable speeds in four fully-synchronized ranges.

Limousin Opportunity Sale

Saturday, September 25, 1993 - Noon

Culpeper Agricultural Enterprises, Inc.
Culpeper, Virginia
Selling 70+ Lots

One-fourth of the offering will be polled with several black cattle selling. The sale represents a near dispersal of the Water Dairy Limousin herd. Three heifers are being kept to rebuild with — everything else sells! The get, service, and sale of FF Midnight Magic 009Y is certain to be a highlight of the sale. He's a black polled son of Wulfs Midnight 6244W and goes back to WRC Punch on the maternal side of his pedigree.

Three years ago, Case International MAXXUM® set new standards for mid-size tractors. With the introduction of the 5200 Series, those standards have been raised even higher.

You wanted more visibility; we added exclusive all-glass doors. You asked for easier implement attachment; we responded with ground-level hitch control. You wanted more muscle; and we increased horsepower and durability.

Leadership never stands still, and the MAXXUM 5200 Series is still the best in the business.

WHY IMPROVE DAIRY CATTLE HEALTH THROUGH SELECTION?

Gary W. Rogers
Assistant Professor Dairy And Animal Science

Greetings from Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science.

Research activities are an important part of Penn State because they keep the faculty sharp and contemporary and allow them to provide the most recent understanding of important concepts to students and clientele.

In response to needs of dairy cattle producers, health traits and potential improvement through selection are among the hottest topics in research among dairy geneticists.

Perhaps the most compelling reason to improve health traits in dairy cattle through selection is that intense selection only for yield traits may lead to a general deterioration in health traits in dairy cattle during a 20 to 30 year period. This would have major economic consequences, since most diseases result in lost productivity, reduced milk quality, increased costs for labor, drugs, and treatments, and premature culling. In addition, antibiotic use results in discarded milk and the occasional loss of large quantities of milk because of contamination.

Milk quality is another important issue, since milk composition changes occur during an illness. This is especially true for mastitis, where subclinical mastitis has an important effect on the cheese-yielding properties of milk. Recent increases in the popularity of milk quality premiums attest to the importance of milk quality on dairy products. It is worth noting that standards for somatic cell counts needed for marketing legal milk are currently much more stringent in Europe than in North America. It is also interesting that, in the Scandinavian countries, antibiotics can only be administered by licensed veterinarians. Antibiotic use is under scrutiny across the globe and could play a smaller role in health therapy in the future.

Another important consideration of health problems is their impact on animal welfare. While most producers are already sensitive to the welfare and comfort of their herds, public views will likely play a much larger role in the management of livestock in the future. This increased awareness of health traits may add a significant social cost to the production of milk and dairy products.

Beginning in 1992, a number of researchers at many land grant universities, including Penn State, joined forces in a cooperative project to address genetic aspects of health in North American dairy cattle. This move signals a significant shift in emphasis among dairy cattle geneticists in the United States on health traits in research programs.

Some producers and dairy industry experts in the U.S. would say that this new interest in health traits is long overdue. Health traits in dairy cattle have been much more extensively studied in Northern Europe during the past 25 years, due mainly to the systematic health recording programs that have risen from a difference in political and philosophical views.

Research on how to be more efficient at improving yield traits continues because of the obvious importance of yield traits in the efficient production of milk and dairy products. The newest tool that soon will be available for helping the dairy cattle improvement industry and dairy producers make selection decisions is genetic evaluations (PTAs) for somatic cell scores. These PTAs for somatic cell scores may be one of the first important tools to improve health traits during the next few decades.

With continued research on genetics of health traits, you can be assured that new discoveries will be made, and that these discoveries will have the potential to impact dairy producer profits and consumer satisfaction.

Family Receives Ag Service Award

NEWARK, Del. — The Reuben Ockels family of Milton has received the 1993 Outstanding Service to Agriculture Award for Sussex County.

The award was presented August 10 at the Sussex Service Clubs' annual picnic at the University of Delaware Research and Education Center near Georgetown.

Recipients of the award include Reuben and Cynthia Ockels and three of their sons, Dale, Gary, and Dennis.

In their 3,200-acre diversified farming operation, the Ockels raise corn, soybeans, small grains, grain sorghum, and processing vegetables. They also raise broiler chickens and pigs. The family has won numerous awards for their corn and soybean yields. Dale has been named a Pork All-American producer and outstanding young farmer.

Known for their willingness to try new farming practices, the Ockels have participated in many university research and extension programs over the years, including the 100-Bushel Corn Club and soybean improvement, irrigated corn, and farm record-keeping projects.

Learning Is The Focus Of All American Dairy Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Again this year, the All-American Dairy Show will feature a "Careers and Opportunities Night" for students. This event is to be held on Sunday, Sept. 19, from 7 to 9:30 p.m., in the McClay Street Lobby of the main building of the PA Farm Show Complex.

Students will be given the opportunity to visit with representatives of various agricultural colleges, and learn more about careers available in agriculture. The program is designed to encourage high school students to pursue the options that exist within the field of higher education. The evening event provides an excellent opportunity for students to learn more about agricultural careers from food science to landscape design.

U.S. Department of Agriculture studies project that annually, through the mid-90's, there will be more than 48,000 job openings per year for students with agricultural degrees. During this time, USDA estimates that there will be only 43,000 new qualified graduates, resulting in a shortfall of 11 percent.

Further information about "Careers and Opportunities Night" is available by calling the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program at (717) 787-6903.

FAIR DAYS

New Jersey Organic Country Fair

New Jersey's annual celebration of organic food, farming, and gardening, will take place on September 18, 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., in Pennington, N.J.

The one-day event, organized by the Northeast Organic Farming Association of New Jersey (NOFA/NJ), will be held at the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association on Titus Mill Road off Route 31.

Featured speakers include leaders in the organic farming community, such as Trauger Groh, biodynamic farmer for 33 years and author of "Farms of Tomorrow: Community Supported Farms, Farm Supported Communities"; Mike McGrath, editor-in-chief, Organic Gardening Magazine; and Chuck Benbrook, former executive director, board of agriculture, National Academy of Sciences, who will lead an organic town hall meeting on the subject of pesticides and children.

More than 45 seminars, demonstrations, and tours will run throughout the day. Classes for the farmer/gardener will cover such topics as an introduction to organic growing, edible landscaping, urban gardening, lawn care, permaculture, and growing cover crops. Slated demonstrations include beekeeping, composting, starting a wormbox, hand tools, aquaculture methods, and using season extenders. Demonstrations in healthful cooking will also be featureed.

Organic garden doctors will be on hand to diagnose garden problems. Available for sale will be farm/garden supplies such as topsoil/potting soil, fertilizers, farm tools, composting equipment, and pest control products. Farm/garden supplies and equipment will be auctioned in the afternoon.

Fairgoers will be able to sample and buy locally grown organic foods and talk to New Jersey organic farmers.

For those interested in a day in the country, farm craft demonstrations include basket making, dried flowers, hand crafted brooms, wood turning, pottery.

Admission is $4 for adults, $3 for senior citizens, $1 for children 3-15, and free under three. Volunteers are admitted free of charge. Volunteers are needed for setting up the day before the fair and for working on the day of the Fair. For more information, contact NOFA/NJ, (609) 737-7001.

The 1830 Mulch-Till is one of two Case International row crop cultivators designed for today's changing tillage and cropping practices. Features include increased clearance between shanks and sweeps, choice of ground-working tools and crop-shield options, improved gauge-wheel adjustment, and enhanced residue-handling capability.

Case Presents Row-Crop Cultivators

RACINE, Wis. — J I Case now offers a Case International 1820 row-crop cultivator and an 1830 Mulch-Till model, available in a wide range of sizes as well as rigid or folding configurations.

The 1800 Series cultivators complement the company's 184 Series minimum-till units and round out the Case International line of weed-control tillage tools.

The 1800 Series replaces the 183 Series rear-mounted cultivators. Kurt Schenck, Case product management-implements, noted that the two models are designed with increased clearance between shanks and sweeps, three choices of ground-working tools, three crop-shield options, improved gauge-wheel adjustment and enhanced residue-handling capability to adapt to today's changing tillage and cropping practices.

The Model 1820 measures 28.8 inches tip to tip, from front sweep to rear sweep; The 1830 mulch-till measures 40 inches. According to Schenck, the 1830 has more residue-handling capability than previous Case International models.

The three types of ground-working tools available with the 1800 Series cover a full range of soil conditions and operating needs. Vibra Tines® are recommended for high-speed operations where only small weeds and light soils are of concern. Vibra Shanks®, a Case International exclusive, are ideal for heavier weeds and rocky conditions. The new Vibra Till® shank, lighter than the Vibra Shank yet heavier than the Vibra Tine, is recommended for medium weed density and slightly rocky conditions.

Operators of the 1800 Series have a choice of three types of crop shields. For average ground conditions and operating speeds, the reliable Case International rolling shield is recommended. Other shield choices include a blade shield for faster operating speeds in all cropping practices, and a tent shield, ideal for smaller row crops and specialty crops such as vegetables, at normal or fast operating speeds. Blade and tent shields are available in 38- or 50-inch lengths to protect vulnerable crops from residue or soil thrown from even the rear-most sweep, regardless of working speed.

Van Dale Honors McMillen Brothers

The prestigious Top Sales Performers Award recognizes the top 20 1992 sales volume leaders for all Van Dale products.

The presentations took place at the Van Dale National Dealer Meeting held in Madison, Wis. The meeting gave Van Dale dealers from all over the United States an opportunity to hear about new products, innovations, and programs for 1993.

The meeting featured a trip to Fort Atkinson to tour Van Dale's new manufacturing and marketing headquarters at J-Star Industries.

NC+ Hybrids Unveils New Product Lineup

LINCOLN, Neb. — NC+ Hybrids is releasing sixteen new products for the 1994 growing season. Each product is designed to produce exceptional crops, according to NC+ Hybrids President Gary Duncan.

The Lincoln, Neb.-based company conducts extensive tests on all products prior to release. Each product released exhibited superior characteristics during breeding and research trials, Duncan said.

The newly released product lineup includes five yellow corn hybrids, one white corn hybrid, eight soybean varieties, one alfalfa variety, and one red clover variety.

Corn Releases

Duncan said the new corn lineup is one of the best NC+ has ever released.

"The corn group is elite," Duncan said. "Each one is a leader in its area of adaptation. Research data has proven that each new hybrid will improve each of our maturity groups. This new lineup will strengthen NC+'s presence across the Corn Belt."

The new corn hybrids include:

• NC+ 2309: A 100-day hybrid with excellent uniformity, standability, and stress tolerance. In '92 its girthy, medium-height ears dried down earlier than competitors and yielded extremely well.

• NC+ 4521: A 109-day hybrid with excellent stay-green and good stress tolerance for strong yields in its area of adaptation. A "must try" in the eastern Corn Belt.

• NC+ 6996: A 117-day hybrid that's ideal for grain production in high density irrigated environments. Has good potential for use as silage or for low-density dryland grain production.

• NC+ 7117: A 118-day hybrid that demonstrates superior standability coupled with excellent yield and grain quality.

• NC+ 7665: A 119-day hybrid showing excellent ear flex, enabling it to maximize yields at lower densities. Develops tall plants for solid silage production.

• NC+ 7248W: A 118-day white hybrid with excellent adaptability as a full-season hybrid. Demonstrates high yields and good standability over a wide range of conditions. Excellent grain quality.

Soybean Releases

Duncan said the new soybean releases have been tailored to address concerns in the High Plains region.

"We're improving our soybean varieties by increasing iron chlorosis tolerance," Duncan said.

The new soybean varieties include:• NC+ 1A41: Mid-Early GroupI, its intermediate-type, medium-height plant offers disease resistance and adaptability to all row widths. Ideal in a wide range of northern growing conditions.

• NC+ 1A90: Late Group I, a medium-short plant offering good phytophthora root rot and stress tolerance.

• NC+ 2A91: Late Group II, a medium-height, medium-bushy plant that features improved phytophthora and iron chlorosis tolerance.

• NC+ 3A25: Early Group III, offers impressive yields and stable performance with a good disease package.

• NC+ 3A44: Mid Group III, good looking, uniform, medium plants offer excellent emergence and standability in all row widths. Features broad resistance level to phytophthora root rot.

• NC+3A75: Late Group III, thrives in tough soil and climate conditions. Medium, bushy-type plants are ideal for use with conventional row seeding.

• NC+ 4A27: Early Group IV, tall, medium-bushy plants feature good emergence and standability, plus resistance to soybean cyst nematode and brown stem rot.

• NC+ 5A15: Early Group V, yields dependably even in the presence of soybean cyst nematode and stem canker.

Alfalfa Release

NC+'s new alfalfa release, Sierra, is designed to be an excellent complement to NC+'s best-selling Jade alfalfa, Duncan said.

"It's just a tremendous alfalfa release," he said. "For large alfalfa producers who raise Jade, Sierra will spread out hay harvest."

The new alfalfa is:

• Sierra: Fall dormancy 3 variety. This widely adapted variety offers a solid disease and nematode package including outstanding resistance to bacterial wilt, fusarium wilt, and phytophthora root rot. Sierra has performed extremely well in individual yield and quality trials.

Red Clover Release

Duncan said NC+'s new red clover, Rio Brand, is versatile enough for pasture, hay, or silage.

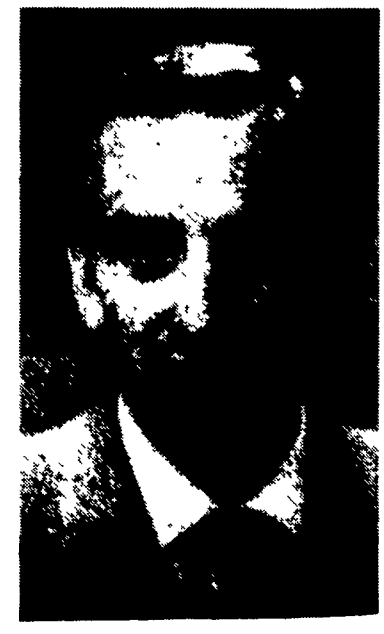
"And it's high yielding," Duncan said.

The new red clover is:

• Rio Brand: A blend of two-cut medium red clovers that exhibits superiority in the second and third years.

Williams Named ABS Regional Sales Manager

DeFOREST, Wis. — ABS announced the appointment of Dwight Williams of Sun Prairie, Wis., to the position of regional sales manager (RSM) for the western region of the U.S.



Dwight Williams

As regional sales manager, Williams will be responsible for managing all sales functions, district sales managers, and ABS representatives and evaluators in Alaska, Arizona, California, Hawaii, Idaho, New Mexico, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, and parts of Texas and Wyoming.

Williams' responsibilities with sales functions will include coordination of the regional progeny test herds, promotions and special events, distribution, and order processing. Williams and his team will work closely with ABS representatives and customers to ensure satisfaction.

Williams began his career with ABS in 1974 as an ABS representative and moved into the role of district sales coordinator for California in 1975. Williams went on to serve the capacities of district sales manager in southwest Minnesota and later northern California. He then joined the ABS staff in DeForest, Wis. as the manager of training in 1987. Williams was later promoted to the position of human resources manager in 1991.

In 1992, Williams accepted the position of district sales manager for southern California. In this most recent role, he also assisted with a number of national programs, including the recent ABS customer service refinement project.

DEEP SAWDUST BEDDING

Deep bedding, which has been in use in the Far East for 20 years, and perhaps five years in Europe, is beginning to draw interest in the U.S.

The concept requires 15-25 inches of either sawdust or finely chopped straw in the growing-finishing barn. Manure and urine are broken down in the bedding pack by composting, which is enhanced by weekly mixing and regular additions of a bacterial/enzyme product.

Advantages

Although the practice sounds a bit unusual compared to standard manure handling methods, the advantages of deep bedding are compelling.

The major benefit is an overall reduction in waste output. Swine producers know the water content of normal swine waste is more than 90 percent. And of course, all that water has to be taken to the field along with solids.

A growing finishing pig produces the equivalent of 400-500 gallons of waste on an annual basis — nearly two tons. In the deep bedded system, pigs continue to produce normal amounts of manure.

But the composted product that's eventually hauled from a deep-bedded system weighs only abut 450 pounds per pig capacity.

What happens to all the water in the deep bedding system? A high evaporation rate is created in the bedding by the heat of composting. The process is maintained by weekly mixing of the bedding and the addition of the microbial product. This serves to keep the manure evenly distributed in the bedding and also introduces air into the pack to facilitate aerobic bacterial growth. The bedding pack is completely replaced every 18 months, and the old material is applied to the field.

At least one study shows that ammonia emissions are reduced by 70 percent and airborne dust is cut in half. Non-experimental observations suggest that odor is reduced as well.

Pig performance is the same as that of a slatted environment, although some experiments suggest that the first groups of pigs housed on deep sawdust perform better than those raised on deep bedding that is nearing the end of its useful life.

Drawbacks

An obvious disadvantage is the need for continual mixing. Once a week, someone must enter each pen (full of pigs) with a machine and mix the entire bedding pack. If this is neglected for longer than seven days, the composting process is hindered.

Although prices aren't available for the microbial products used in these systems, the additives are not free, and they're generally topdressed weekly at the same time the pack is mixed.

Will the process occur without the additives? Yes, but temperature in the bedding pack is lower, ammonia emissions increase, and water content is higher at the time of field application.

Stocking densities are generally lower in deep-bedded units, with producers providing about 10 square feet per pig compared to the standard area of eight square feet per pig. Producers, therefore, would have to provide additional pen space to maintain similar hog output as that of a slatted facility.

Another limitation of deep bedding is the need for increased ventilation rate. In closed facilities, mechanical ventilation is essential to remove the excess moisture generated by the composting process. In fact, one report recommends a minimum ventilation rate of 26 cubic feet per minute (cfm) for newly arrived feeder pigs housed on deep bedding.

Unless the wind is blowing, natural ventilation alone could not meet this air exchange rate. Note that the normal minimum ventilation rate is about 4-5 cfm for a pig this size.

Aerial bacterial counts, which are generally measured as colony forming units (CFU), are higher during the mixing process. (A CFU refers to the ability of contaminants to produce a bacterial colony in a culture medium.) Air with high CFU counts has higher levels of contamination and is more likely to cause disease.

One experiment in the deep bed system showed an average of about 350 CFU per cubic meter of air before mixing the pack. During mixing, the counts jumped to an average of 21,000 per cubic meter.

The particular bacteria counted in this experiment is Thermophilic actinomycetes. These bacteria are beneficial in the composting process, but are also associated with Farmer's Lung (extrinsic allergic alveolitis). The danger level for this bacteria is 100 million units per cubic meter of air, but regular exposure to low concentrations during the weekly mixing process poses a significant health concern.

Summary

Deep bedding systems for growing finishing hogs have been in use in the Far East and Europe, and are beginning to attract interest in the U.S.

When the system is properly managed, high rates of evaporation from the bedding pack greatly reduce the amount of water hauled during field spreading of manure. Ammonia and odors are also reduced. However, the system is labor intensive, and high bacterial counts generated during the routine mixing process may increase the risk of respiratory disease among swine producers.

CONSUMER CREDIT: HOW TO GET A COPY OF YOUR CREDIT REPORT

Patricia L. Powley
Extension Home Economist
Financial And Consumer Issues

Financial advisors recommend that credit-active consumers, including farmers, review their credit reports on a yearly basis.

This is especially important for those planning a major purchase such as a house, car, property, or machinery. It helps avoid unwelcome surprises.

There are two ways you may obtain a copy of your credit report:

- Free of charge, whenever your request for credit is denied. Federal law requires credit reporting agencies to provide you with a free copy of your credit report if you request it within 30 days of being denied credit.
- For a fee, if you have not been denied credit recently. One credit bureau offers one free copy of your credit report each year.

Free Credit Report

Have you ever wondered what your credit files contained but could not afford the cost of getting one or did not know how to get one easily? Help is here.

Now you can get a free copy (limited to one per year) of your credit file by writing to TRW Consumer Assistance, Box 2350, Chatsworth, CA 91313-2350.

To obtain your credit report, provide the following information in writing. Please print clearly (except for the signature): a) Your full name (first, middle and last) and generation such as Sr., Jr., II, etc. b) Your current address with zip code. c) Any previous addresses with zip codes for the last five years. d) Social Security number. e) Year of Birth. f) Spouse's name, if you are married. g) Verification of your name and current address. Include a photocopy of one of the following: 1) driver's license, 2) a recent utility bill (electric, telephone, water, etc.), 3) a recent billing statement from a major credit company (Mastercard, Visa, American Express, Discover, etc.) This is being used as a security measure to prevent other individuals from obtaining your records. h) Your signature. Please note that each request must contain verification of your address (g) and your signature (h) before it will be processed.

Reports will be mailed in about 2-3 weeks after your request has been received. Additional services related to credit files are available from TRW. A toll-free help line is available: (800) 392-1122.

Consumer Credit: Risk Scores: A Credit Report's 'Temperature'

A risk score is a mathematical summary of the information in your credit report. Creditors use it to make faster, more accurate lending decisions.

But just knowing your score tells you nothing about your ability to obtain credit. Does a credit reporting agency "rate" your creditworthiness?

The answer to that commonly asked question is no. Credit reporting agencies provide objective facts describing a consumer's payment history. They do not supply evaluations, make value judgments, or grade how consumers pay their bills. Nor do credit reporting agencies recommend that lenders grant or deny credit to a particular consumer.

Keeping Score Of Credit Transactions

To help lenders make that decision, however, credit reporting agencies often provide a risk score. A risk score is a mathematical summary of the information described in words and figures in a consumer's credit report.

Sophisticated statistics and mathematical equations calculate the summary by assigning numerical values to various pieces of information in a credit report. The result is a number — the risk score.

How Risk Scores Are Used

Credit grantors use risk scores to help them objectively and accurately review an applicant's credit report. Risk scores also help lenders predict a consumer's future payment pattern.

Not all credit grantors are alike, however, and their interpretation of risk scores differs. So any given risk score — 695, for example — may be considered "good" by one credit grantor and "bad" by another.

Understanding Risk Scores

How is this possible? Think of risk scores as you do another objective measurement: the temperature. Let's say it was sunny today, with a high of 80 degrees. Is that good or bad?

The answer, of course, is an unqualified "it depends." If you held a picnic with family and friends today, 80 degrees is good. If your fields haven't had rain for five months of 80-degree days, it's bad. If you stayed inside the entire day, it doesn't really make any difference. In other words, the objective fact of 80 degrees can be viewed as either "good," "bad," or "neutral," depending upon your own experiences, needs and plans for the future.

Good, Bad, Or Indifferent

Similarly, different credit grantors can view the same risk score differently. It all depends on their experiences with other consumers scoring in the same range, their marketing plans, their business niche, and many other factors.

Complicating matters is the fact that there are many ways of developing risk scores. One risk score model predicts the likelihood of a consumer declaring bankruptcy within the next two years. Another makes a more generalized assessment of a consumer's future payment pattern.

The scores of one risk model range from 0 to 1,000, with 0 being good. The scores of another model range from 363 to 840, with 840 being good.

What Does It Mean?

The point is that just knowing your risk score tells you nothing about your ability to obtain credit. Moreover, your risk score changes over time as you continue to develop your credit history.

For these reasons, your risk score does not appear on your credit report.

Advantages Of Risk Scores

Still, risk scores help you as a consumer because they:

- Are objective and precise, allowing credit grantors to treat all consumers consistently and fairly.
- Eliminate individual biases and judgments from the credit-granting decision.
- Result in faster, more accurate credit decisions.
- Help you get "instant credit" at retailers and car dealers.
- Speed your loan application process for new homes.
- Reduce your cost of credit by empowering lenders to make the best, most efficient decisions.

Relocation Of Lab Means Focus On Quality

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The Dairylea member testing laboratory has been relocated to a larger, more modern facility to better serve members. This relocation is part of the ongoing improvements to Dairylea's milk testing and reporting operation, designed to aid members in their pursuit of producing high quality milk.

"The importance of producing quality milk cannot be emphasized enough," said Clyde Rutherford, president of Dairylea. "Milk processors and consumers want top quality milk. In addition, members have the opportunity to increase their profitability by producing quality milk. That's why, in the last year or more, Dairylea has made great strides to help our members in this endeavor."

Dairylea's firm commitment to providing members with programs and services to enhance on-farm productivity and profitability was a driving force behind this recent comprehensive effort to assist members in producing a high quality product. Numerous studies have shown significant benefits to producers maintaining low somatic cell counts. Those benefits include increased milk production, decreased milk dumpages, lower production costs, and reduced risk of antibiotics in the tank. In addition, Dairylea has a quality premium program that financially rewards members who produce milk with low somatic cell counts and bacteria.

For many years, Dairylea's member testing laboratory was stationed at the former Dairylea fluid milk plant on Burnet Avenue in Syracuse, N.Y. The plant was sold to H.P. Hood in the late 1980s and was closed earlier this year. The new laboratory facility, in operation since the beginning of June, is located near the Dairylea headquarters building in East Syracuse, N.Y. The up-to-date, 2,400-square-foot laboratory was designed for efficient testing and feedback to field staff and members.

Last winter, Dairylea purchased the Foss Combi 250, which tests milk two and a half times faster than the equipment it replaced and it conducts several types of tests at the same time. The raw milk is tested for butterfat, protein, lactose and non-fat solids. In addition, the Foss Combi 250 has an electronic somatic cell counter. The Dairylea Foss Combi 250 has a 99 percent accuracy rate.

Dairylea also recently purchased the Charm II machine that tests raw milk for antibiotics.

Within the past year, Dairylea has focused more attention on milk testing accuracy. For instance, bar-coded labels for milk sample vials were introduced to eliminate the possibility of human error. A scanner reads the bar code and test results are automatically entered into the computer system. Also, raw milk is tested for bacteria on film rather than in a petri dish. This cuts down on a tremendous amount of laboratory waste, which helps the environment.

A dairylea lab technician operates the Foss Combi 250, which has a 99 percent milk testing accuracy rate.

Electronics Simplify Data Management

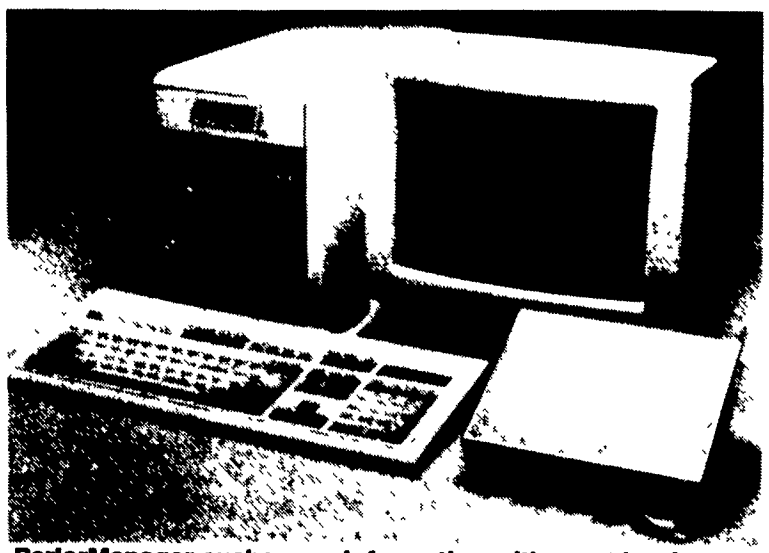
NAPERVILLE, Ill. — Dairy producers can simplify record keeping and decision making with Surge ParlorManager™, a new computerized commercial dairy management system introduced by Babson Bros. Co.

ParlorManager automatically gathers up-to-the-minute milking information, shares data with herd management software, and offers customized reports and milking schedules to meet the individual needs of commercial producers.

ParlorManager eliminates data entry because it automatically reads cow identification numbers and milk weights from Surge hardware, unlike equipment that requires users to manually enter milking data. The system tracks cows through the parlor, plots daily milk weights, and flags significant production deviations. In addition, ParlorManager lets operators vary the length of a milking day and create specialized reports that meet each dairy's needs.

Using Dairy Information Interchange (DII) syntax, ParlorManager can exchange information with most herd management software programs. With ParlorManager's interface capabilities, producers avoid entering data in two programs and can save DHIA fees by transmitting data from herd management software to DHIA processing centers.

For more information on ParlorManager, contact your local Surge dealer or write to Surge ParlorManager, Babson Bros. Co., 1880 Country Farm Drive, Naperville, IL 60563.



ParlorManager exchanges information with most herd management software to eliminate entering data in both programs.

You may have heard of an exciting difference in soybean processing. A unique toasting process where the soybeans never come in contact with the flame that can affect nutrition. Weaver's Toasted Grains has been offering this process for over a year. Join us on Wednesday September 15, 1993 from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. for an open house celebration where you can see the toaster and storage facilities you've been hearing about. Join us for lunch and some ice cream while you see the reasons why toasted soybeans actually can improve the energy density of your ration, improve palatability, increase by-pass protein levels and destroy molds and enzyme inhibitors that are present in your raw soybeans.

So plan to join us on September 15, 1993 for the open house celebration of Weaver's Toasted Grains. You will find us at 220 White Oak Road in New Holland. See the map below for additional directions.

Ciba Contribution Aids Rural Flood Victims

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Ciba Plant Protection, a major producer of herbicides and other agricultural crop production chemicals, contributed $500,000 to assist rural flood victims in the Midwest.

Dr. George Rolofson, vice president of environmental and public affairs for Ciba Plant Protection, made the contribution in Des Moines, Iowa, to the American Red Cross. The money will be allocated to a fund to aid rural families in Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin. Farmers living in the nine states and who need assistance to help clean up and repair their flood-damaged homes should contact the nearest Red Cross service center.

"We've been a part of the agricultural community for nearly 50 years," said Rolofson, "and we feel a special kinship with the farm families who are enduring this unprecedented natural disaster. Hundreds of farm families must repair or replace their homes that have been damaged or destroyed by the flood waters. We want to help them and are doing so on behalf of all our employees."

Rolofson said Ciba believes that the Red Cross offers an effective means of reaching rural families with the aid because it has established the special rural flood relief fund.

"Ciba Plant Protection's gift clearly establishes their leadership in our rural communities and is a strong statement of their belief in the mission of the American Red Cross," stated Carol Grant, executive director of the American Red Cross, Central Iowa Chapter. "On behalf of all of those whose lives will be touched by your generosity, please accept our deepest gratitude."

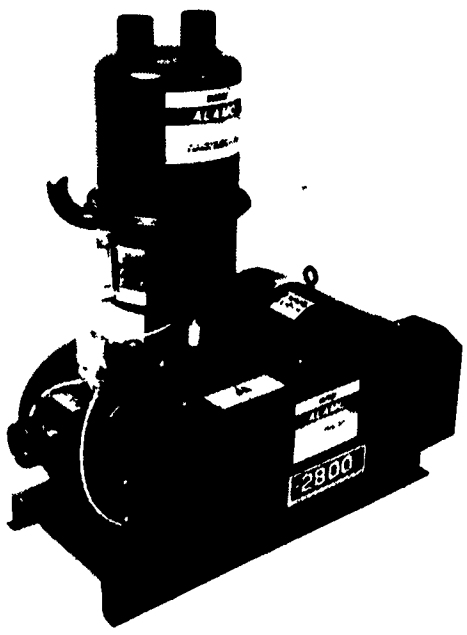
Part or parcel... you'll save money with a Surge Alamo belt-drive vacuum pump.



Shown: Surge Alamo Belt-Drive 2800 Pump Package Complete With L-3 Oiler

Buy only the capacity you need now and expand your CFM as your requirements change. The Surge Alamo Vaccum Pump model 1400 PLUS produces 50 CFM (ASME) and can be converted to a model 2200 PLUS that delivers 78 CFM, or a model 2800 rated at 100 CFM by changing the motor and belt-drive package. Muffler and air filter are optional equipment.

Whichever model you choose, with these belt-drive pumps, you get quiet, smooth-running performance at a lower cost per CFM. That's Alamo reliability and Surge value.

For larger capacity vacuum systems, Surge Alamo direct-drive vacuum pumps offer CFM output ranging from 82 to 200 (ASME). Whatever size milking system you have, we can supply the proper vacuum system components.

Two sizes to fit your vacuum system and your budget!

COMMANDER® 1.5 K

The SURGE COMMANDER 1.5K vacuum regulator is designed to work with vacuum pumps that have capacities of up to 53 CFM (1500 L/min.) ASME. Its high degree of sensitivity and accuracy, combined with simplified maintenance, make it an ideal replacement for older vacuum controls.

The COMMANDER 1.5 K is an economical way to improve your vacuum system's performance and reduce your service requirements.

COMMANDER® 5 K

The SURGE COMMANDER 5 K vacuum regulator is designed to work with vacuum pumps that produce up to 178 CFM (5000 L/min.) ASME.

Precise control, dependable operation and simplified service are reasons enough to replace your old vacuum control. You can spend a lot more money and not surpass the COMMANDER 5K's performance.

Association Hosts Days Of The Past

TITUSVILLE, N.J. — The Delaware Valley Old Time Power & Equipment Association (a non-profit organization) will present its 16th annual Days of the Past.

The event will take place on Saturday, September 18 and Sunday, September 19 on the show grounds, located at Washington Crossing State Park at Route 579 and Church Road, Titusville.

All exhibitors are welcome. Admission for non-exhibitors is $2 per person. Gates open at 9 a.m.

There will be a demonstration of drag sawing, shingle making, and a Lane 56-inch sawmill powered by a 1913 32-hp. Frick steam traction engine. The Club's 1918 Avery Gas tractor will be threshing wheat with their Butterworth thresher, which was made in Trenton, N.J.

There will be a daily parade of antique farm equipment and antique cars, and daily pedal tractor pulls for children, with trophies given for various divisions.

In the barn, there will be a museum with antique household items, advertising signs, literature, and small farm-related items. In addition, there will be a display of farm toys.

For more information and directions, contact Penny Wezel (908) 735-5124 or Norma Runkle (609) 397-3293.

Alfred State Shows Champions At Fair

ALFRED, N.Y. — Alfred State College fared well, pardon the expression, during the recent Allegany County Fair, picking up grand champion female and bull, as well as overall breed steer champion.

A 7-month-old Black Angus from the farm complex at the Alfred State College of Technology was declared grand champion female. Showing off Alfred's Crown Jewel 113 was Michael Calhoun of Dayton, a senior in the animal husbandry curriculum at Alfred State.

In addition, an October bull from the farm complex was rated grand champion Angus bull, grand champion Angus overall, and grand champion all breeds at the fair. The triple crown winner, Alfred's MacArthur, was shown by Calhoun.

Also, the summer yearling heifer entered by the college captured first place in its class. The winning entry was NYATCA Mascot Buns Buggy, shown by Calhoun.

Program Helps Train Gardeners

GREENSBURG (Westmoreland Co.) — If you love gardening with flowers, vegetables, fruit, or trees and shrubs, and would like to share your knowledge and enthusiasm with others, consider the Penn State Master Gardener program.

The program is a volunteer training program designed to provide avid home gardeners with the skills necessary to share their knowledge and experience with others. Training consists of 52 hours of indoor and outdoor instruction. Topics range from basic botany, plant pathology, entomology and plant propagation to vegetable and fruit production, herbacious and woody ornamentals, and landscape design.

In exchange for this intensive training, candidates volunteer their time to help Penn State extension serve home gardeners. This may be answering gardening questions by phone, writing gardening news articles, planting demonstration beds fo annual flowers, speaking to garden clubs or civic groups, or other projects involving horticulture.

Penn State Cooperative Extension offices are accepting applications for the 1993 Penn State Master Gardener program. A meeting of perspective master gardener trainees will be held on September 20 in Monroeville and a class of 15 trainees will be selected for the 1993-1994 classes. Weekly training classes will be held one evening per week starting in October.

For more information on the program, call the Westmoreland County office of Penn State Extension at (412) 837-1402 or any Penn State extension office in western Pennsylvania.

All American Show Officials Value Participants

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Exhibitors and visitors at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show are valued customers, according to show officials.

They are warmly welcomed by host committee members, a large volunteer show staff, and show management.

These valued customers have also had a hand in making the 1993 Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show the best ever. Each year, exhibitors and show staff meet to discuss new ideas, concerns and improvements for the show. As a result of the 1992 exhibitor meeting, several features are scheduled to be added or updated.

Additional speakers will be placed in the holding area outside the show ring. These barn speakers will allow better communication between the ring crew and exhibitors moving cattle to and from the barns. In addition, calving stalls are being added to each barn to allow special care for those cows who calve during the show.

This year, bottled drinking water will be available in several places in the barns for exhibitors and visitors. Additional cold beverage machines are being placed for use throughout the night time hours.

A change in the Good Housekeeping Awards will allow the breed winners in the Good Housekeeping program the opportunity to select their housing location for the next year. This is a special award, and in addition to the monetary awards sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association.

This is expected to create more of an incentive to make animal display areas educational, attractive and neat.

Visitors to the show will notice changes in the showring catalog. Changes in print style and size will create a more easily read publication.

Each year the All-American Dairy Show directors make changes as a result of suggestions and ideas from the exhibitors who are the valued customers.

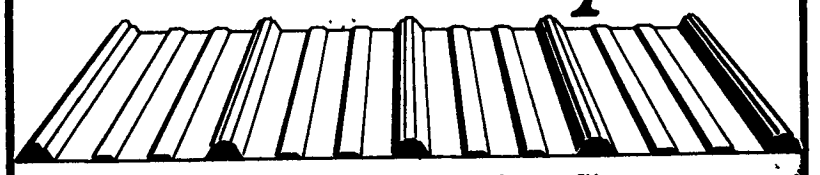
Rural Economy



Cost-efficient Centurydrain™ roofing and siding is on some of the best looking buildings in the country.

Build with Centurydrain roofing and siding and you've built a money-wise structure. Full-hard, high tensile galvanized steel, and an exclusive drain channel for a dry interior give you a building that'll handle years of hard duty and hard weather. Good looking, too. Crisp lines and plenty of bright, long-lasting colors make Wheeling Centurydrain as handsome as it is economical.

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds
BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING
A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

Have you tried toasted grains?

Consider these advantages over traditional roasting methods:

- ◆ Consistent by-pass proteins and low moisture levels.
- ◆ Improved energy density of your rations.
- ◆ Excellent quality control.
- ◆ Exchange programs with feed mills.
- ◆ Economical storage, rolling and grinding available.
- ◆ We also buy corn and soybeans

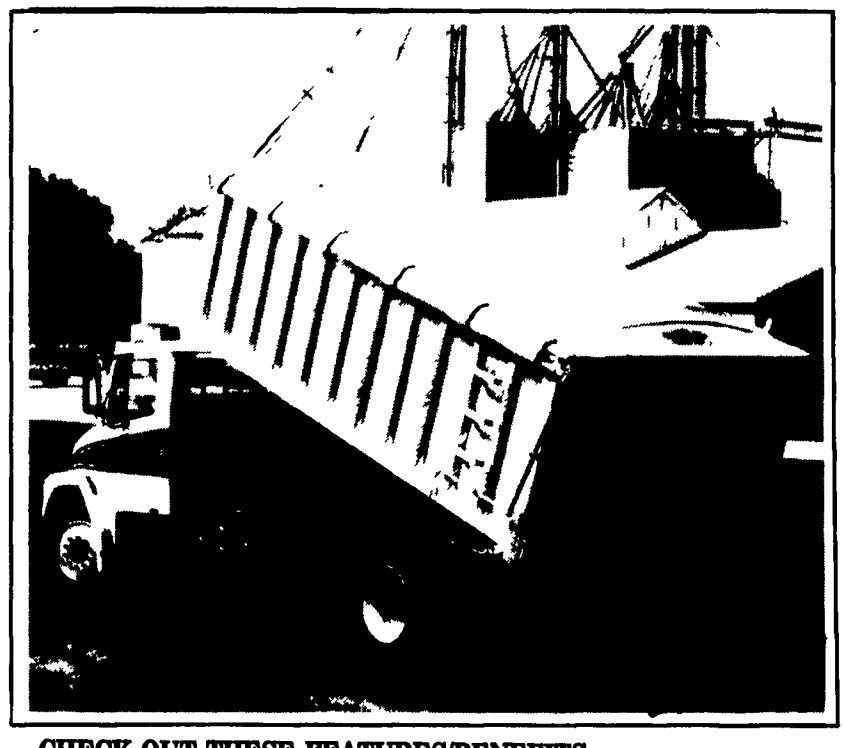
In grain bodies, aluminum makes Sense.



Eby Aluminum Agri-Dump Bodies pay off in dependable long-term service. Their all-aluminum construction means:

- Greater payload efficiency
- Maintenance-free service
- Substantially higher resale value.

Eby's time-tested design is available in lengths to 24' for grain bodies and 10½ ' for general purpose dump bodies. A long list of standard features such as tarp rail, built-in steps, aerodynamic uprights and Harsh hoist is complemented by a full range of custom options, including tailgates, Wahpeton tarps and grain chutes.
When you select your next grain body or general purpose dump body, consider the value that aluminum offers. It's a worry-free investment in your future.

CHECK OUT THESE FEATURES/BENEFITS

- Up to 40% lighter than steel, for greater payload
- Designed for long life
- Resale value
- Corrosion resistant, never needs painting
- Appearance to complement any truck
- Complete list of popular options, including tailgates, tarps and sides.

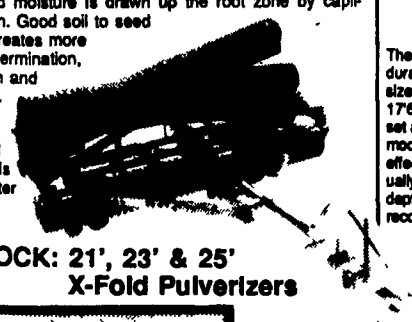
BRILLION PULVERIZERS

Good yields start with a properly prepared seedbed. A firm seedbed is critical to maintain a uniform planting depth The seedbed should be firm with fine soil particles at seed depth and should have a loose mulch on the surface to retard evaporation and conserve moisture. Some of the most valuable soil nutrients are locked in the clods left in your field. The Brillion Pulverizer crushes clods to release those nutrients for use by growing plants. At the same time air pockets are eliminated and moisture is drawn up the root zone by capillary action. Good soil to seed contact creates more uniform germination, pollination and maturity... and that means increased crop yields and greater profits



IN STOCK: 21', 23' & 25' X-Fold Pulverizers

BRILLION SINGLE RANK MODEL DEEP TILL

The single rank model provides simplicity and durability. It is available in 3, 5 and 7 shank sizes. In working widths of 7'6", 12'6" and 17'6". Shanks pacing is 30" but can also be set at 20" in light trash conditions. Single rank models are close coupled to the tractor for effective control and maneuverability. Manually adjusted gauge wheels control working depth to 18". A speed of 4½ to 6 MPH is recommended.

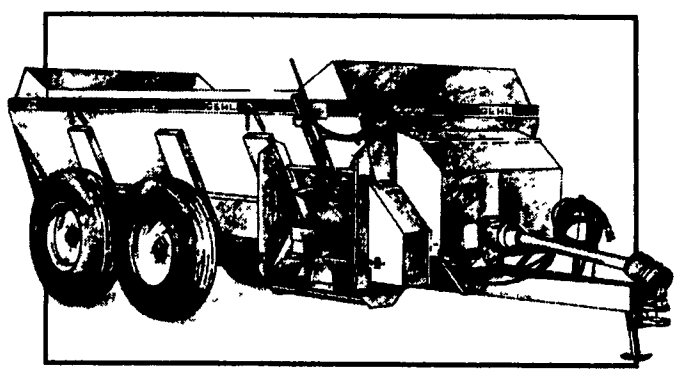
GEHL

NORTH AMERICA'S #1 V-TANK SPREADER



The Gehl Scavenger® II is the "original" V-Tank spreader and still the best. It delivers outstanding performance in all types of manure, from liquid to semi-solid to pen-packed or even frozen manure.

- Patented square-tube auger – Hydraulically powers up and down to break up solid material.
- Variflo discharge – Spreads smoothly and evenly for complete application control.
- Five models – From 192 to 596 bushel heaped capacities to match your operation.
- 10-Year warranty – Against rust-through on the tank for peace of mind.
- Options include – Truck-mounted units and hydraulic lids.

BLOW HARD

- Three models with a choice of 540 or 1,000 rpm.
- Twin spinners rifle material at nearly 35 mph.
- Twin-sided fan disc with paddles on both sides.
- Split rim sheets feature a replaceable inner liner.
- Many convenience features.

All American Commercial Exhibitors Provide Latest Information

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — From calf housing, feed ingredients, semen, cattle trailers, to show equipment, the trade show of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show will feature many of the latest products the market has to offer.

Companies from as far away as Illinois, Iowa and Oregon will travel to Harrisburg to demonstrate their products and services to dairy farmers visiting the All-American Dairy Show.

The Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg will be bursting at the seams with cattle, trade show exhibitors and contests on Sept. 20 through 23, 1993.

Dairymen who have been reading about buffers, bypass products and other growth or milk enhancers, can come and talk to the experts to find out first hand about these products.

There will be over 10 feed companies exhibiting at the All-American. Anyone considering changing a feeding program at their farm, can talk to the representatives about their products.

This is a perfect opportunity to ask questions and take action on some new things in a dairy operation.

Taurus Service Inc. and the Pennsylvania Ayrshire Breeders Association have worked hard to put together a daughter display of the leading bulls in the Ayrshire breed.

Breeders can see progeny from Mapledell Soldier, Sycamore-Mead Benefactor Peter, and Plum Bottom Nampa B.B.-ET, in addition to the Ardrossan Tri-dent bull. There will be 11 calves, bred heifers, and milking cows to inspect from these leading bulls.

In addition, Taurus Service Inc. sales representatives will be on hand to discuss semen availability. It is a tremendous opportunity for Ayrshire breeders to see first hand what these bulls can do for their breeding program.

Milk marketing cooperatives will be there to discuss membership advantages, and their current programs. In addition, farm insurance companies will participate in the show to give visitors a chance to think about their current insurance coverage and their future needs.

Milking equipment, plus predip, post-dip, and dry cow treatment products will be on display for scrutiny and evaluation. Dairymen can visit with representatives from pharmaceutical and animal health companies to learn about their products and the latest research information regarding mastitis treatment.

Since dairy farmers are continually upgrading their herds, a visit with the field reps from eight different studs can help select bulls for this fall's breeding program.

N.E. Pa. Holstein Champions

New Case IH HARVEST SALE Starts Now At Binkley & Hurst Bros.

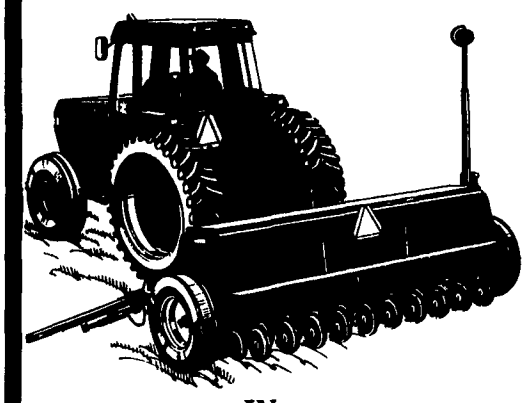
Get Even Stands



IN STOCK! Markers Optional

There's nothing more important to a crop than early, even emergence. To get it, you need accurate, even seeding.

The 5300 has earned a reputation for its seeding precision, a function of its exclusive feed cup design and dependable disk openers. And, to improve placement of seed, the opener drawbars are heavier than on previous models. Press wheel and opener bearings are heavier for long life operation.

Along with accuracy, the 5300 gives you fast, high capacity seeding, so you spend less time refilling hoppers.

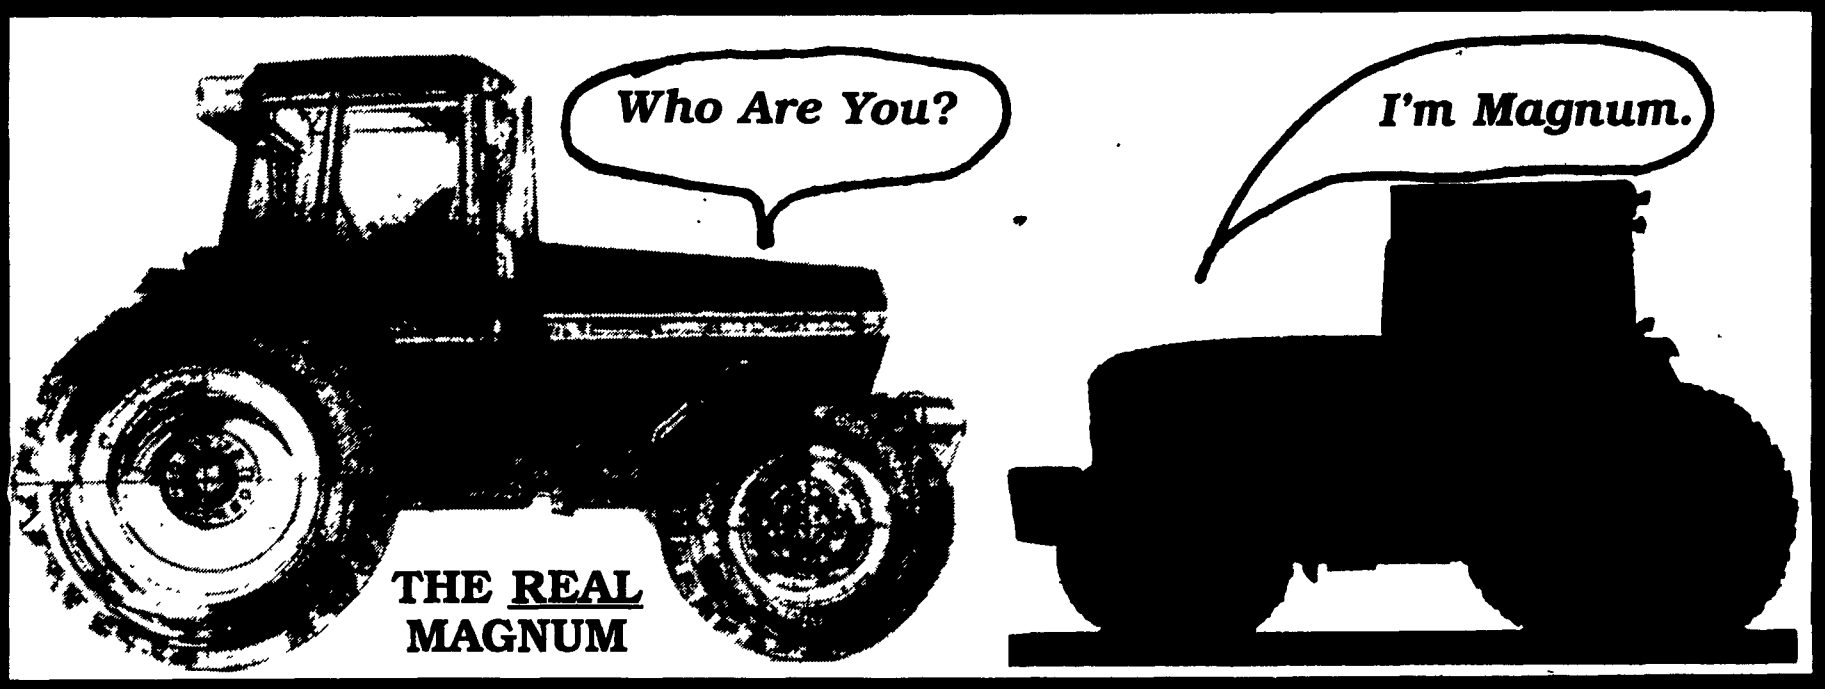
WHO'S THE LEADER



IN TRACTOR TECHNOLOGY?

MAGNUM IS THE LEADER - OTHERS ARE JUST COPIES!

The case ih MAGNUM Was Introduced In 1987...

The Rest Are Trying To Catch Up!!!

■ PFC HYDRAULICS (Since 1979)

1. Pressure/Flow Compensating Means Variable Pressure And Flow To Fit Your Requirements

■ POWERSHIFT TRANSMISSIONS (Since 1987)

1. 18 Speed, Full Powershift Is Standard
2. Does NOT Use Electronics To Shift
3. Designed/Built For Rugged Ag Use- No Compromises!!
4. Helical Cut Gears (Since 1981)

■ ENGINE DESIGNED FOR ECONOMY

1. 505 Cubic Inch Designed For Hi-Torque Usage
2. Totally New Technology In 1983 - Not A Rework of 30 Year Old Technology

■ LARGE COMFORT CABS (Since 1987)

1. Easy Entry, Roomy Operator Environment
2. Excellent Visability All Around - Exhaust At Cab Corner
3. Easy Access Controls All On Right Side Within Easy Reach - No Compromise Location For Optional Right Side Door

■ RUGGED RELIABILITY (Since 1987)

1. 5 Year/5,000 Warranty
2. No Problem, Trouble-Free Design
3. Heavy Cast Side Rails For Stability

■ ELECTRONIC HITCH (Since 1987)

1. Rocker Switch Automatically Lowers Hitch To Pre-Set Level
2. Rotary Load Control Knob To Control Implement Depth
3. Complete Control From Inside The Cab

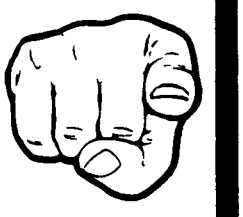
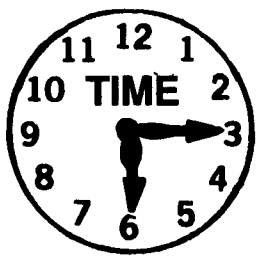
THE CROP IS YOUR $ CASH $



Everything you work for — tilling ground, planting seed, spraying or cultivating — depends upon Harvesting your CROP and getting it sold!

NOTHING HARVESTS CROPS LIKE A case IH Axial-Flow Combine!

HERE'S 4 REASONS WHY!



- Get in the field earlier - and stay later - because the Axial Flow Combine's specialty rotor separates grain from wet, damp material better than the competition. You get more done in less days than with a conventional combine.

- Grain from an Axial Flow combine is worth more, because it is damaged less and the sample is cleaner than from a conventional combine. (Food Corn growers PREFER Axial Flow for this reason.)

MAINTENANCE

- The single rotor design eliminates the straw walker assembly and all the problems that go with all those bearings and vibration. All of the threshing and separating system parts are easy to get to, making maintenance a simple routine.

HOOBER SERVICE

- Don Carper and his (6) combine technicians work on combines 12 months of the year. They have started over 250 Axial Flow combines in all kinds of crops and conditions. Their knowledge and concern for your problems keep you running when you want to run.

CAN YOU AFFORD NOT TO OWN AN AXIAL-FLOW FROM HOOBER?

Safe - Efficient - Durable
Look at what makes the Mahoning Outdoor Furnace a great purchase...
CLEAN. All dirt, dust, fuel and fire is outside No chance of chimney fire or flue fire ELIMINATES AIR POLLUTION IN THE HOME. Smoke, fuel odors and other causes of allergies are outside the home
SAFE FOR MOBILE HOMES. Eliminates danger that other furnaces contained in a mobile home can cause.
NO DANGER OF EXPLOSION. This is a zero pressure furnace
ENCLOSED COMPONENTS. The circulation pumps and electrical connections are enclosed in an insulated cabinet on the back of the Mahoning Outdoor Furnace ADAPTABLE. Install our furnace in any forced air heating or hot water system.

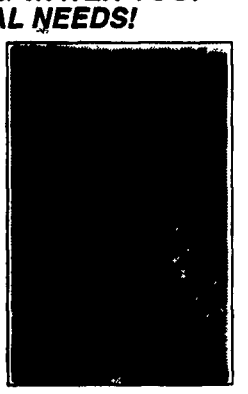
All Mahoning Units Come Installed with Grates Including An External Shaker Handle



★ The only outdoor furnace made with a Catalytic Combustor. ★

Mahoning Catalytic Combustor Will Help In The Following Ways:
1. Burn one cord of wood which equals 166 gallons of oil.
2. Your fuel source becomes enormous inexhaustable and poses few risks to public safety.
3. Over all efficiency of 85%, which means the heat no longer goes up the chimney!
4. You get more heat from a log compared to the non-cat. furnace.
5. More burn time - less reloading time!
6. Zap 90% of pollutants, made from fire source.
7. Saves you a lot of money!
8. User friendly, emits no smoke!

All Mahoning Multi-Fuels Can Burn Coal, Wood, Oil, Propane, Natural Gas

Proudly Built in Clearfield County, Pennsylvania

THE CLAAS HARVESTER

MAXIMUM FEED QUALITY

To ensure maximum feed quality from maize it is vital to crack every kernel. Digestion of uncracked maize falls as the maize becomes drier. Independent trials have shown the Claas corn cracker to be close to 100% effective From the cylinder the corn passes through the two large diameter rollers with saw tooth profiles. The rollers run at different speeds to intensify the grinding effect and open up each kernel It is a fairly tough process so the latest generation of corn crackers take account of the wear involved on the rollers. Nothing can reduce the wear but Claas have cut the cost of repair by making the outer sleeve replaceable. The shaft, drive pulley and bearings can all be reused which cuts down repair bills dramatically. Adjusting the distance between the two rollers is accomplished by turning two handles, easily accessible behind the cab. In no time at all the degree of cracking can be matched to the ripeness of the crop.

RELIABILITY

The CLAAS Cutterbox is a unique balanced design using 2 knives in a V configuration. This forces the cutting action toward the center instead of the outside. This is the secret of their horsepower requirement and good quality of cut.

WHY SHOULD YOU BUY A NEW MF 399?

12 GOOD REASONS COME RIGHT TO HAND.

The new 12x12 Side Shift transmission puts the shift lever where it belongs — to the right of your seat.

Plus the shuttle lever is on the steering column so you can change directions with your left hand while operating loader controls with your right hand.

The 12x12 Side Shift synchronized shuttle transmission gives you 12 great reasons to come in and test drive a 70-95 hp* MF 390, MF 390T or MF 399 tractor today.

 Manufacturer's rated PTO horsepower.*

NEW

TMR Ruffage Master

These new Oswalt® four auger Model 200/250 mixers are designed to process and mix all feeds, including baled hay, into a fully-blended TMR...better than anyone!

The aggressive, notched, 20"-diameter, full-pitch, four auger mixing pattern, dual shear shelf design and exclusive, self-lubricating Tuff-Glide® liners help feed materials flow more freely, reducing horsepower requirements and virtually eliminating material hang-ups and dead spots.

RUFF-TUFF
POLY SILO LINERS for Upright Silos

Now With New Expansion Ring For Easy Installation

If Your Silo Needs New Life...
Try Our Poly Silo Liners

-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-
- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

B.T.U.

"BUY THIS UNIT", or one like it to store your high-moisture shelled corn and save a lot of energy. With the cool spring and slow start for a lot of corn fields, this may be another harvest season coming up when the corn dries slowly...,

20x72' About 17,000 Bu. Capacity Shelled Corn Poured Concrete, No Used Silos, No Rebuilt Silos, No Preowned Silos

In order to avoid hauling and drying costs, let us build a corn storage unit to preserve your valuable grain at 20%-30% moisture.

To keep your stored corn bright and yellow, you must protect it from oxygen and heat. Our 6" thick concrete walls reflect 38% of light beams, resulting in 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel, and 25 times more insulating power than steel.

Our 6" thick walls have a very low leak potential compared to pre-fab silos of any kind, and a very low maintenance requirement.

BEFORE SPENDING A LOT OF MONEY FOR ENERGY (B.T.U.'s) TO DRY YOUR CORN, YOU WILL DO WELL TO CONSIDER THE MANY ADVANTAGES OF OUR POURED CONCRETE SILOS...

To unload your corn, we can install the simple auger system, the Laidig 43 unloader, or the Flying Dutchman. Lets discuss the options, and what is best for your situation.

ACCU-LINE™

On January 8, 1994, Purina Mills, Inc. Will Celebrate Its 100th Birthday. During Our First Century, We Manufactured Over 200,000,000 Tons Of Purina Chow For Billions Of Animals. From The Days When Farm Wives Tended Back Yard Flocks For Egg Money To The Modern Commercial Layer Operation, Purina Mills Has Been A Leader In The Very Important Egg Industry. We Continue To Feed Millions Of Layers All Over The United States.

History Tells Us Of The Following Commercial Egg Research Accomplishments That Are Attributed To Purina Mills, Inc.

1948 - Developed Lighting Programs And Established Its Importance In Egg Production And Sexual Maturity.

1977 - Developed A Practical Intermittent Lighting Program For Pullets And Layers To Reduce Costs And Improve Performance.

1950 - First Feed Company To Promote Cage Layer Houses (Mount Joy, PA).

1964 - Introduced Least Cost Formulation Using Amino Acid Levels And Optimum Energy Levels.

1973 - Established Optimum Layer House Temperatures To Be 75-80 Degrees And The Effect Of Temperature On Feed Consumption.

1983 - First U.S. Company To Formulate Layer Diets On True Metabolizable Energy And Amino Acids.

1984 - Introduced Special Rations (Egg Weight Plus) To Increase Egg Weights Through Fat Additions.

The Decade Of The 90's Continue To Bring Many New Advances In This Highly Competitive Industry. We At Purina Mills Offer The Best In Feed Formulation To Produce The Least Cost Of Eggs While Maximizing Total Egg Mass.

LET US HELP YOU TO DESIGN THE MOST PROFITABLE PROGRAM FOR YOU.

- Specialized Feeding Programs
